Largest manufacturers in India of R. C. C. Pipes known as ' HUME PIPES ' and allied products, HUME STEEL Pipes, WELDED STEEL Pipes and STEEL PENSTOCKS, PRESTRESSED CONCRETE Pipes and POLES, R. C. C. POLES, NO-JOINT CONCRETE Pipes Cast-in-Situ, PRESTRESSED MONOBLOCK CONCRETE SLEEPERS, etc., etc.

HUME PIPES : Extensively used for Water Supply, Sewerage, Drainage, Irrigation, Culverts, Well-Sinking etc.

ALLIED PRODUCTS : Concrete Half Rounds Channels, Water Tanks, R. C. C. Septic Tanks, Dust Bins, Sentry Cabins, Telephone booths, Housing for Latrines, Policeman Cabins, Cattle-Troughs, Pillars, etc. Also R.C.C. Piles and ventilating shafts.

HUME STEEL PIPES : Hume Steel Shells Lined and Outcoated with cement concrete which are manufactured as per ISI 1916, are known as Hume Steel Pipes and are exclusively used as High Pressure Mains for Water Supply Projects.

WELDED STEEL PIPES : Extensively used for Gas mains, Tunnelling and for high pressure Water mains. We recently supplied Steel Pipes (nearly 45,000 tonnes. Dia of pipes is 2500 mm to 3650 mm.) to Bombay Municipal Corporation for its Upper Vaitarna Water Supply Project.

STEEL PENSTOCKS : Pioneers in the manufacture of Steel Penstocks for Hydro Electric Projects ; Penstocks varying in diameters from 600 mm to 5,500 mm of 10 mm to 56 mm thickness are supplied by this Organisation for important schemes using various types of steel such as Mild Steel, High Tensile Steel, extra high tensile steel quenched and tempered.

Penstock factory at Hadapsar (Poona) is fully equipped with the latest machinery to meet the increasing needs of Penstocks in the country. From this central factory, the Company has supplied over 35,000 tonnes of Steel Penstocks for the above schemes and also for Balimela Hydro Electric Project in Orissa State, and Pressure Shaft Lining of Koyna Stage III Works, Yamuna Steel Lining Works, U.P. State and Loktak Hydro Electric Project in Manipur State which are at present in progress.

IHP Prestressed Pipes, generally manufactured as per ISI 784, are built with compressed concrete for greater strength, to bear internal pressures and to withstand external ones. In the Prestressed Pipe process, High tensile steel wire, under controlled tension, is wound around a core pipe of concrete, thus inducing a designed circumferential precompression in the concrete core pipe. The core pipe is precompressed longitudinally by high tensile steel wires. This method of construction is now used over a very wide range of pipe diameters and design pressures. Prestressed concrete Pipe processes are widely used by major overseas manufacturers. Since 1945 more than 160 kms. of pipes are in service in Australia. In India, IHP has so far supplied about 600 kms. of these pipes. The projects in progress are Water Supply Schemes at Delhi, Pune, Karwar and Tuticorin. 144 Kms. pipeline work for Indore and Calcutta Water Supply is recently undertaken by us.

NO-JOINT CONCRETE PIPES : The Company have the patent rights for the NO-JOINT Concrete Pipes cast-in-situ. To complete storm water drains or sewerage scheme with standard non-pressure precast pipes or other conventional methods such as masonry conduits, a long period is required for either manufacture, curing, transporting, laying in case of precast pipes or constructing the masonry conduit manually. No-Joint Concrete Pipes are machine-cast-in-situ in ready formation, reducing either the number of operations in the work or manual labour or technical difficulties in executing the work. This speeds up the work considerably with a saving in time and cost. Major projects executed at Delhi and Chandigarh.

PRESTRESSED CONCRETE POLES : These Poles are manufactured for Transmission lines both for High Tension and Low Tension lines. R.C.C. Poles also are manufactured and are largely used as Lamp Posts in all the cities.

PRESTRESSED MONOBLOCK CONCRETE SLEEPERS : Are manufactured for the Indian Railways for laying them under Railway tracks.

The Company has a large network of 55 factories in India, two in Sri Lanka, and one in Libya.

Compressors : Open type: 3 to 72 TR/24 hrs. Ice producing and 5 to 325 TR/24 hrs. air conditioning capacity • Semi sealed type : 5 and 7·5 TR/24 hrs. air conditioning capacity • Centrifugal refrigerating machines 168 to 525 TR/24 hrs. capacity.

Ice making machines : Flake ice machines 1, 3, 5, 10 tonnes/24 hrs. capacity & multiples • Automatic ice machines 10 to 100 tonnes/24 hrs. capacity.

Allied : Refrigeration van equipment for rail & road transport • Air conditioning equipment for rail coach & bus • Turn key jobs in air conditioning and refrigeration • Stop valves for refrigerants and other gases.

TRANSMISSION DIVISION

Torque converters : Hydraulic type upto 1,000 HP (under licence from Twin Disc Inc., USA).

Marine gears : Hydraulic type upto 2,000 HP (under licence from Twin Disc Inc., USA).

Allied : Transmissions and Final drives upto 1,000 HP • Fluid couplings upto 500 HP.

INDUSTRIES SERVED

IRON, STEEL, ALUMINIUM, GENERAL MECHANICAL ENGINEERING & HEAVY INDUSTRIES

Through supply of • Electric stationary, watercooled, reciprocating air compressors, Reversible & non-reversible drills, Rivetting hammers & busters, Rotary grinders, Sand & bench rammers, Chippers • Equipment for crane cab air conditioning • Single stage and three stage hydraulic torque converters & Fluid couplings.

CEMENT, MINING, CONSTRUCTION & CIVIL ENGINEERING INDUSTRIES

Through supply of • Diesel/electric, rotary, portable/stationary, air cooled air compressors, Low pressure, watercooled, reciprocating compressors, Rock drills, Drillegs, Vibrators, Concrete breakers, Picks & Sump pumps • Equipment for water chilling & flake ice for concrete cooling • Fluid couplings.

CHEMICALS, PETRO-CHEMICALS & PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES

Through supply of • Electric, watercooled, reciprocating/balanced opposed oilfree air compressors, Vacuum pumps, Vacuum boosters & Gas compressors • Equipment for water chilling, brine chilling, low temperature applications for breweries & Chlorine liquefaction • Fluid couplings.

SUGAR, FOOD PRESERVATION & CANNING INDUSTRIES

Through supply of • Electric, low pressure, reciprocating lubricated air compressors. Two stage reciprocating oilfree air compressors, Vacuum pumps, and boosters • Equipment for cold storage, Deep freezers and ice manufacture • Fluid couplings.

PAPER & PULP, PLASTIC & TEXTILES, AND LEATHER INDUSTRIES

Through supply of • Electric stationary, watercooled, vertical balanced opposed, reciprocating, lubricated or oilfree air compressors • Equipment for process refrigeration requirements • Fluid couplings.

RAILWAY & TRANSPORT INDUSTRIES

Through supply of • Railway brake compressors & exhausters, Vacuum pumps & Air tools • Equipment for air conditioning & refrigeration for rail coach, bus, truck & ice cream vans • Hydraulic transmissions, Reverse & reduction gear boxes, Fluid couplings.

MARINE INDUSTRY

Through supply of • Aircooled high pressure, reciprocating, diesel/electric compressors, Scaling hammers, Rivetting hammers & busters • Equipment for cargo & domestic refrigeration plants on board & ship air conditioning • Reverse and reduction gear boxes for main propulsion bow thruster & operation, combined, Remote control for engine speed and proper direction of rotation.

CONTROLLED CLIMATE INDUSTRY

Through supply of • Equipment for low humidity laboratories, low temperature chambers, Comfort air conditioning for multistoreyed buildings, Special conditioning for hospitals and for synthetic filler plants.

Unbrako
high tensile socket screws : 40% stronger,* with the highest fatigue life !

Head
Forged—not machined
- Precision forged for symmetrical unbroken grain flow.
- Controlled fillet.
- Assures maximum load carrying capacity and maximum fatigue strength.

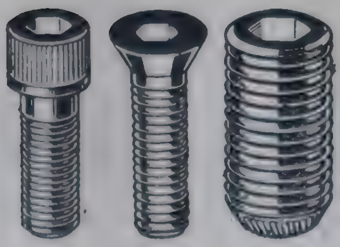
Controlled Root Radius
- Reduces stress concentration in critical area.
- Avoids sharp corners where failure can start.
- Provides maximum cross-sectional area.

Heat-Treated Alloy Steel
Heat treatment in controlled atmosphere yields maximum strength without brittleness or decarburization.

Socket
Deep and accurate for high torque wrenching without cracking or reaming.

Hi-life threads
Rolled—not cut or ground
- Fully formed radiused threads, an UNBRAKO development.
- More uniform with closer tolerances.

- Contour-following flow lines provide extra shear strength in threads and resist stripping.
- Increases fatigue life by 100% over other thread forms.
- Enables smooth assembly.



* While most high tensile screws in the market are in the 100 kg/sq mm (140,000 psi) range, UNBRAKO has strength levels up to 140 kg/sq mm (195,000 psi).

UNBRAKO products are available in the widest range and include: Socket Head Cap Screws, Socket Set Screws, Socket Countersunk Screws, Hex Head Bolts, Hi-Titan Wrenches. Special fasteners can be made to your requirements. UNBRAKO products conform to BS, IS, ISO and DIN Standards.

Our big fat prize

A satisfied smile on our customers' face. That's our big fat prize. We get it quite often.

In the process, however, we've won quite a few other prizes. National and international. For excellence in photo lithography, letter press printing process engraving, book production and innovations in typography.

Half a century's expertise in printing and process engraving.

CONSTITUTION

THE Indian Constitution was adopted by the Constituent Assembly on 26th November 1949, and came into force on 26th January, 1950. The Preamble embodies the resolve to secure for all citizens: Justice — Social, economic and political; Liberty — of thought, expression, belief, faith and worship; Equality — of status and opportunity; and the assurance to uphold the dignity of the individual and unity of the nation.

India is a sovereign Democratic Republic with a parliamentary form of government elected on the basis of universal adult franchise.

States & Territories: India is a union of 21 states and 9 Territories. These are: States: — Andhra Pradesh, Assam, Bihar, Gujarat, Haryana, Himachal Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir, Karnataka, Kerala, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Manipur, Meghalaya, Nagaland, Orissa, Punjab, Rajasthan, Tamil Nadu, Tripura, Uttar Pradesh and West Bengal.

Union Territories — Arunachal Pradesh, Chandigarh, Dadra & Nagar Haveli, Delhi, Goa, Daman & Diu, Lakshadweep, Mizoram and Pondicherry.

Citizenship: Single and uniform citizenship is ensured throughout India. All those who were domiciled in India at the commencement of the Constitution; all those born in India or, either of whose parents were born in India; and, all those who were residing in India for at least five years preceding the commencement of the Constitution became citizens of India.

Special provision, however, had to be made for those who migrated from Pakistan and those of Indian origin who reside abroad.

Further the Citizenship Act of 1955, provides for acquisition of citizenship by birth, descent, registration and naturalisation.

Fundamental Rights: All citizens, individually and collectively, are assured the following basic freedoms which are justiciable:

1. The right to equality including equality before the law, prohibition of discrimination on grounds of religion, race, caste, sex or place of birth, and equality of opportunity in matters of employment.
2. The rights of freedom of speech and expression, assembly, association or union, movement, residence, acquisition, holding and disposal of property; the right to practice any profession or occupation; public order, decency and morality.
3. The right against exploitation, prohibiting all forms of forced labour, child labour and traffic in human beings.
4. The right to freedom of conscience and free profession, practice and propagation of religion.
5. The right of minorities to conserve their culture, language and script and to establish educational institutions of their choice.
6. The right to property, subject to the State's right to compulsory acquisition for public use.
7. The right to constitutional remedies for the enforcement of fundamental rights.

Amendment to Rights: The validity of two important Constitutional amendments — the Constitution (Twenty-fourth) Amendment Act 1971 and the Constitution (Twenty-fifth) Amendment Act 1971 — relating to Fundamental Rights was challenged in six writ petitions before the Supreme Court.

The 24th Amendment sought to restore to Parliament the power to amend every provision in the Constitution including the fundamental rights.

The 25th Amendment Act substituted clause 2 of Article 31 of the Constitution with a new clause 2 where the word "compensation" was substituted by the word "amount." It also included a new Article 31C saving certain laws giving effect to Directive Principles specified in Clause (b) and Clause (c) of Article 39 from challenge under Articles 14, 19 and 31.

Supreme Court Judgement: By a majority judgement on April 24, 1973, the Supreme Court upheld the validity of the 24th Amendment Act but declared that Parliament's amending power, under article 368, was not wide enough to include amendments which would abrogate the "basic structure" of the Constitution.

The Court also upheld the validity of the 25th Amendment Act with the proviso that though the amount fixed or determined need not be the market value of the property acquired or requisitioned, it must not be "illusory."

About Article 31C, the Court declared, as valid, the first part of the article which provides that laws giving effect to Directive Principles, contained in Clause (b) or Clause (c) of article 39, shall not be void on the ground that they are inconsistent with or take away or abridge any of the rights conferred by articles 14, 19 and 31.

However, it declared void the latter part of Article 31C which had conferred immunity, from judicial review, on laws containing declarations that they were for giving effect to the policy set out in Clause (b) or Clause (c) of article 39.

Division of Subjects: Defence, foreign affairs, transport and communications, currency and coinage, banking, customs and export duties, and the administration of justice at the higher level are all union subjects, while State powers include those over police, public health, education, agriculture, forests and so on.

There is a third group of subjects called Concurrent List containing trade and industry, economic and social planning, social security and insurance, labour welfare, price control, electricity, newspapers and books and vital statistics. On these subjects both the Centre and the State can freely legislate, it being understood that whenever there is conflict between Union and State legislation the Union laws will ordinarily prevail.

If at any time, a subject which does not figure in any of the three lists, comes up for consideration the power of dealing with it lies with the Union Government.

The Union List has 97 entries, the State List 65 and the Concurrent List 47.

Elections: All elections are directed and controlled by an Election Commission. Elections to the Lok Sabha and the Legislative Assemblies of the States are on the basis of adult suffrage. Seats are reserved in the Lok Sabha for the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes.

Public Service: There is a Public Service Commission for the Union and one for each State. The Union Public Service Commission operates for the Union Territories as well.

DIRECTIVE PRINCIPLES: In Part IV certain directive principles of State policy are laid down for the guidance of the legislatures as well as governmental authorities. They relate to (a) Principles of social policy, (b) Principles of administrative policy (c) Socio-economic rights and (d) a statement of the international policy of the Republic.

The Directive Principles are not enforceable by any courts.

UNION EXECUTIVE: The executive head of the Indian Union is the President. He is elected by the elected members of the Houses of Parliament and the Legislative Assemblies of all the States. His term of office is five years, and he is eligible for re-election. Only a person who is a citizen of India and has completed the age of thirty-five years is qualified to contest the election.

Salary: The President is entitled to the use of an official residence without payment of rent, and a salary of Rs. 10,000 per month and allowances. Provision has also been made by an Act of Parliament for a pension of Rs. 15,000 per annum. He is also entitled to a maximum of Rs. 12,000 per annum for the sake of secretarial staff and other expenses.

Presidential Powers: The President exercises the powers vested in him either directly or through officers of the government. The Supreme Command of Defence Forces also vests in him. The President summons, prorogues, addresses, sends messages to Parliament and dissolves the House of the People (Lok Sabha); promulgates ordinances when Parliament is not in session; makes recommendations for introducing financial and money bills; and gives assent to bills, grants pardons, reprieves, respites and remissions of punishments or suspends, remits or commutes sentences in certain cases.

Appointments: The judges of the Supreme Court and the High Courts, the Attorney-General of India and the Comptroller and Auditor-General of India are all appointed by the President. The heads of States, i.e., Governors are also appointed by the President.

The President has the power of appointing ambassadors abroad and receiving diplomatic representatives of foreign States.

Council of Ministers: Is headed by the Prime Minister to aid and advise the President in the exercise of his functions. The Prime Minister is appointed by the President who also appoints ministers on the advice of the Prime Minister. The Council holds office during the pleasure of the President and acts on the principles of joint responsibility. The Prime Minister has to communicate to him all decisions of the Council of Ministers and, if the President desires, submit for consideration of the Council of Ministers any proposal of a Minister not yet considered by the Council.

Emergency: If the President is satisfied that a grave emergency exists, and the security of India or any part thereof is threatened either by war or internal disturbance, he may make a Proclamation of Emergency which must be approved by both the Houses of Parliament before the expiration of two months, otherwise it ceases to operate at the end of that period. While a Proclamation of Emergency is in operation (a) the Union will have power to give directions to any State as to the manner in which the States' executive power is to be exercised. (b) Parliament will have power to legislate on items included in the State list. (c) The Fundamental Rights guaranteed by Art. 19 are virtually suspended. (d) As regards other Fundamental Rights, the President may, by a specific order, declare that the right to move any court for its (their) enforcement may be suspended during the period of Emergency. The President may proclaim a failure of constitutional machinery in a State if he learns that the Government of the State cannot be carried on according to the provisions of the Constitution.

Financial Emergency: If the President is satisfied that the financial stability of the country is threatened he may, by a Proclamation, make a declaration and in consequence the executive authority of the Union is considerably extended and it is empowered to take suitable action.

Impeachment: Provision is made for the impeachment of the President, by Parliament, for violation of the Constitution. If such a resolution is passed by a majority of not less than two-thirds of the total membership, such a resolution has the effect of removing the President from office.

Vice-President: There is a Vice-President of India, who is ex-officio Chairman of the Rajya Sabha (the Upper House). The Vice-President acts as President during a casual vacancy in the office of the President. He is elected by the members of both Houses of Parliament and his term of office is five years.

UNION PARLIAMENT: The Parliament consists of the President and two Houses known as the Lok Sabha and the Rajya Sabha. It must meet at least twice a year. The maximum strength of the two Houses is fixed at 250 (12 nominated) for the Rajya Sabha and 525 for the Lok Sabha (not more than 500 from the States and 25 from the Territories).

Elections: The Rajya Sabha is elected by the elected members of the Legislative Assemblies of the States and of the Union Territories. While the Lok Sabha is elected directly by the voters in the country.

The Rajya Sabha is a permanent body with one-third of its members retiring every second year. The Rajya Sabha has a Chairman and Deputy Chairman.

Ordinarily the Lok Sabha has a duration of five years. There is a Speaker and a Deputy Speaker of the House both of whom are elected by its members.

All these posts carry salary and allowances.

Immunity for M.P.s: Members of Parliament are assured of freedom of speech in Parliament subject to the provisions of the Constitution. They enjoy immunity from proceedings in any court in respect of anything said or a vote given by him in Parliament.

Under certain circumstances, the members can be disqualified and their seats declared vacant.

Legislation: A Bill normally goes through the following stages. It is first published. After introduction there is a general debate. Then, there is a clause-by-clause discussion and voted upon. A specially important measure may go before a select committee or a joint select committee. A Money Bill has a slightly different passage. After it has been passed in the Lok Sabha it is sent to the Rajya Sabha which has to return it within fourteen days with its recommendations which may be accepted or rejected.

Quorum: The quorum is fixed at one-tenth of the membership of the House.

The language used in Parliament is either Hindi or English.

Distribution of Seats: (Please see chapter on Rajya Sabha and Lok Sabha).

Committees: Parliament's control over the administration is also exercised through a series of committees.

The committees can summon witness or require documents to be produced. There is a Committee on Privileges which sees to breaches of Parliamentary privilege, and a Business Advisory Committee which helps the Ministry of Parliamentary Affairs in drawing up the programme for a session.

Two very important Committees are the Public Accounts Committee and the Estimates Committee. They are elected by the House of the People and Ministers are barred from membership. The Public Accounts Committee ensures that money is spent for the purpose for which Parliament has voted it. The Estimates Committee examines possibilities of economy and reform in financial administration and the manner in which estimates may be presented to Parliament

Comptroller and Auditor-General is appointed by the President to control, on behalf of the Union and the States, all disbursements and to audit all accounts of moneys administered by the Parliament and the State legislatures.

STATE GOVERNMENT : The system of Government in the States closely resembles that of the Union.

The 21 States have Governors as their heads, the Union Territories of Andaman & Nicobar Islands and Chandigarh have Chief Commissioners, Delhi, Goa, Mizoram and Pondicherry have Lieutenant-Governors, Lakshadweep, and Dadra & Nagar Haveli have Administrators.

Types of Legislatures: Seven States, Andhra Pradesh, Bihar, Jammu & Kashmir, Karnataka, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, Uttar Pradesh have two Houses of Legislature; the others, only one. The two Houses are called the Legislative Assembly (sometimes Vidhan Sabha) and the Legislative Council (sometimes Vidhan Parishad). The former has a duration of five years, while the latter is a permanent body with one-third of the members retiring every second year.

Membership Strength: The minimum strength of an Assembly is 60 and the maximum 500. The minimum strength of a Council is 40, and the maximum one-third of the State Assembly

Elections: An Assembly is elected directly on the basis of adult franchise with reservation of seats for the Scheduled Castes and Tribes. The composition of a Council is more complicated. About a third are elected by the Assembly, another third by local authorities (municipalities, district boards), about a twelfth by registered teachers in schools not lower than the secondary school standard, and about a twelfth by registered graduates of not less than three years' standing. And the rest are nominated by the Governor from among persons who have distinguished themselves in art, science, literature, co-operation and social service.

Administrative Units: The principle unit of administration in a State is the district under a Collector and Magistrate. A Collector is responsible to a Commissioner who heads a Division or to the Board of Revenue depending upon the practice of a particular State. A District Magistrate is responsible for the maintenance of law and order and leads the district police force.

Official Language: Article 343 of the Constitution provides that the official language of India shall be Hindi in the Devnagri script and the form of numerals for official purposes shall be the international form of Indian numerals. English, which was originally to continue as the official language upto January 26, 1965, will, under the Official Languages Act, 1963, continue to be used even after that in addition to Hindi.

Amendment of Constitution: For purposes of amendment the items are divided into three classes with a different procedure for each class.

For amendment of the provision with respect to the Supreme Court and the High Courts, the distribution of legislative powers between the Centre and the States, the representation of the States in Parliament, etc., the amendment must be passed by both the Houses of Parliament by a majority of the total membership of the House and by a majority of two-thirds of the members present and voting, and must further be ratified by the legislatures of not less than one-half of the States.

In other cases no reference to the State legislatures is necessary. Parliament by itself can amend the Constitution in the manner mentioned above. In some cases amendment can be effected even by a bare majority such as is required for the passing of any ordinary law. The Supreme Court in Golaknath case (Feb. 1967) laid down that Parliament has no power to curtail fundamental rights.

Parliament has amended the Constitution whenever it has found that judicial decisions, either inadequately or in its opinion erroneously, interpreted the intention behind the relevant Constitutional provisions or they pointed out certain lacunae in them.

Some of the important Articles modified by Amendments: Arts. 15, 19, 31, 31A, 66, 71.

Second : To avoid a constitutional irregularity in delimiting the constituencies for the purpose of readjustment of representation in the Lok Sabha .

Third : To amplify Entry 33 of List III in the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution so that the Centre is not divested of all legal powers to control production, supply and distribution of food stuffs and cattle product.

Fifth and Seventh : To implement the scheme of States Reorganisation.

Tenth : To include Dadra and Nagar Haveli in the Union Territories.

Eleventh : To clarify that the election of the President or Vice-President cannot be challenged on the ground that there are vacancies in the appropriate electoral college for whatever reasons. It had happened that when the notification for the election of President was issued in 1957, elections in certain snow-bound areas in the North had not been completed.

Twelfth : To include Goa, Daman and Diu with effect from 20th December, 1961 in the list of Union Territories, Thirteenth : To give effect to an agreement reached by Government of India with the leaders of the Naga Peoples Convention regarding formation of a new State of Nagaland.

Fourteenth : To give effect to the ratification of cession by the Government of France under which the former French establishments became parts of the Indian Union.

Fifteenth : To provide for certain matters pertaining to the service conditions of judges, enlargement of jurisdiction under Article 226.

Sixteenth : To prescribe the forms of oath to be taken by every candidate for membership of Parliament and other functionaries.

Eighteenth : To remove doubts regarding the meaning of the word 'State' vis-a-vis a Union Territory.

Nineteenth : To give effect to the recommendation of the Election Commission.

Twentieth: To validate the judgements, decrees, orders and sentences passed by District Judges in Uttar Pradesh whose appointments were rendered invalid or illegal.

Twentyfirst : To include Sindhi in the Eighth Schedule to the Constitution as recommended by the Commissioner for Linguistic Minorities.

Twentysecond : To provide for the formation of an autonomous State within the State of Assam.

Twentyseventh : To provide for the establishment of a legislature and council of ministers for the Union Territory of Mizoram and Arunachal Pradesh.

Twentyninth and Thirtyfourth : To add certain Acts in the Ninth Schedule to the Constitution.

Thirtyfirst : To effect minor changes about reservation of seats.

Thirtysecond : To insert Article 371D and 371E to implement the six point formula in respect of the State of Andhra Pradesh.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE : All the courts of the country constitute a single hierarchy with the Supreme Court at its head and within their respective territorial and pecuniary jurisdictions, administer the laws enacted by Parliament or State legislatures.

Supreme Court : The Supreme Court of India consists of a Chief Justice and not more than 13 judges appointed by the President.

Retirement: At the age of 65.

Qualifications: For appointment as a judge of the Supreme Court a person has to be a citizen of India and must have been for at least 5 years a judge of a High Court or of two or more such courts in succession; or an advocate of a High Court or two or more such courts in succession for at least 10 years; or, he must be in the opinion of the President an eminent jurist.

Removal: A judge of the Supreme Court cannot be removed from office except by an order of the President passed after an address by each House of Parliament, supported by a majority of the total membership of that House voting, has been presented to the President in the same session for such removal on the ground of proved misbehaviour or incapacity.

Present Strength of the Supreme Court is a Chief Justice and 11 Judges.

Jurisdiction: The Supreme Court has both original and appellate jurisdiction. Its exclusive original jurisdiction extends to all disputes between the Union and one or more States or between two or more States inter se. In addition to this, Article 32 of the Constitution gives an extensive original jurisdiction to the Supreme Court to enforce fundamental rights guaranteed under Part III of the Constitution.

Appellate Jurisdiction: The Supreme Court can be invoked by a certificate of the High Court concerned or by special leave granted by the Supreme Court, in respect of any judgement, decree or final order of the High Court in cases involving substantial questions of law as to the interpretation of the Constitution.

Civil Appeals: Also lie to the Supreme Court where the amount, or value of the subject matter of the dispute, is not less than Rs. 20,000 or where the judgement, decree or final order involves claims, respecting property of like amount, or where the High Court concerned certifies that the case is a fit one for appeal to the Supreme Court.

Criminal Cases: The right to appeal to the Supreme Court has been provided for "if the High Court (a) has on appeal reversed an order of acquittal of an accused person and sentenced him to death; (b) has withdrawn for trial before itself any case from any court subordinate to its authority and has in such trial convicted the accused person and sentenced him to death; or (c) certifies that the case is a fit one for appeal to the Supreme Court." Parliament is authorised to confer on the Supreme Court any further powers to hear and entertain appeals from any judgement, final order or sentence in a criminal proceeding of a High Court in Indian territory.

High Court : Every state has a High Court of its own except in the case of Assam and Nagaland and Punjab and Haryana who share one each between them. Delhi has a High Court of its own.

Appointment: High Court judges are appointed by the President after consulting the Chief Justice of India, the Governor of the State and the Chief Justice of the High Court. They retire at the age of 62.

Qualifications : To be appointed a person has to be a citizen of the country who has either held judicial office or practiced as an advocate for 10 years in any State.

Removal: Article 124 (4), which lays down the procedure for the removal of a Supreme Court judge, applies to the High Court judges also.

Jurisdiction: The jurisdiction as well as the laws administered by a High Court can be altered both by the Union and State Legislatures. Certain High Courts, like those at Bombay, Calcutta and Madras, have Original and Appellate jurisdictions. Under the Original jurisdiction suits, where the subject matter is valued at Rs. 25,000 or over, can be filed directly in the High Court. Under the Appellate jurisdiction only appeals from lower courts and Appeals from suits, filed on the Original side of the High Court, can be entertained. Most High Courts have only Appellate jurisdiction.

Subordinate Courts : Except for minor variations, the structure and functions of the subordinate courts are uniform throughout the country. A state is divided into a number of districts, each under the jurisdiction of a principle civil court presided over by a District Judge. Subordinate to a District Judge is a hierarchy of different grades of civil courts.

The constitution and organisation of criminal courts and their procedure are regulated by the Code of Criminal Procedure 1898, as amended from time to time. In every district there is a District Magistrate and under him a number of subordinate magistrates of various grades sitting at various places. These Magistrates try and dispose of cases involving a sentence not exceeding imprisonment for two years.

Sheriffs: Are attached to the High Courts of Bombay, Calcutta and Madras.

There are Official Assignees in three States — Maharashtra, W. Bengal and Tamil Nadu. The appointment is made by the Chief Justice of the High Court concerned.

In addition to the Official Assignee, a Deputy Official Assignee may also be appointed. Another officer of the court is the Insolvency Registrar who may be vested with the powers mentioned in section 6 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act.

Social Reforms Acts: Parliament has passed two important Acts relating to social reform. The Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls' Act (No. 104 of 1956) was passed in December 1956. This Act provides, in pursuance of the International Convention signed at New York on 9th May 1950, for the suppression of immoral traffic in women and girls. The Women's and Children's Institutions Licensing Act (No. 105 of 1956) was passed in December 1956. This Act provides for the licensing of such institutions and of matters relating to them.

Yet another Act in social reform is the Probation of Offenders Act (20 of 1958).

Dowry Prohibition Act was passed in 1961.

PHYSIOGRAPHY

THE vast size of India needs no stressing. Reaching from 8° 4′ to 37° 6′ North latitude, and from 68° 7′ to 97° 25′ East longitude, it measures some 3,220 km. from south to north and some 2,980 km. from west to east, and covers an area of 3,276,141 sq. km. (including Sikkim).

Physical Features : India is built on a grand scale. Its physical features fall into three well-marked regions, each of them vast in dimensions : first, the great Himalayan mountain system ; secondly, the Indo-Gangetic plain ; and thirdly the plateaux of peninsular India, the Deccan.

The Himalayan system lies between the plateau of Tibet and the Indo-Gangetic Plain, and consists essentially of a complex series of young fold-mountains arranged in more or less parallel ranges which now combine in a mountain-knot, then divide to leave room for intermont valleys like those of Kashmir and Kulu. The highest range, the Great Himalaya, consists of a whole series of giant peaks like Nanda Devi (24,645 feet), separated by deep chasms cut by rivers and glaciers and, occasionally, by high passes over which run the immemorial trade-routes between India and Tibet. South of the Great Himalaya lie other high ranges, and nearest to the plains there are the Sivaliks, the youngest member of the series geologically, which present a massive rampart to the south, broken only by valleys through which run great snow-fed rivers like the Sutlej (a tributary of the Indus), the Yamuna and Kosi (tributaries of the Ganga) and the Ganga itself. At the eastern-most end of the Indian Himalaya the ranges are breached in a spectacular gorge by the Brahmaputra, which rises in Tibet. East and south of the Brahmaputra gorge, the fold-ranges trend generally southward, and form the wild hilly country of Nagaland and other areas on the frontiers of India and Burma.

The Indo-Gangetic Plain occupies what must once have been a hollow between the Himalayas and the old-rock plateaux of the peninsula ; a hollow that has been infilled by alluvium brought down by the great Himalayan rivers and, to a lesser extent, by those flowing into it from the Deccan, like the Chambal and Sone. If one includes the level ground along the Brahmaputra in Assam, the Plain as a whole is over 2,400 km. long, and generally 200-300 km. wide (rather narrow in Assam). Here is one of the world's really large Plains. To the casual observer it is one great monotony, but actually it has considerable variety, of two kinds : first, the gradual transition from the dune-covered desert-plain of Rajasthan, through the rich, cultivated alluvium of Uttar Pradesh to the swampy Sundarbans along the seaward edge of the Bengal delta ; and, secondly, more intimate local variety — for example, the contrast of deeply-gullied terraces of old alluvium and of low-lying flood-plain where the Chambal runs into the Yamuna below Agra.

The dominant landform in the Deccan (that is, in peninsular India) is the plateau, the great stretch of rolling country at some considerable elevation above sea-level. Such is the Maidan of Karnataka or the black-earth plateau of Malwa (or the detached plateau which forms Meghalaya). Most of these plateaux, indeed, almost all of the Deccan, are built of hard old crystalline rock, with here and there ancient sediments. Here lies most of India's mineral wealth, especially iron and manganese ore (with coal in down-faulted basins in the north-east Deccan). In Maharashtra there was a great outpouring of basalt which overlies the crystalline base and gives rise to characteristic stepped landforms. Across the plateaux roll the great east-flowing Deccan rivers, the Mahanadi, Godavari, Krishna and Kaveri, with their tributaries. Each forms a notable delta where it reaches the sea. The Narmada and Tapti, on the other hand, flow westward to the Gulf of Cambay north of Bombay. The great plateaux end in massive mural scarps like those overlooking the Indo-Gangetic Plains or the even more impressive Western Ghats (the so-called Eastern Ghats are puny, broken things in comparison). There are also scarps with the appearance of mountain ranges where one plateau-level descends to another within the Deccan.

Climate : The vastness of India and the variety of its relief are reflected in the wide range of climatic types to be found within it. In the Plains, the desert of Rajasthan contrasts with the humidity of Bengal. The winter snows of the Himalaya contrast with the nearly equatorial heat of Kerala and Tamil Nadu. The last two contrasts with each other, for Kerala is wet, with a short dry season, and Tamil Nadu is dry, with a long dry season when much of India is having rain, during the south-west monsoon.

If one seeks a unifying factor in the climate of India, it is to be found in the dominance of the monsoon : that is, in a great seasonal reversal of wind and weather. For most of India except Tamil Nadu, the south-west monsoon of about June to September is a period of rain, very heavy in Bombay and Calcutta, torrentially heavy in Meghalaya (where Cherrapunji has the reputation of being the earth's wettest spot), light by the time Delhi is reached, even lighter (and highly variable) in the desert. The north-east monsoon of 'winter' is a period of dry weather over most of India except Tamil Nadu, which then has its rainy season ; and of cold weather, becoming hot as the south-west monsoon season approaches, in north India.

Vegetation and Soils : Most of India must once, it is thought, have been covered with forest whose nature reflected principally variations in rainfall (or of altitude in the Himalaya) : forest that ranged from tropical rain forest in Kerala through tropical moist deciduous forest in the eastern Plains and north-east Deccan to thorn scrub in semiarid interior Maharashtra. Forest reserves to some extent preserve this pristine vegetation, though usually in a form modified by man, acting as a destructive agent (for instance, turning thorn forest to poor savana-jungle) or as a constructive agent (replacing 'natural' vegetation with pure strands of desired species like sal or sandal-wood). In the Plains, the east coast deltas and western coastal strips, in Tamil Nadu and much of Maharashtra, little 'natural' vegetation of any sort survives.

Human activity over the centuries (indeed, for millennia) has replaced 'natural' vegetation with crops : the kharif rice and rabi wheat of much of the Plains (and, of course, other crops beside, like sugar-cane and mustard) ; the jowar and bajra of the drier parts of the Deccan, except where irrigation has brought in wheat, or rice, or sugar-cane ; the tea of Assam ; the tea and coffee of Kerala and of the hills north of it ; the coconut of the coastal fringes of the South. So, too, the teeming wild life of India, dependent as it is on forest cover, has been fighting a losing battle against man. There is now concern over the survival of a number of species, notably the lion (confined to the Gir forest in Saurashtra), the tiger, the elephant and the rhinoceros. But a number of species of deer are still relatively common, and bird life is generally abundant.

Population (also see Chapter on Population) : India is the world's second most populous country. The 1971

Census indicate the total population was 547,949,809, an increase of 24·57 per cent since the 1961 Census. It is not surprising that, although there are great variations between one region and another, pressure of population on the land has become excessive, especially in the Plains, the east coast deltas and Tamil Nadu.

STATES, TERRITORIES : The country is divided into 21 States and 9 Union Territories.

The 21 States (with the capital towns in brackets) are :

Andhra Pradesh (Hyderabad), Assam (Shillong), Bihar (Patna), Gujarat (Gandhinagar), Haryana (Chandigarh‡), Himachal Pradesh (Simla), Jammu and Kashmir (Srinagar), Kerala (Trivandrum), Madhya Pradesh (Bhopal), Maharashtra (Bombay), Manipur (Imphal), Meghalaya (Shillong), Karnataka (Bangalore), Nagaland (Kohima), Orissa (Bhubaneshwar), Punjab (Chandigarh‡), Rajasthan (Jaipur), Tamil Nadu (Madras), Tripura (Agartala), Uttar Pradesh (Lucknow), West Bengal (Calcutta).

The 9 Territories (with capital towns in brackets) are :

The Andaman and Nicobar Islands (Port Blair), Arunachal Pradesh (former NEFA) (Yachuli), Chandigarh‡ (Chandigarh), Dadra and Nagar Haveli (Silvasa), Delhi (Delhi), Goa, Diu and Daman (Panaji), Lakshadweep (former Laccadive, Minicoy and Amindivi Islands (Kavaratty Island), Mizoram (Aizawl), Pondicherry (Pondicherry).

SOME BASIC FACTS: Date of Independence 15-8-1947. Became a Republic on 26 -1-1950.

Area : 3,276,141 sq. km.

Length : 3,119 km (North-South).

A TOURIST'S GUIDE

INDIA has three major seasons : winter, summer and the monsoon.

The winter months (November-February) are pleasant throughout India with bright sunny days. In the northern plains, the minimum temperature at times drops steeply and there is snowfall in the hills. In Maharashtra and the south and in eastern India, however, December and January are pleasantly cool, never really cold.

The summer months (April–June) are hot in most parts of India, and it is during this season that hill resorts such as Simla, Mussoorie, Naini Tal, Kulu and Kashmir Valleys, Darjeeling, Shillong, Ootacamund, Kodaikanal, Pachmarhi and Mount Abu provide cool retreats. (See ' 'Meteorology " for average temperatures and rainfall.)

The south-west monsoon usually breaks about the beginning of June on the west coast and reaches elsewhere later. With the exception of the south-eastern areas, India receives the major share of its rainfall between June and September. The south-eastern areas receive most of the rainfall from the north-east monsoon between November and January.

Clothing : In northern India, where evening and night temperatures drop steeply in winter, woollen clothing will be necessary from the middle of November to the middle of February. Winter in other parts of the country is mild and tropical clothing should be sufficient. For those visiting the hill resorts during this time heavy woollens will be essential.

During the summer months, only light tropical and cotton clothing will be comfortable. Visitors to the hill resorts, however, should carry light woollens.

Medical Facilities : In all the cities and towns there are State-managed and private hospitals and dispensaries. The services of highly qualified specialists and consultants are available in places like Delhi, Bombay, Calcutta, Madras and other large cities. Some of the chemists offer round-the-clock service. (See " Hospitals " in general index for full list.)

Foreign Exchange: Under the revised rules of the Government of India all foreigners, including those of Indian origin, are required to pay their hotel bills in foreign currency. For details please enquire at nearest Government of India Tourist Office.

The official rates of exchange are as follows : £1 equal to Rs. 18·08 ; U.S. $1 equal to Rs. 7·80. The actual buying and selling rates, however, differ slightly from these rates.

Indian Currency : No Indian currency can be brought in or taken out of the country except rupee travellers' cheques.

Time : The Indian Standard Time (IST) is 5½ hours ahead of Greenwich Mean Time (GMT) and Central European Time, and 11½ hours ahead of the United States Time.

Electric Current : Voltage in most places is 220–240 A.C., 50 cycles, though a few areas have D.C. supply as well. The tourists are advised to check the voltage before using an electric shaver or other electrical gadgets.

‡ The Union Government announced on January 29, 1970 its decision to transfer the capital project area of Chandigarh to Punjab within the next five years. Pending the construction of a new capital for Haryana, Chandigarh will remain a Union Territory.

ACCOMMODATION: See "Hotels" in general index for full list.)

There are modern western-style hotels in all large cities as well as at popular tourist centres. These have been classified on the internationally accepted star system. Hotel charges in India are moderate compared to those of many other countries.

At tourist centres where hotel accommodation is not adequate, there are travellers lodges/tourist bungalows constructed and run by the India Tourism Development Corporation, a Government of India Undertaking, or by the State Governments which offer comfortable lodging and meals.

House boats fully furnished and staffed are moored to the banks of the river Jhelum and Dal and Nagin lakes in Kashmir and are known for their comfort and convenience.

Many centres of tourist interest in India are situated in out-of-the-way places. At most of these tourist centres there are Government owned rest houses (semi-hotel establishments) where tourists can stay. These are all close to national highways and convenient for tourists travelling by road. It is advisable to make reservations in these rest houses sufficiently in advance.

Youth Hostel accommodation is generally available in the hostels of schools and colleges in most places of tourist interest during vacations only, in summer from May to July and in winter during December. However, there is a Youth Hostel in Delhi open throughout the year. The only organised camping facilities exist in New Delhi at the Bharat Scouts and Guides ground, Near Humayun's Tomb, New Delhi.

The Department of Tourism, Government of India have constructed Youth Hostels at: Amritsar; Aurangabad; Bhopal; Dalhousie; Darjeeling; Gandhinagar; Hyderabad; Jaipur; Madras; Nainital; Panaji; Panchkuva; Patnitap; Puri; Trivandrum.

Details for all these accommodations can be had from any of the Government of India Tourist offices.

TIPPING: There are no set rules for tipping in India. Most hostels in India add 10 to 12½ per cent as service charge to bills. There is no service charge in Government rest houses. However, the visitor may tip at his discretion. For taxis also, tipping is not a common practice and is discretionary.

MODE OF TRAVEL TO INDIA: The overland route from Europe to India passes through France, Germany, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan-Hussainiwalla. On the Indo-Pakistan border, 26 kms from Amritsar, is the only check-post called Attari.

There is also a rail-cum-sea route to India. Rail connections are available from European countries to Turkey and then to Basra (Iraq). From Basra, there are regular sailings to Bombay.

Travel within India: The Indian Airlines network of services connects more than 70 cities including many centres of tourist attraction. (See air route map at the end of the book.)

The railways in India go almost everywhere and offer concessional fares to tourists for round trip travel in India.

Motoring in India: Tourists who wish to travel by automobile can obtain full information regarding road conditions, driving regulations, driving licences, 'Triptyque' and 'Carnet', from the recognized Automobile Associations listed below. Private taxis or luxury tourist taxis can be hired (See "Tourist Taxis" in general index for list of firms) though self drive cars are not available in India.

(1) The Automobile Association of Upper India, (behind Hindustan Times Bldg.), Lilaram Bldg., 14-F, Connaught Place, New Delhi 110001 (Tel. 42063; (2) Western India Automobile Association, Lalji Naranji Memorial Bldg., Churchgate, Bombay 400020 (Tel. 291085); (3) Automobile Association of Eastern India, 13, Ballygunj Circular Rd., Calcutta-700019 (Tel. 475131); (4) Automobile Association of South India, 38A, Mount Rd., Madras-600006 (Tel. 86121/2/3); (5) U. P. Automobile Association, 32A, M. Gandhi Rd., Allahabad 211001 (Tel. 2445).

Insurance: A third party insurance is compulsory for all motor vehicles which are in use. The insurance must be with a company registered in India.

Traffic circulation is on the left and the price of petrol is Rs. 3·27 per litre (4·5 litres are equivalent to one gallon, approximately) in Bombay, even though the prices vary from place to place, and lubricating oil is approximately Rs. 10·50 per litre.

Visa: Every foreign tourist entering India should be in possession of a valid passport issued by his Government, and tourist visa from the Indian representative abroad (or the British representative in countries where there are no Indian representatives). Commonwealth citizens (except those of Uganda, Kenya, Republic of Ireland, Sri Lanka, British subjects, British protected persons and missionaries), Nationals of Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Finland, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and West Germany are exempt from the visas requirement for a period of 90 days provided their passports are valid for travel to India. Persons of non-Indian origin domiciled in South Africa are, however, required to obtain visa for India.

Tourists who arrive without a visa may be allowed by the Immigration Authorities at the port of arrival to land and stay in India for a period of upto 28 days provided they are holding tickets for their outward journey from India. Such permission, which will be available for air and sea passengers, may also be made valid for departure from India from a port other than the port of entry. Collective landing permits may also be issued to tourists travelling in organised groups. Temporary landing permits are not issued to tourists entering India by road and to nationals of certain countries.

Foreigners who come on visits not exceeding 3 months for recreational or sightseeing purposes or for attending meetings convened by the Government of India or international bodies should, in their own interest, apply for tourist visas. These may be extended for a further period of 6 months. Holders of tourist visas are entitled to the grant of Tourist Introduction Cards which helps them in obtaining All India Liquor Permits and reservation of accommodation in Rest House, Dak Bungalows, Railways, Indian Airlines, etc.

Special Permits : Foreign visitors require special permits to visit certain areas like Darjeeling in West Bengal and Shillong and Kaziranga in Assam. These permits may be obtained either from the Foreigner's Registration Offices at Bombay, Delhi, Calcutta and Madras or from the Immigration Officers at the airport in the above cities. Foreigners who wish to visit Sikkim and Bhutan must apply two months in advance to the Ministry of External Affairs, Sikkim and Bhutan Section, New Delhi.

A foreigner resident in India, who wishes to make short trips abroad of not more than 3 months, can obtain "Return Visas" from the Foreigners' Regional Registration Offices or the State Governments. If the visit abroad is of longer duration "No objection to Return" endorsements can be obtained. Such endorsements are valid for one year in the case of missionaries and 6 months in the case of others and within these periods Indian Missions can issue re-entry visas on the strength of such endorsements.

Registration of Foreigners : No registration is required for foreigners staying in India for 90 days or less provided they have come on visas of 3 months or less. If they land in India with visas for more than 3 months' stay, then they must report for registration within 7 days to the Registration Officer of their destination and present the "B" Form (temporary registration certificate) issued to them at the place of entry.

Commonwealth citizens (other than missionaries) are exempted from registration formalities except British passport holders whose national status is described as British Subject and missionaries, British protected persons and Australian protected persons.

Return visa or double/triple entry visa holders would be required to get themselves registered after 90 days of their actual stay in India and not after 90 days of their first entry into India.

Departures: Tourists, if they are registered, are exempted from reporting their movements. However, all visitors holding registration certificates have to obtain, before departure, exit endorsements from the Registration Officers of the district in which they were initially registered. The Foreigners' Regional Registration Officers can also grant these endorsements to visitors residing within their jurisdiction. Permits have to be surrendered at the Foreigners' Registration Office in the city and not at the airport.

Health Permits : There are no restrictions but it is advisable to take Cholera, Typhoid, Small-pox and Yellow fever innoculations and vaccinations.

Yellow fever areas are Africa and some countries of South America. For passengers coming from or through these areas or by an aircraft which has been to an infected area but has not been disinfected it is essential to have the vaccination to avoid being quarantined for 9 days. The certificate is valid for 10 years 10 days after the vaccination.

Baggage : All baggage is subject to customs examination. Articles of high value e.g. radios, cameras, binoculars, type-writers, transistors, etc. are exempted from duty provided they are entered in the re-export declaration form and re-exported within 6 months.

Tourists are allowed to bring into India travellers' cheques or foreign currency notes of any amount subject to declaration on the Currency Declaration Form issued by the customs at the air/sea port or checkpost on the land border.

Additional concessions for tourists: Sporting Fire-arms: Not more than three sporting fire-arms brought in by a tourist are allowed free of duty. These must, however, be re-exported.

Cartridges: Each tourist is allowed to bring in 200 (exclusive of 50 allowed duty free) cartridges, on payment of customs duty, but without an Import Licence.

Film : A tourist is allowed to import 25 rolls of film or 48 plates for still cameras and 10 reels of movie films duty free. In addition, the tourist can import 25 rolls or 48 plates and 10 reels on payment of duty but without an import licence. However it is always advisable to check the latest baggage regulations available from the tourist offices or Indian missions abroad.

PLACES OF TOURIST INTEREST IN CENTRAL REGION

Sanchi: It is 45 km. (28 miles) from Bhopal, the Capital of Madhya Pradesh. Sanchi was not directly associated with the life of Buddha, but grew to be an active centre of Buddhism during the time of Ashoka (3rd Century B.C.). The magnificent and relatively well preserved monuments for which Sanchi is famous are all situated atop a hill overlooking woods where "Flame of the Forest" trees bloom fiery red in the summer. The most imposing of the monuments is the Great Stupa (about 150–100 B.C.) — huge semi-circular structure, surrounded by profusely carved gateways and railings depicting scenes from the Buddha's life. In the history of Indian art, the Sanchi stupa occupies a very important place, for it has influenced Hindu and Buddhist sculpture for many centuries that followed.

Khajuraho : Nearly 402 km. (250 miles) south east of Delhi (flying time 2 hrs. 15 mts.) are the erotic temples of Khajuraho in Madhya Pradesh, belonging to about 950 to 1150 A.D. They are ranked among the world's top-most tourist attractions, and represent some of the most exquisite specimens of Hindu architecture and sculpture in medieval India. The carving in the temples still seem to breathe a life and passion of their own and their beautiful proportions, the vibrant texture of the carvings which enrich their walls and their impressive size testify to the glories of the master builders of those days.

GAME SANCTUARIES

Kanha National Park : In the central highlands of India is one of the finest places for seeing Indian swamp deer, chital, blackduck, Indian bison, sambar and various carnivores. There are also nearly a hundred species of birds in this park. It can be reached by a motorable road from Nagpur (273 km. or 170 miles).

Accommodation : Forest rest houses.

Shivpuri National Park : The game preserve of the former rulers of Gwalior State, this 158 sq. km. (61 sq. miles) park is the natural abode of the sambar, chital, nilgai, chinkara and the Indian tiger. It is about 181 km. (70 miles) south of Gwalior.

Accommodation: Shivpuri Hotel, Circuit House and Dak Bungalow.

IN EASTERN REGION

Calcutta : Calcutta was born with the beginnings of the British rule in India and thus has no ancient monuments to talk about. Victoria Memorial which houses the relics of British rule in India, the Indian Museum treasuring the relics of ancient civilization and the Ashutosh Museum displaying Bengali folk art are some of the places worth visiting. The impressive Howrah Bridge leads to the Botanical Gardens and to Belur Math, the seat of the Ramakrishna Mission.

Bodh Gaya : It is the most sacred of Buddhist centres because it was here that the Buddha attained enlightenment under the 'Peepal' tree. A number of monuments were raised at this site in the subsequent centuries. The Mahabodhi Temple, a magnificent structure with a pyramidal tower of nine storeys, 48·75 m. (160 feet) high, contains a colossal gilded image of the Buddha in the earth-touching posture symbolising the event of enlightenment. The temple was probably built in the 4th century A.D. and restored several times subsequently. Bodh Gaya is 11·26 km. (7 miles) by road from Gaya railway station which is connected with Patna by rail (92 km. or 57 miles).

Darjeeling : Hill station in West Bengal lies on the lower slopes of the Himalayas about 600 km. (370 miles) north of Calcutta. It is 2,167·12 m. (7,110 feet) above sea level. From here, one can view the Himalayas in all their majesty, range upon range of perpetual snow culminating in Kanchenjunga (8,578·90 m. or 28,146 ft. high). The quaint Buddhist shrines and monastries, the happy carefree faces of the hill-folk and above all the picturesque scenery all around will abide in the visitor's memory.

The Kanchenjunga can always be seen, while the Everest, the highest peak in the world, is visible only on a clear day. Other favourite walks for the visitor are to Birch Hill and Lebong. The former is a reserve forest with an excellent park. Here the visitor will find oak, chestnut, cherry, maple, birch and alder.

Not far from the Birch Hill Park is the Himalayan Mountaineering Institute which provides training in mountaineering in the Himalayas. Mr. Tenzing Norkay, who climbed the Everest along with Sir Edmund Hillary, is associated with the Institute. The Observatory Hill, above the church, is known to the Buddhists as 'Rdo-rje-gling', 'the place of the Dorje', the mystic thunderbolt of the lamaist religion. It is from this that Darjeeling takes its name. The bazars of Darjeeling are very exciting. There you will find curios, carved wooden boxes, exotic pieces of jewellery, embroidered shawls and art objects. On Saturdays and Sundays, the picturesque hill-folk — Bhutias, Nepalese, Tibetans, Lepchas — throng the market place with their wares and look most colourful.

Darjeeling can be reached from Calcutta by air upto Bagdogra and from there by road (88 km. or 55 miles).

Bhubaneshwar : Orissa's new capital, a metropolis of temples, was built around a sacred lake which was once encircled by some 7,000 shrines. Now only 500 remain in decay, presenting a complete picture of Orissan art and history from the 3rd century B.C. to the 16th century A.D. The great Lingaraj Temple is supposed to be "the finest example of a purely Hindu temple in India". Pilgrims come here for blessings and then take a dip in the sacred lake "Bindu Sagar." This 20th century garden city has many other attractions like the nearby Jain and Buddhist rock cut caves of Khandagiri and Udayagiri. The beautifully preserved Asoka's rock edicts at Dhanli, carved around 260 B.C. narrate the horrors of the Kalinga war and Asoka's acceptance of the path of non-violence.

Puri : About 63 km. (39 miles) by road from Bhubaneshwar is the sacred city of Puri dominating Orissa's sea coast in all its secluded splendour. It is one of the 'Char Dham', the four most holy places of pilgrimage in India, the three others being Badrikedarnath in the north, Rameshwaram in the south, and Dwarka in the west. Every year, in the month of June, as many as two hundred thousand visitors and pilgrims flock to Puri to watch the Car Festival, when the images of the Jagannath ('Lord of the Universe') Temple are taken over a distance of one mile to the garden shrine of Gundicha Mandir. The gigantic car 11 m. (35 ft.) long and 14 m. (45 ft.) high with 16 wheels — each 2·13 m. (7 ft.) in diameter — is used for carrying the deities. It is a unique sight to see thousands of devotees vying with each other to pull the chariot.

Modern Puri has been built more or less along the beach which stretches east to west. The sea is shallow for about a mile from the beach, but the surf breaks with a rare violence on the shore. From early morning the beach is thronged with people who sport or bathe in the roaring but harmless waves.

Konarak : The Sun Temple of Konarak, on the seashore, about 66 km. (41 miles) from Bhubaneshwar is stupendous in proportions and truly amazing in its ornamentation. Standing in lonely splendour among the sand dunes, built in 1250 A.D. and dedicated to the Sun God, the temple is in the architectural image of the mythical chariot of the Sun rushing through the blue heavens. The twelve pairs of wheels of the chariot are the last word in sculptural artistry and the seven horses in front, straining to pull the massive weight, are superbly executed. Intensely lovely are the thousand and one figures — musicians, lovers, couples in embrace, floral designs, the enormous horses and elephants flanking the temple, scenes of the battle and the chase — all masterpieces.

Traveller's Lodge at a short distance from the temple is a very comfortable place to stay in, but tourist prefer to visit Konarak in a one-day trip from Bhubaneshwar.

Chilka Lake : About 96 km. (60 miles) south of Bhubaneshwar is this great lake, famed for its rich bird life and a favourite resort for fishermen. Its scenery is of great natural beauty and many people travel there to watch the ever-changing light at dawn, at noon, at sunset, in winter and in summer, in sunshine and in the rains.

Some of the most attractive aborigine tribes live in the neighbourhood of this lake.

Accommodation : P.W.D. Inspection Bungalow at Barkul which overlooks/the lake.

Hyderabad-Secunderabad : The twin city linked together by the Hussain-Sagar (lake), is the capital of Andhra Pradesh. It is a centre of Muslim culture and learning and the fifth largest city in India. Standing on the banks of the river Musi, it was till 1948 the capital of Hyderabad State of Nizam, one of the richest men in the world. The Salar Jung Museum crammed with curios from all over the world, old manuscripts, costumes and ancient weapons is a living proof of the riches. Trapezoid in shape the city is surrounded by a stone wall. At the junction of wide avenues stand the Char Minar, a stately rectangular white building with four tall minarets often referred to as the "Arc de Triomphe" of the East. It is the famous landmark of Hyderabad and curiously made more famous by a brand of cigarettes of the same name said to be one of the strongest, cheapest and most satisfying kind on the market. To the south of Charminar lies the Chaumahalla Palace and to the west the Mecca Masjid, the principal mosque of Hyderabad. Built entirely of stone and richly decorated in coloured and polished plaster it boasts of an interior that can hold ten thousand worshippers at a time.

The Falaknuma Palace, the Osmania University and the beautifully laid out river gardens are some of the recent additions to the city that blend well with the old.

The tombs situated 8 km. (5 miles) out of the city, are of Qutbshahi kings who ruled in the 16th and 17th centuries. Next to it is the massive Golconda Fort. It is surrounded by a strongly built wall of solid blocks of granite, with eighty-seven bastion at the angles, on which there are still some of the old guns. Now in ruins it was once famous as the diamond mart for the nearby mines.

GAME SANCTUARIES

Jaldapara Sanctuary : This 93 sq. km. (36 sq. miles) area on the river Torsa in North Bengal is the abode of the famed Indian rhinoceros. Swamp and barking deer, sambar, pig and sometimes wild elephants are also seen here. Best months to visit are December to May. The nearest airport is Cooch Behar 100 km. (62 miles), which is connected by air with Calcutta.

Accommodation : Tourist Bungalow.

Kaziranga Sanctuary : Famous as the main stronghold of Indian rhinoceros this 430 sq. km. (166 sq. miles) sanctuary also has elephant, wild buffalo, deer, sambar and many species of water birds. Best visited between December and May. It is 218 km. (135 miles) from Gauhati which can be reached by air from Calcutta.

Accommodation : Forest Inspection Bungalow at Baguri.

Manas Sanctuary : Close to the Himalayas, it is 153 km. (95 miles) west of Gauhati. Besides wild buffalo, elephant, Indian bison, tiger and deer the added attraction is the scenic beauty. Fishing is also possible here. October to May is a good time to visit.

Accommodation : Forest Department Bungalow at Mothanguri.

Note : A special permit is required to visit Kaziranga and Manas Sanctuaries in Assam State. It can be obtained from Assam House, 8 Russell Street, Calcutta-700016, which would take about five to six day's to process. This applies to all regions in Assam and Meghalaya except Shillong.

IN NORTHERN REGION

Delhi : Like Rome, the capital of the Indian Republic, is an 'eternal city', and with a history even more chequered and ancient. In the ancient days, the city shifted its site at least seven times and the ruins of all these townships are still there for anyone to see.

There are today two Delhis — the old city of the Mughals built by Shah Jahan, the Emperor who built the Taj, and the new city built by the British in 1931. While Old Delhi evokes a distinctly oriental atmosphere, New Delhi has wide avenues and imposing office buildings. Both the cities are rich in monuments and mosques; such as the Red Fort, the Jantar Mantar Observatory, Humayun Tomb, the Parliament House, the Rastrapati Bhavan and many more.

Agra : The city of the world famous Taj Mahal has many other historical sites of interest like the fort of the Mughals, the ruins of Fatehpur Sikri — a city built by Akbar — a Mughal Emperor. It also has numerous and fabulous tombs of eminent personalities. Special tourist bus and trains run from New Delhi for a day's journey.

Chandigarh : Now a Union Territory and also the capital of the Punjab and Haryana, the youngest of the Indian capital cities, it is a striking example of modern town planning conceived by Le Corbusier and Maxwell Fry. Advanced styling is adapted to the local climatic needs making it an unique city in the whole of India.

Amritsar : City in the Punjab, is the religious capital of the Sikhs. It was founded in 1577 around a sacred pool, from which the city takes its name "Pool of Nectar". The Golden Temple stands in the centre of this pool. The marble based temple has bronze sides and dome which are heavily covered with pure gold leaf. These reflect the tropical sun into the still waters of the pool, illuminating it and creating an atmosphere of awe and respect. There are a few more of the Sikh and Hindu temples worth seeing, but none surpass the peaceful aura of the Golden Temple.

Almora : In U.P. (133 km. or 83 miles from Kathgodam Railway Station) is the main town in Kumaon Hills. Perched at an elevation of 1,706·88 m (5,600 ft.) it is about two miles in length like a saddle, and is said to have been founded four hundred years ago by Raja Kalyan Chand. Almora has moderate rainfall, temperate climate, the temperature seldom rising above 31°C (88°F), even during the summer days, and comparative freedom from fog. Within easy distance of Almora are many Himalayan peaks — Seehee Debi, Bandnee Debi and Binsar being the chief ones. Binsar Hill also known as Jhandi Dhar is only 21 km. (13 miles) from Almora and the bridle path leading to it, passes through enchanting jungle scenery.

Accommodation : Available at the Government circuit house for which an advance booking has to be made.

Pindari Glacier : Can be reached from Almora at a distance of 120 km. (75 miles) in eight stages, attaining an altitude of 3,963 m. to 4,267 m. (13,000 to 14,000 ft.). The most suitable time for this trip is either May–June or September–October.

Naini Tal : Hill station also in Kumaon Hills, is attractively situated around a mountain lake 1,935·48 m. (6,350 ft.) above sea level. A shady avenue skirts the lake. On either side of the lake rise lofty hills dotted with beautiful villas and bungalows. There are a number of picnic spots around from where one can have a magnificent view of the snow peaked Himalayan mountain range. Nainital District has a chain of lakes lying close to one another, the prettiest amongst them being lake Naini itself. They are a veritable paradise for the angler. Besides fishing, one could also do swimming, yachting, boating, riding, skating and trekking.

Kashmir : The Great Mughals, who were connoisseurs of the good things of life, described Kashmir as 'the earthly paradise'.

Indeed, it is difficult to imagine anything more lovely. It is a vast, rich, green valley criss-crossed by streams and rivulets and encircled by stupendous snow-clad mountains — 'an emerald set in pearls'. Nature has adorned it with lakes of limpid waters, bubbling springs by hill-sides, upland pastures and springy meadows. Clothing the valley is a vast expanse of paddy fields and forests alive with a variety of birds and animals. To enhance its natural beauty, pleasure gardens were laid out by the Great Mughals at many places in Kashmir.

Here you can stay in luxury in a floating hotel called the 'house-boat'; glide gently on the placid waters of the Dal Lake in a shikara; play golf on perhaps the world's highest golf-course; enjoy a variety of water sports; or, if you are adventurous, go trekking or hunting. Also, you can take back home some of the exquisitely embroidered, carved, chiselled or painted handicrafts for which Kashmir is known the world over.

Srinagar : Is a central place from where excursions and pleasure trips to all parts of the valley can be planned. It is itself a picturesque place with lakes, gardens and monuments along the river Jhelum.

Srinagar is an ancient city believed to have been first built by Emperor Asoka in the third century B.C. The Jhelum flows through the heart of the city, dividing it into two parts which are connected by nine bridges. A trip down the river in a swiftly gliding shikara would give the visitor a feel of the city's picturesque balconies, busy ghats, mosques and temples.

Gulmarg : Is about 46 km. (29 miles) from Srinagar, a huge grassy bowl, known for its golf-course. The last 6·4 km. (4 miles) of the journey are covered either by a pony or on foot and, with special permission, by jeep also. At the end of the climb, the visitor is rewarded with a magnificent view of Gulmarg which has numerous walks and picnic spots.

Pahalgam : In the lovely Lidder Valley, about 97 km. (60 miles) from Srinagar is known for its exquisite scenery, springs and streams. It is also the base for treks to higher points like Amarnath and Sheshnag.

Kulu and Kangra Valleys : Well-known for its picturesque landscapes and historic temples, lies in Himachal Pradesh. 33·7 km. (21 miles) from Kangra is the famous temple of Jwala-Mukhi, built up against a rocky cliff. An inflammable gas issues forth from a cleft in the cliff, creating an atmosphere of reverence. Kangra has several tea gardens while Kulu is well-known for the fruit orchards. The winding narrow roads flanked and shaded by pink blossomed apricot trees, huge rhododendrons and blue and purple iris in different seasons lead to the hilltops that look down on a gorgeous alpine scenery. These valleys are favourite vacation places as the summer is never uncomfortably hot and offer sports like golf, tennis, swimming, hiking and trout fishing.

Here the simple and unsophisticated people are a contented lot with few needs and fewer worries. These happy-go-lucky people hold fairs and festivals throughout the year and it would be wise to check and be there on a festival.

Allahabad : (Also called Prayag): City in U.P. situated at the confluence of the Ganga, the Jamuna and the unseen Saraswati. The confluence is the holiest bathing place for Hindus. Every 12 years, Kumbha Mela (religious fair) is held attracting over four million pilgrims during the four weeks. The last one was held in February 1965. A smaller fair occurs every six years — Adha Kumbhi. The old Mughal fort contains an underground temple where well carved images are seen and the pilgrims worship at a small tree taking it to be the Eternal Banyan Tree (Akshaya Vata). 104·6 km. (65 miles) from Allahabad is Kosambi, where the ruins of an ancient capital are being excavated.

Banaras : Now known as Varanasi, is more than a holy city of the Hindus; it represents a way of life. For more than a thousand years this centre of Hindu pilgrimage has lived a rich life haloed by tradition on the banks of the great river Ganga which reaches Varanasi in a graceful curve. For more than a thousand years great masses of people have come here from every corner of the country to receive spiritual sustenance.

The oldest city in the country and perhaps the oldest living city in the world, Varanasi has about 1,500 temples besides countless minor shrines which are thronged with pilgrims all the year round.

Sarnath, a Buddhist centre with many architectural ruins, is about 9·6 km. (6 miles) from Varanasi. The Buddha preached his first sermon here.

Jaipur : Capital of Rajasthan State, it was planned and built by an astronomer-prince in the 18th century, when there were few planned cities even in Europe. "I have seen Jaipur, and now I can die" was how Max Lerner, a famed traveller, felt after having an eyeful of this beautiful pink city. Comparing it with Venice and Paris, he named Jaipur along with them as the three most beautiful cities of the world. But he found something more in Jaipur — a dream quality about the fabric of its delicate gossamer structure, its lattice work and pink terracotta. This picturesque city — a fantasy in stone — set in the heart of Rajasthan is encircled by rugged hills crowned with medieval fortresses reminiscent of the days when the valiant Rajputs fought fierce battles and long drawn out wars to save their beloved land from invading alien hordes. The city palace in the centre of Jaipur is now a museum of Rajput & Mughal miniature paintings, an armoury and rare manuscripts. The Hawai Mahal Palace of the winds — has so many windows with perforated screens that the breeze sweeps through them. Maharaja Jai Singh who built the city in 1727 was also a great astronomer. He built an observatory with instruments of his own design. About 11·2 km. (7 miles) away is Amber palace perched on the slopes of a steep hill and surrounded by a lake. A majestic elephant takes the visitor up the slopes and into this mysterious palace that possesses the world's best chamber of mirrors. Jaipur pottery, brass ware, sculpture, ivory and sandalwood work and jewellery have enjoyed a great reputation from ancient times.

Udaipur : In Rajasthan, is the romantic city of lakes with island palaces. The sprawling marble palaces with coloured glass of amber and pale jade reflect in the steel blue waters of the lake Pichola. Hundreds of green parrots lend colour to the early morning skies. Surrounded by wooded hills the city is aptly called the 'City of Dreams'. The Jag Nivas place with fountains and gardens and apartments with courts, has now been turned into the Lake Palace Hotel and offer the visitor a unique and unforgettable stay.

About 112·6 km. (70 miles) from Udaipur is Chittorgarh. The ruins of this abandoned capital of Mewar speak eloquently of the many grim and glorious deeds of Rajput heroism and sacrifice which have almost become a myth.

Mount Abu : In Rajasthan (3,822 ft. above sea level) is famous for its Dilwara group of Jain temples (11th-13th century A.D.). Having the most intricate and finest marble-carvings in India, these beautiful temples nestle among the lush green mango trees. Hills surround them on all sides and the scenic beauty is very enchanting. Abu is known for its variety of birds and the flowering trees in its jungles. It is reached by rail and road from Ahmedabad.

GAME SANCTUARIES

Corbett National Park : In Uttar Pradesh lying in the beautiful foothills of the Himalayas it is the haunt of tigers, leopards, deers and sambars, also hyenas, jackals and wild elephants. It is 294 km. (183 miles) by road from Delhi. Best time to go there is between January and May.

Chandraprabha Sanctuary : Also in Uttar Pradesh is 72 km. (45 miles) from Banaras. In 1957, it was selected as a suitable new home for the Indian lion and some of them were brought here from the Gir Forest in Gujarat. Nilgai, pig, chinkara, sambar and chital are also found here. Best time to go there is between December and April.

Dachigam Sanctuary : In Jammu and Kashmir State, it consists of Lower and Upper Dachigam, about 20 kms. (13 miles) from Srinagar, where one can still spot the famous but now very rare Kashmir stag. Black bear and pig are also found in this beautiful scenic surrounding.

IN SOUTHERN REGION

Madras : Capital of Tamil Nadu is the gateway to a pleasant land, the city of an ancient civilization exemplified in its many monuments of the past with a rich heritage of culture. Although being carried along on the stream of progressive development yet remaining largely unspoilt, Madras is one of the more attractive cities of India. Perhaps the first claim to fame for Madras is its wonderful foreshore of fine sandy beach stretching from the harbour to the limits of the city at the Adyar river and then beyond for many miles to the south. It is a source of pride to the people, for it is considered to be the second longest beach in the world. There are delightful gardens along its whole length with many varieties of flowers.

Speaking of culture the visitor instantly feels the difference between the rest of India and the south in this city which can be the starting point for an introduction to the Dravidian culture. The many invasions of the aliens never quite reached upto the south and the pureness of this culture remains intact. The temples, the music the dance all vibrate in its original form and one should never leave Madras without seeing a Bharat Natya dance performance. Much of the poses and stances of this dance are depicted in the sculptures of the South Indian temples.

Mahabalipuram : 59·5 kms. (37 miles) out of Madras are some of the ruins of the great Pallava Empire. The shore temple, a little gem of a shrine, stands poised on the very shore, the waves beating against it. The cave temples are store-houses of art. The so-called pagodas are carved out of rocks in the form of temple chariots and are the chief glory of Mahabalipuram.

Conjeevaram (Kanchipuram) : The city of temples, the Banaras of the South, is about 72 km. (45 miles) to the south-west of Madras. The place is divided into three parts, Shiva Conjeevaram, Vishnu Conjeevaram and Pillayar Paliyam, a testimony to the part played by all the main Hindu religious sects in the history of the city.

There are over a thousand temples in all, amongst them is the temple of Kailasnath, believed to be 1,200 years old and contains some excellent 7th and 8th century paintings on the walls. More of these wall paintings are seen in the Vaikunthanath Perumal Temple which is also over 1,000 years old.

It is a one-day excursion trip from Madras, but one can stay at the Traveller's Lodge.

Pondicherry : 167 km. (104 miles) by road from Madras. The atmosphere of a sleepy French provincial town still prevails here. It was returned to India in 1954 after the French rule of 250 years. The main attraction of this place is the ashram of the philosopher Aurobindo Ghose.

Auroville 'the City of Dawn' is being built on the outskirts of Pondicherry. It will be the first 'World City' where any national can have a home.

Kanya Kumari or Cape Comorin : In Tamil Nadu, named from the temple of Kumari (an attribute of Parvati) is at the southern-most tip of the Indian peninsula. Here the Arabian sea and the Bay of Bengal meet the Indian Ocean. According to a legend Siva married the Goddess Parvati, daughter of King Himalaya on the rocks where the temple now stands. Offshore are the two rocks where Swami Vivekananda sat in meditation before he left for the United States. Now on them stands a huge and imposing memorial to the Swami.

Ootacamund : Ooty for short is a hill station in Tamil Nadu. Over 2,286 m. (7,500 ft.) above sea-level, Ooty has a temperate climate. The rainfall rarely exceeds 1,016 mm. (40 in.) so that Ooty has excellent weather throughout the year, and during the season from April to June, it ranks amongst the gayest resorts in India. It reposes in an amphitheatre surrounded by four great hills. On the slopes of the hills are residential and office buildings. At the bottom of the valley enclosed by them is Ooty's artificial lake which could pass for a natural one. Conceived by Sullivan in 1823 and meant for irrigation, it turned out to be so lovely that it was preserved for its sheer beauty. The lake provides facilities for boating and fishing. West of this are the Wenlock Downs — an expanse of undulating springy turf embellished with woods and streams. Here are also the golf-links. These downs are the home country of the Ootacamund Hunt.

The terraced Botanical Gardens, a landmark in Ootacamund, were laid out by an expert from London's Kew Gardens, over a century ago. It has many rare trees and flowering plants. Ooty's flower, fruit and vegetable shows are attended by people from all over the Nilgiris, and here the fashionable jostling with the tribal folk present a colourful spectacle.

Kodaikanal : Famous hill station on the Palni Hills in Tamil Nadu, it is about 2,343 m. (7,688 ft.) above sea-level and has a temperate climate. The place affords plenty of scope for such recreations as walking, hiking, boating, fishing, hill climbing and golf. For the more adventurous there is big game hunting. Kodaikanal is the delight of the gardener and flowers are in bloom all the year round. The long winding road up the hill reminds one of the road up to Sorento in Italy. The greenery on the way is breathtaking. The different waterfalls make Kodaikanal a truly beautiful vacation spot. A man-made lake with a three-mile shady promenade around it is the popular place in the evenings. Kodaikanal has a hint of a place somewhere on the continent with chalet-type houses perched at random on the slopes of the Palni Hills.

Cochin : In Kerala it is one of the important ports on the west coast of India and, yet it is very different than a typical commercial port. Shady lagoons, wooded islands, ancient palaces and churches are encircled by canals of palm fringed shimmering backwaters. In fact Cochin is a cluster of islands and towns linked by bridges.

In Mattanchari is the community of Jews that came to Kerala as early as the 1st Century A.D.

A side trip down the west coast to Alleppey and then on to Quilon on the backwaters, offers breathtaking scenery. Lush vegetation and palm thatched villages are dotted with churches in Portuguese colonial style.

Trivandrum : The sea-side capital of Kerala is built like Rome, on hills. Many parks and lovely buildings with their gabled roofs, stand on low hillocks, while the restful valleys below are adorned with coconut groves. Trivandrum means "the place of the sacred snake Anant". The imposing temple of Sri Padmanabhaswami is dedicated to the Hindu God Vishnu, his image reclining on Sheshnag, the enormous hooded serpent.

A long drive from Alleppey to Trivandrum via Quilon has a very picturesque scenery along the west coast of India.

Mysore : It has a quiet charm so characteristic of a university town. For long the seat of an ancient ruling family, it has a good deal of colour and glamour. Besides palaces and gardens this place is famous for its ivory and sandalwood carvings and cast metal statuettes.

EXCURSIONS OUT OF MYSORE

Srirangapatna : The city of Lord Ranganath — takes its name from the imposing temple of Vishnu. This quiet island-town on river Kaveri 16 km. (10 miles) from Mysore, is reminiscent of many battles and past glories. On special occasions devout Hindus pass through this place to bathe in the river and to worship in this shrine.

Tipu Sultan, son of Hyder Ali, inherited a large dominion from his father. Srirangapatna was its capital and it became the centre of diplomatic manoeuvres against the rising power of the British. Tipu's summer palace in the midst of an exquisite garden on the river bank has large panels with paintings depicting battle scenes and processions that recall episodes from his and his father's life. The walls, pillars, arches and roofs are covered with an amazing variety of painted designs made gorgeous by a liberal use of gold.

Sravana Belgola: Wedged in between two hills, which rise abruptly from a flat plain, Sravana Belgola dominates the countryside for four miles with its 17·37 m. (57 ft.) high Jain colossus of Lord Gomateswara, shaped out of a single rock. This monolithic statue was carved in 983 A.D.

The town, a flourishing centre of Jain pilgrimage, abounds in monuments that recall the achievements of a bygone age. It is about 100 km. (62 miles) from Mysore.

Belur : 56·3 km. (35 miles) from Sravana Belgola is Belur, 800 year's ago a flourishing capital of the Hoysala kings. Its chief place of interest is the 12th century temple of Chenna Keshava, a manifestation of Vishnu. Its outer walls are decorated with an amazing variety of carvings. No description can do justice to the infinite patience and skill with which the sculptors fashioned the intricate details of the scroll work, the niches, the elephants, the miniature turrets and human figures and gods. The interior of the temple also displays a profusion of artistic skill lavished on the pillars, ceilings, doorways, and bracket figures.

Halebid : 12·8 km. (8 miles) from Belur, it was the metropolis of the ancient Hoysala rulers. The Lord Siva temple built about the same time as the Belur Temple has every inch of its outer wall covered with friezes of great variety. Remarkable for artistic skill are the sculptured elephants, horses, mythical beasts and birds, the scroll work of infinite beauty and variety, and the big panels of gods and goddesses of the Hindu pantheon running all round the walls.

Usually all these places are visited from Mysore in a day and a half's trip with a night stop at the comfortable Traveller's Lodge at Hassan.

Bijapur : Town in Karnataka State, capital of the old Adilshahi Sultans of Bijapur, is rich with the remains of palaces, mosques and tombs. Gol Gumaz the vast mausoleum of Mohammed Adil Shah (17th century) has a dome which is the second largest in the world with St. Peter's at Rome bigger by merely 15 feet. The Whispering Gallery inside the dome is so constructed that a soft whisper at one point of the gallery can be heard most distinctly at the opposite point. Jama Masjid of Bijapur is the greatest mosque in the south and also one of the finest in India.

GAME SANCTUARIES

Rangathittoo Bird Sanctuary: It is a mile away from Srirangapatna and 14·4 km. (9 miles) from Mysore. Consisting of islets in the Kaveri river, it is inhabited by a variety of storks. Primarily it is a breeding place for herons. Also during the months of June to August other birds like white ibis, Indian dartar, cormorant and cattle egret breed here.

Accommodation : Travellers' bungalow at Srirangapatna.

Bandipur Sanctuary : 78·8 km. (49 miles) from Mysore on the road to Ooty is the game preserve of the former rulers of Karnataka State. This sanctuary now shelters herds of wild elephants, the Indian 'bison', the spotted deer, tiger, sloth bear and leopard. Tame elephants can be hired for a ride around the sanctuary and it can be visited at any time of the year.

Accommodation : Three forest lodges and one travellers' bungalow.

Mudumalai Sanctuary : Adjacent to Bandipur is this sanctuary of 295 sq. km. (114 sq. miles). Gaur, sambar, elephant, barking deer, chital, wild boar and occasionally a tiger or a leopard are seen here. A variety of birds are also found here. It is 96·5 km. (60 miles) from Mysore.

Nagarhole Sanctuary : It is 228 km. (142 miles) from Mysore via Mercara. Wild elephant, deer, panther, jackal and if one is lucky, the tiger can be spotted here. One can stay at the Forest Lodge.

Dandeli Sanctuary : It is well-known for elephant, bisons, panther, tiger, sambar and chital. The place abounds in excellent viewpoints and beauty spots. It is about 76 km. (47 miles) from Dharwar by road which is connected with the nearest airport Belgaum by rail (121 km. or 75 miles). The sanctuary, which is not accessible during the monsoon months of June to October covers an area of 207 sq. km. (80 sq. miles).

Accommodation : Four forest bungalows at Dandeli.

Periyar Sanctuary : One of the finest spots in the country, the wild life sanctuary at Theckady in Kerala consists of an artificial lake of 26 sq. km. (10 sq. miles), in a sanctuary of 673 sq. km. (260 sq. miles). It is famous for its wild elephants besides Indian 'bison', sambar and stray panther and tiger. October to May are the best months for a visit. Motor boats take visitors about on the lake from where all these animals can be watched in comfort.

Vedanthangal Bird Sanctuary : 139·8 km. (54 miles) south of Madras this small sanctuary breeds birds like, white ibis, night heron, spoon bill, open bill stork, Indian dartar, grey heron, egret and two species of cormorant. Good months to visit are from November to February.

IN WESTERN REGION

Bombay : Arriving by sea or by air, one is struck by its natural setting — the far-away blue outlines of the majestic Western Ghats, the calm sea dotted with fishing boats the palm-fringed beaches and on the outskirts smoke rising from a thousand chimneys in the mill area — a reminder that Bombay is one of the largest industrial cities of the East.

A cosmopolitan city, it owes its prosperity to the industry and enterprise of its population of six million. Bombay is a city of contrasts where the rich and the poor, the educated and the illiterate, the modern and the ancient co-habit. It is the largest city in India which has grown out of seven islands. Over the years the islands merged into one another by reclamation of land from the sea.

Excursions Around Bombay: About 38·8 km. (15 miles) to the north of the city is Juhu, the palm-fringed natural beach, ideal for bathing. Juhu has good hotels, while shacks and villas along the beach can also be rented. For a quiet swim, Versova and Marve, further up the coast, are recommended. Bombay's picturesque lake district is only an hour's drive from the city.

Some 15 km. (6 miles) across the Bombay harbour, on a small island are the famous cave temples of Elephanta. Five in all, these cave temples date back to the eighth century. The main cave, dedicated to Siva, has huge sculptures and panels in relief. The most striking of the images is the Maheshmurti, a 6 m. (19 ft.) high, three headed bust hewn from a single rock representing the triple aspect of the Hindu Divinity.

There are a number of rock-cut monuments around Bombay. The more well-known among them are the Kanheri group of Buddhist caves and the series of shrines and monasteries known as Karla, Bhaja and Bedsa.

Aurangabad : In Maharashtra is where Emperor Aurangzeb built a replica of the Taj, Bibi-ka-Maqbara, a mausoleum for his wife. It has its own splendour and grace quite different than the Taj.

Close to Aurangabad is Daulatabad, "City of Fortune", built in the 14th century by a Sultan of Delhi, who was mad enough to try to move here the whole population of Delhi, which is some 1,813 km. (700 miles) away.

Ajanta-Ellora : An hour and a half's flight from Bombay is Aurangabad, the starting point of a journey to two of the world's famous rock-cut temples — Ajanta and Ellora, the most remarkable monuments of their kind in the world. These monasteries and shrines have been hewn out of living rock by generations of sculptors. Ajanta, 170 km. (66 miles) from Aurangabad, lies in a narrow gorge and contains a breathtaking picture gallery of frescoes. It is believed that these caves were cut in stages between the 2nd century B.C. to about 7th century A.D.

The Ellora caves situated 38·8 km. (15 miles) from Aurangabad are excavated in the face of a hill and run north to south for a mile and a quarter. The crescent-shape hill has Buddhist, Hindu and Jain cave temples with a unique collection of sculptures. These caves are about a thousand years old.

Ahmedabad : is the second largest textile centre in India. It contains numerous monuments of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, amongst them are the Shaking Minarets which are architectural wonders. Mahatma Gandhi's ashram is situated on the banks of the river Sabarmati. A 45 minutes Son-et-Lumiere show brings the ashram alive giving its history and an insight into the life of Mahatma Gandhi.

Goa : Cradled among the picturesque hills of the western ghats, its panoramic beauty, its smiling green valleys and its luxuriant tropical vegetation, its quaint houses and the ruins of old and historic buildings which bring ancient splendour to life, all combine to make it an earthly paradise. Once a Portuguese possession in India, Goa has numerous beautiful beaches, where one can sun-bathe, swim or just laze away in the vast expanse of dazzling white sands fringed with swaying palm trees.

The remnants of the Portuguese civilization can be seen in the old Goa. Among the still surviving ancient Portuguese churches is the Basilica and the Convent of St. Francis Xavier, built in the 16th century, where the body of St. Francis Xavier, patron saint of Goa, is enshrined in an exquisitely carved glass and silver-casket.

Goa is easily reached from Bombay by a 75 minutes flight by the Indian Airlines.

Game Sanctuary : (Gir Forest) Roaming the dry open shrub land of the Gir Forest is a population of about 200 lions and cubs. The Gir is the last remaining habitat of the Asian lion. The best time to see them is from December to May. Wild bear, panther, sambar, blue bull and deer of different varieties also live in this forest along with a number of varied birds. The nearest airport is Keshod, 86·9 km. (54 miles) by road from Sassan Gir. Keshod is connected with Bombay by weekly air service during the season.

MINES AND MINERALS

THE total value of mineral production in India during 1973 was Rs. 4,926 million as against Rs. 5,426 million in the previous year. Fuels (coal, lignite, petroleum & natural gas) constituting the leading group accounted for Rs. 3,749 million or 76 per cent of the total value of mineral production during 1973. The share of metallic minerals was Rs. 760 million and that of non-metallic minerals Rs. 417 million accounting for 15 and 8 per cent respectively.

In terms of value of output during 1973 next to coal and lignite (Rs. 2,946 million) and petroleum and natural gas (Rs. 803 million) were iron ore (Rs. 445 million), limestone (Rs. 253 million), manganese ore (Rs. 72 million), gold (Rs. 87 million), copper ore (Rs. 64 million), mica (Rs. 21 million), dolomite (Rs. 24 million), kyanite (Rs. 10 million), chromite (Rs. 30 million) and phosphorite (Rs. 12 million).

The quantity index of mineral production (base 1960—100) stood at 184 during 1973 which is higher than the previous year. Fuel (coal, lignite, petroleum (crude) and natural gas) mining constitutes as much as 76 per cent of the overall mining activity in the country followed by metal mining with 14·6 per cent and non-metallic mining 8·4 per cent. The index of coal mining registered 156 in 1973 in comparison with 150 in 1972. Metallic mining index during 1973 was 159 as against 162 in the previous year. The index of non-metallic mining was lower in 1973 compared with 207 in 1972.

STATE-WISE ANALYSIS

Bihar occupied the leading position accounting for 28 per cent of the total value of mineral production in 1973 followed by Madhya Pradesh and West Bengal 16 and 15 per cent respectively. The supremacy of these States is primarily due to the fact that these are the principal producers of coal in India accounting respectively for 43 per cent, 19 per cent and 25 per cent of the all-India output during 1973.

The value of mineral production* (Rs.'000) in each state for 1972 is as follows:

Bihar	1,386,888
Madhya Pradesh	770,036
West Bengal	740,502
Gujarat	441,581
Assam	408,970†
Orissa	257,060
Andhra Pradesh	231,636
Tamil Nadu	158,263
Karnataka	148,887
Maharashtra	127,677
Goa	127,473
Rajasthan	91,006
Uttar Pradesh	16,524
Kerala	7,394
Haryana	7,364
Jammu & Kashmir	2,605
Himachal Pradesh	779
Delhi	311
Punjab	—

† Includes the value of coal for Meghalaya State as separate figures are not available.

EXPORTS

The foreign exchange earned by exports of minerals and metals from India totalled Rs. 3,208 million during 1973 compared to Rs. 2,868 million in the preceding year registering a rise of 11·9 per cent mainly due to higher exports of iron-ore, chromite, diamond, ilmenite and mica. The share of minerals and metals in the foreign exchange earnings resulting from exports formed 14·2 per cent (minerals 11·3 per cent and metals 2·9 per cent) of the total merchandize as compared to 15·4 per cent (minerals 12·7 per cent and metals 2·7 per cent) in 1972.

The foreign exchange earned through the exports of ores and minerals during 1973 totalled Rs. 2,558 million as against Rs. 2,368 million during 1972 registering a rise of 8 per cent.

IMPORTS

Foreign exchange spent on the imports of minerals into India during 1973 totalled Rs. 3,605 million as compared to Rs. 2,234 million during 1972 registering an increase of 61·4 per cent.

MINERAL FUELS

Coal & Lignite: The most important coal fields are Raniganj in West Bengal and Jharia and Bokaro in Bihar. The best coking coal comes from Giridih, Jharia and Raniganj. Other States in which coal is found are Madhya Pradesh, Orissa, Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Maharashtra, Assam, Rajasthan and Kashmir.

The total all-India proved, indicated and inferred reserves of all types of coal stand at 81,000 million tonnes with seams of 1·2 metres and above in thickness down to a depth of 600 metres from the surface. The reserve of coking coal is placed at 20,155 million tonnes.

The output of coal in million tonnes: 1969 (75.4); 1970 (73.7); 1971 (71.8); 1972 (75.6); 1973 (77.0).

The value of production of coal during 1973 was Rs. 2,831 million.

The output of lignite in million tonnes: 1969 (4.2); 1970 (3.5); 1971 (3.7); 1972 (3.1); 1973 (3.3).

The value of production of lignite during 1973 was Rs. 115 million. There was a sharp decrease in the export of coke during 1972 which totalled 17,782 tonnes valued at Rs. 2·3 million relative to 12,615 tonnes valued at Rs. 2·6 million in 1972.

The "Integrated Neyveli Lignite-Project" at Neyveli, S. Arcot district of Tamil Nadu, is planned to increase the mine output to 6/6·3 million tonnes per annum. During 1973, 3·3 million tonnes of lignite was mined in Neyveli.

Lignite also occurs at Palana and Khari in Bikaner district, Rajasthan; Nichahom in Jammu & Kashmir; Kutch and Bharuch districts in Gujarat.

METALLIC MINERALS (FERROUS GROUP)

Chromite: is an important strategic mineral of which India has moderate supplies.

The chief deposits of chromite ore are in Cuttack and Keonjhar districts of Orissa; Bhandara and Ratnagiri districts of Maharashtra, Singhbhum districts of Bihar, Mysore and Hassan Districts of Karnataka; Krishna district of Andhra Pradesh and Salem district of Tamil Nadu.

Production and exports respectively in '000 tonnes of chromite: 1969 (227, 112); 1970 (274,153); 1971 (273, 130); 1972 (295, 110); 1973 (287, 234).

Production of ferro-chrome during 1973 was 6,718 tonnes as against 1,525 tonnes in 1972.

Iron ore: The production of iron ore during 1973 totalled 35·4 million tonnes (including Goa) as against 35·5 million tonnes in the previous year.

* Exclude the value of atomic minerals and minor minerals.

India is one among the few countries endowed with large reserves of good quality iron ores which can meet the growing demands of the indigenous iron and steel industry and also sustain considerable export trade.

The production from Goa during 1973 was 12·1 million tonnes as against 11·5 million tonnes during 1972. During the same year Madhya Pradesh produced 8·1 million tonnes, Orissa 5·9 million tonnes and Bihar 4·7 million tonnes.

Production of iron ore (including Goa) in thousand tonnes and value in thousand rupees respectively: 1970 (31,366 ; 369,118) ; 1971 (34,310 ; 400,641) ; 1972 (35,475 ; 422,088) ; 1973 (35,401 ; 444,781).

Among the minerals exported, iron ore is the largest foreign exchange earner contributing 46.5 per cent of the total value of mineral export during 1973. Japan continued to be the leading buyer of Indian iron ore accounting for 80·7 per cent of the total exports in 1973.

Export trade of iron ore in thousand tonnes and value in thousand rupees respectively are : 1970 (21,205 ; 1,186,210) ; 1971 (19,355 ; 1,027,931) ; 1972 (21,864; 1,131,047) ; 1973 (21,285 ; 1,189,011).

Manganese ore : Extensive deposits of manganese occur in Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Orissa, Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Bihar and Rajasthan.

The total reserves of manganese ore in the country according to the latest estimates made, are placed at about 108 million tonnes including Goa. It is estimated that the deposits in the main belt of Nagpur and Bhandara in Maharashtra and Balaghat in Madhya Pradesh alone contain reserves of the order of 42 million tonnes. A major part of the output is exported at present.

Yearly output and exports respectively of manganese ore in thousand tonnes : 1970 (1,702 ; 1,614) ; 1971 (1,814 ; 1,243) ; 1972 (1,643 ; 861) ; 1973 (1,461 ; 692).

There is only one ferro-manganese plant under public sector at Bhadravati in Karnataka State, and six in the private sector, two each in Maharashtra and Orissa and one each in Andhra Pradesh and Karnataka.

During 1973, the total production of ferro-manganese was 140,096 tonnes as against 160,020 tonnes in 1972. The export of ferro-manganese during 1973 was 46,430 tonnes, valued at Rs. 44·1 million as against 51,783 tonnes valued at Rs. 46.9 million in the previous year.

NON-FERROUS GROUP

Bauxite: India is self-sufficient in respect of bauxite which is the chief raw material for aluminium metal. A sizeable quantity also finds outlet in export markets after meeting the indigenous requirements. The all India reserves of bauxite of all grades are placed at 227 million tonnes.

The important deposits of bauxite occur in Palamau and Ranchi districts of Bihar ; Surguja, Shahadol districts of Madhya Pradesh ; Salem, Madurai and Nilgiris districts of Tamil Nadu ; Kolhapur, Ratnagiri and Kolaba districts of Maharashtra ; Jamnagar, Kutch and Surat districts of Gujarat ; Kalahandi and Sambalpur districts of Orissa and Poonch, Riasi and Udhampur districts of Jammu & Kashmir.

Yearly production and export of bauxite in thousand tonnes are : 1970 (1,374 ; 135) ; 1971 (1,517 ; 54) ; 1972 (1,684 ; 28) ; 1973 (1,285 ; 28).

Six private sector aluminium smelters with an installed capacity of 178,800 tonnes per annum are located at Hirakud (Orissa) ; Alwaye (Kerala); Belgaum (Karnataka), Renukoot (U.P.) ; Mettur (Tamil Nadu) and Jayakanagar (West Bengal). Setting up of two units, under public sector one each at Ratnagiri, Maharashtra (50,000 tonnes capacity) and Korba, Madhya Pradesh (100,000 tonnes capacity) are under progress.

Copper : In India at present Indian Copper Corporation Ltd. is the sole producer of copper ore and metal at Ghatsila, Bihar which was taken over by the Government in 1972 and handed over to Hindustan Copper Ltd.

Extensive investigations are being carried out in Singhbhum copper belt of Bihar ; Khetri belt and Bhagoni area of Rajasthan ; Malajkhand of Madhya Pradesh, etc.

The integrated mine and plant at Khetri under the "Khetri Copper Complex" which is under construction will have a capacity of 31,000 tonnes of electrolytic copper metal annually. Besides 600 tonnes of sulphuric acid will be produced as a by-product which will be utilised for the production of about 200,000 tonnes of triple super phosphate per annum.

The production of refined copper was 10,740 tonnes in 1973 and 10,467 tonnes in 1972. This meets about 14 per cent of the copper requirements of the country.

Copper import in tonnes and value in '000 rupees respectively : 1970 (50,970 ; 624,391) ; 1971 (59,047 ; 549,998); 1972 (53,612 ; 478,962 ; 1973 (55,173 ; 635,073).

The trial production at Khetri and Kolihan mines has already commenced.

Lead & zinc : Investigation for lead-zinc were being carried out in Zawar belt of Udaipur district, Ambamata belt in Gujarat and Lokdega-Sargipalli of Orissa.

Zawar is the only area producing lead and zinc ores. During 1973, 7,671 tonnes of lead concentrates and 23,913 tonnes of zinc concentrates were produced from Zawar mines in Udaipur district, Rajasthan.

There are at present two zinc smelters, one at Debari in Rajasthan and the other at Alwaye, Kerala. The zinc smelter at Debari made further progress during the year expanding its capacity from 18,000 to 36,000 tonnes per annum of zinc metal and 20,000 tonnes of sulphuric acid (to be converted in turn into 76,200 tonnes single super phosphate later on) and 78 tonnes of cadmium metal.

Another firm viz. Cominco Binani Ltd. at Alwaye, Kerala based on imported concentrates, has annual installed capacity of 20,000 tonnes of zinc metal, 48,000 tonnes of sulphuric acid, and 36 tonnes of cadmium metal.

During 1972, the production of zinc metal and cadmium metal was 12,506 tonnes and 33 tonnes respectively.

The production of refined lead during 1973, was 2,636 tonnes as against 2,740 tonnes in 1972 from the Tundoo smelter, Bihar. The present installed capacity of the plant is 3,600 tonnes per annum.

NON-METALLIC MINERALS

Apatite and rock phosphate : These constitute the principal raw material for production of commercial phosphatic fertilisers. Requirements of rock phosphate were entirely met by imports till 1968. In view of their short supply, intensive exploratory programme for the search of phosphate minerals were launched upon by the Govt. and as a result several workable deposits of phosphorites were discovered in Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh and Himachal Pradesh. Already production of phosphorite has commenced at Jhamar-Kotra and Maton in Udaipur district of Rajasthan and Maldeota in Dehra Dun district of Uttar pradesh. The production of phosphorite totalled 135,532 tonnes during 1973.

Yearly import of phosphate 1970 : 667,657 tonnes ; 1971 : 813,261 tonnes ; 1972 : 809,476 tonnes ; 1973 : 874,746 tonnes.

Asbestos : Naturally occurring fibrous minerals are called 'asbestos'. The commercial varieties fall into two groups viz. the serpentine group found extensively in the serpentine rocks and is commonly called chrysotile variety and the other amphibole group comprised tremolite, actinolite, anthophyllite, crocidolite and amosite varieties. The chrysotile variety is the most important one from the industrial point of view and is mainly limited to Pulivendla taluk of Cuddapah district of Andhra Pradesh and Singhbhum district of Bihar.

The bulk of the asbestos requirements of the country is met by imports. The trend in the production and imports of asbestos for the last four years is shown in the table below:

(In tonnes)

Year	Output	Imports
1971	11,139	45,715
1973	11,838	43,643

In all there were 9 asbestos cement manufacturing units in 1973 with a total licenced capacity of 561,000 tonnes per annum, against which the production was 412,989 tonnes.

Gypsum : Deposits are mainly found in Jodhpur, Bikaner, Nagaur and Jaisalmer districts of Rajasthan ; Tiruchirapalli and Coimbatore districts of Tamil Nadu and Doda and Baramulla districts of Jammu & Kashmir.

The total reserves are placed at 1,216 million tonnes, Rajasthan accounts for more than 90 per cent of the Indian reserves.

Smaller deposits also occur in Jamnagar, Bhavnagar-Junagadh and Kutch districts of Gujarat ; Nellore district of Andhra Pradesh ; Tehri Garhwal district of Uttar Pradesh and Sirmur district of Himachal Pradesh

Production of gypsum in thousand tonnes 1970 : 926 ; 1971 : 1,088 ; 1972 : 1,015 ; 1973 : 881.

Kyanite and sillimanite : are the important refractory minerals having the same composition (Al_2O_3 : SiO_2). India has the richest deposits of kyanite and sillimanite in the world. Kyanite deposits are located at Lapsaburu, Kharswan in Singhbhum district, Bihar and sillimanite deposits at Sonapahar in Khasi Hills, Meghalaya. The Indian sillimanite can be used as a refractory without calcination since it shows very little expansion. India occupies an important position both as a producer and an exporter of kyanite and sillimanite.

The trend of their output and exports for the last four years are shown in the following table :

Year	Kyanite		Sillimanite
	Output	Export	Output	Export
1970 ..	120,923	69,331	4,565	1,739
1971 ..	63,482	42,821	4,326	1,628
1972 ..	67,897	28,983	4,046	714
1973 ..	53,941	25,091	3,086	1,003

Limestone : is one of the most important industrial minerals required in the manufacture of cement, iron and steel, ferro-alloys, chemicals (for soda ash, caustic soda, bleaching powder, calcium carbide etc.) fertiliser (calcium ammonium nitrate) and lime.

From the present knowledge of reserves of various limestone deposits, it is apparent that sufficient resources of flux and cement grade limestone are available.

The production of limestone in thousand tonnes and value in thousand rupees respectively : 1970 : (23,843 ; 230,548) ; 1971 : (25,079 ; 245,985) ; 1972 : (25,946 ; 276,982) ; 1970 : (24,259 ; 252,547).

Magnesite : Large deposits of magnesite used in the manufacture of magnesium salt, metallic magnesium and refractory bricks are known to occur in Salem (Tamil Nadu), Hassan, Coorg, and Mysore (Karnataka) ; Almora (U.P.), small deposits are known in Dungarpur (Rajasthan) and Singhbhum (Bihar). The chief producing centres are Salem and Mysore districts.

Major part of the output is used in the manufacture of refractory bricks for steel works and some quantity is exported.

Production and export (in tonnes) respectively : 1970 (354,291 ; 34,155) ; 1971 (295,604 ; 23,642) ; 1972 (250,931 ; 16,080) ; 1973 (193,266 ; 14,397).

Mica : is treated as a strategic mineral and India accounts for a big slice of the world trade in it.

The principal mica deposits are concentrated in Bihar, Rajasthan and Andhra Pradesh. During 1972, Bihar accounted for 49 per cent of the all India output, followed by Andhra Pradesh 38 per cent and Rajasthan with 12 per cent.

There are three mica insulation bricks manufacturing units, one each in Rajasthan, Bihar and Andhra Pradesh, utilizing scrap or mica waste. There is also one major unit manufacturing different types of micanite in Bihar.

The production of crude mica (excluding waste mica) and export of processed mica (unmanufactured) respectively in tonnes are : 1970 : (16,581 ; 23,592) ; 1971 : (15,095 ; 21,582) ; 1972 : 14,114 ; 20,978) ; 1973 : (13,654 ; 20,918).

Sulphur : The mineral pyrites is one source of sulphur. It is found in Amjhore (Bihar) ; Ingaldhal, Kaiga (Karnataka) ; Taradevi (Simla) ; Lashtial (Kashmir) ; Saladipura area (Rajasthan) and Polur (Tamil Nadu) of which Amjhore, Saladipura and Ingaldhal deposits are of economic importance.

The Pyrites and Phosphates and Chemicals Ltd. has been set up to exploit pyrites for production of sulphuric acid and other related products. The company continued implementation of two projects viz. (1) Mining of 0·24 million tonnes of pyrites per annum at Amjhore ; (2) production oriented exploratory mining pyrite project, Saladipura, Rajasthan. The Sindri acid plant of Fertiliser Corporation of India was commissioned in the first quarter of 1970. The country's requirements of sulphur are met from imports.

Yearly imports of sulphur in tonnes are : 1970 : 521,081 ; 1971 : 420,075 ; 1972 : 558,990 ; 1973 : 551,105.

Iodised Salt : The total quantity of iodised salt produced at Sambhar during 1973 was 52,982 tonnes and it was distributed as follows :—

1. Himachal Pradesh 10,657 tonnes ; 2. Chandigarh 1,364 tonnes ; 3. Haryana (Ambala Dist.) 3,379 tonnes ; 4. Punjab (Rupar, Hoshiarpur & Gurdaspur districts) 6,395 tonnes ; 5. Uttar Pradesh (7 districts) 15,955 tonnes ; 6. Bihar (Champaran Dist.) 6,917 tonnes ; Total 52,784 tonnes.

The production of iodised salt at Kharagodha during 1973 was 27,708 tonnes and it was distributed as follows :—

1. Uttar Pradesh (Bijnor & Dehra Dun Dists.) 6,688 tonnes ; 2. Bihar (Champaran Dist.), 6,126 tonnes ; Total 27,215 tonnes.

The production of iodised salt at Calcutta during 1973 was 24,610 tonnes and its distribution was as follows :—

1. Arunachal Pradesh 1,013 tonnes ; 2. Manipur 3,960 tonnes , 3. Nagaland 2,160 tonnes ; West Bengal (Darjeeling, Jalpaiguri, Coochbehar, Maldah and West Dinajpur Dists.) 17,380 tonnes ; Total 24,512 tonnes

The following quantities of bye-products were recovered during 1973 (in tonnes) :

Gypsum 138,082 ; Magnesium Chloride 6,841 ; Magnesium Sulphate 101 ; Magnesium Carbonate 20 ; Calcium Chloride 630 ; Liquid Bromine 396 ; Anhydrous Calcium Chloride 76 ; Potassium Bromide 61 ; Sodium Bromide 152 ; Ammonium Bromide 4 ; Sodium Sulphate 4,521 ; Burkeite 300.

Total production of salt in the country during 1973 was 6,860,200 tonnes.

(Source : Salt Commissioner, P. Box 139, Jaipur).

Rare Minerals : Investigations carried out by the Department of Atomic Energy have revealed a number of radioactive mineral deposits in India.

The beach sands of Kerala and Tamil Nadu contain a useful radioactive mineral — monazite, which contains thoria, uranium oxide, phosphate and a large percentage of rare earth oxides. Thorium can be converted into an important atomic fuel of the future. The total reserves of rare earth oxides in the beach sands have been estimated at approximately one million tonnes.

Ilmenite is also recovered from the beach sands of Kerala State and the Mahavalakurichi area in Tamil Nadu. It is now mainly exported to Japan. The present estimated resources of ilmenite in the country are placed at 100 to 150 million tonnes. The production of ilmenite during the financial year 1971-72 was 157,409 tonnes.

India's present overall indicated and inferred reserves of uranium are estimated at about 76,000 tonnes, and of thorium at 500,000 tonnes.

Uranium bearing ores have been discovered in the Singhbhum Thrust Belt of Bihar, and in the Himalayan regions of Himachal Pradesh and Uttar Pradesh. The uranium mine at Jaduguda in the Singhbhum district, worked by the Uranium Corporation of India Ltd., a Govt. of India undertaking, treats about 1,000 tonnes of ore per day in the uranium mill.

It has been estimated that the resources of uranium in India can support about 5 to 10 million KWs of electricity generating capacity.

FOOD AND AGRICULTURE

FOOD

SURPLUS areas: Madhya Pradesh, Punjab, Haryana, Orissa, Andhra Pradesh. Self Sufficient Areas: Uttar Pradesh, Rajasthan, Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Assam. Deficit Areas: Maharashtra, Gujarat, Himachal Pradesh, Bihar, West Bengal, Kerala, Kashmir, Tripura, Nagaland and Arunachal Pradesh, Manipur and Meghalaya are marginal. Punjab, Haryana and Madhya Pradesh are generally surplus in wheat while Orissa, Madhya Pradesh, Andhra Pradesh and Haryana are surplus in rice.

PRODUCTION: Foodgrains production in 1973-74 was estimated at 103·6 million tonnes. This is about 6·6 million tonnes more than the previous year and represents an increase of 6·8 per cent in production. Production of pulses fell by about 0·2 million tonnes in 1973-74.

Ration Shops : At the end of 1973, the number of fair price and ration shops in the country stood at 207,000 as against 165,000 the previous year. The total population covered under statutory rationing was about 17·1 million.

Statutory Rationing continued to be in force in Calcutta and Asansol-Durgapur group of towns in West Bengal.

Procurement : Procurement of rice (including paddy) in 1972-73 marketing season amounted to 2·706 million tonnes while the total procurement of coarse grains (maize and millets) during 1972-73 was 0·311 million tonnes as compared to 0·181 million tonnes in the previous season. The total procurement of these during 1973-74 marketing season (out of 1972-73 crop) amounted to 4·531 million tonnes while in 1972-73 it was 5·006 million tonnes.

Wheat Policy for 1974-75 marketing season : In the context of the difficult food situation and the psychology of shortage prevailing in the country, the policy of takeover of wholesale trade was reviewed and a new wheat policy for the 1974-75 marketing season was adopted from 22nd March, 1974. According to the policy, it has been decided to continue the procurement of wheat by the public agencies in all the States and, in addition, to allow wholesalers, both private and co-operative societies, to operate under a system of licensing and control. The existing single State zones will be continued. There will be no restrictions on the movement of wheat within the State on trade account.

In the surplus States of Punjab, Haryana, Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh and Rajasthan, 50 per cent levy will be imposed on the foodgrains' traders including such co-operative societies on the daily purchases in the Mandis/purchase centres, to be given to Government at a fixed price of Rs. 105 per quintal. After the levy obligation has been discharged, the traders including such co-operative societies will be permitted to sell levy-free wheat within the State or outside the State on the basis of a permit. In the other wheat producing States, the State Government may undertake procurement by a graded levy on producers.

The trade will operate under strict control and regulations, including a ceiling on prices and stringent measures against violations. For successful implementation of this policy, while opportunity has been provided to co-operative societies, non-official committees will also be set up at different levels.

National Seeds Corporation, F.44-A, NDSE Part I, New Delhi-110049—for supply and production of foundation/certified seeds of the high yielding varieties. This Corporation has a large network of about 807 dealers working on commission basis and 76 sale points for distribution of seeds. The total sales amounted to Rs. 65·4 million during 1972-73 as against Rs. 46·5 million during the previous year. During the year 1972-73, Corporation exported seeds worth Rs. 3·96 million as against Rs. 1·82 million during the preceding year. It made a net profit of nearly Rs. 0·44 million for the year ending May, 1973.

It continued to provide training to the personnel engaged in seed production and also to advise the seed processing industry. To push up the sunflower production programme, it undertook seed multiplication in a big way.

The Tarai Seeds Development Corporation, Pantnagar, P.O. Haldi Nainital (U.P.): Set up in June 1969, with loan assistance from the World Bank, has a network of 37 distributors and 1,439 dealers. In kharif 1973, paddy seed production was taken up over an area of 2,023 hectares as against 1,947 hectares in the previous year. In Rabi 1973-74, wheat seed production was taken up over an area of 7,210 hectares as against 5,367 hectares in 1972-73. The total production of wheat seed (including foundation seed) was 25,680 tonnes. The Corporation during the year ending March 1973 made a net profit of Rs. 1·47 million as against a profit of Rs. 1·18 million last year.

Mechanised Farms : During 1972-73, Central State Farms were set up at Khammam (Andhra Pradesh) and Rae Bareilly (U.P.). The cultivated area at these farms amounted to 3,440 hectares, comprising 2,428 hectares at Khammam and 1,012 hectares at Rae Bareilly. A farm was also set up at Bahraich in Uttar Pradesh towards the close of the year. Preparatory work for setting up a farm each in Bihar and Madhya Pradesh was also done.

The State Farm Corporation which manages Central farms, sold 71,000 quintals of improved variety of seeds in 1972-73. It also helped in land development, levelling, reclamation and harvesting for private parties on commercial basis. In its 4th year of working (30th June '73) it earned a net profit of Rs. 6·82 million.

The Food Problem : The per capita consumption in India of all food items in terms of calories compares as follows :

Canada : 3,200 ; USA : 3,300 ; U.K. : 3,170 ; Japan : 2,470 ; India : 1,990.

The consumption of foodgrains and pulses in India has been increasing over the last few years at a rate much faster than production.

The increase in population of about 12 million persons per year in itself will require one million tonnes of additional foodgrains each year. With an increase of the per capita intake of 100 calories per day, India would require an additional 5 million tonnes of foodgrains per year.

For want of adequate cold storage, India loses 25 per cent of the perishable foods produced each year amounting to a financial loss of Rs. 5,000 million.

Buffer Stock : To stabilise the country's food economy, Government proposed to build a buffer stock of 5 million tonnes of food grains during the Fourth Plan period. During 1972 a decision was taken to raise the target to 7 million tonnes. The increased distribution of food grains during 1972 and 1973 coupled with the fall in procurement during 1972-73 led to a considerable depletion of stocks. At the end of 1973, the total stock stood at 2·8 million tonnes as against 3·4 million tonnes at the end of 1972.

Cold Storages : There are about 93,000 cold storages in the country.

Food Corporation : The Food Corporation of India was set up as a statutory body in January, 1965. The Corporation purchased about 8·7 million tonnes of food grains out of the 1973-74 crop comprising 4·5 million tonnes of wheat, 3·8 million tonnes of rice and 0·4 million tonnes of coarse grains.

25 rice mills of 4 tonnes per hour capacity have been set up by the Corporation. A total quantity of 67,298 tonnes of paddy was milled during April — December 1973. The mill at Faridabad with a capacity for processing 10,000 tonnes of maize went into production from Nov. 1973.

The storage capacity owned by Food Corporation of India at the end of Feb. 1974, stood at 5·118 million tonnes. Including capacity hired from C. W. Corporation, S. W. Corporation, State Governments and private parties, the total availability of storage accommodation with the Food Corporation was 7·913 million tonnes. An agreement has been signed with the World Bank for financing the construction of 10 silo complexes, each with a capacity of 20,000 tonnes and 10 conventional godowns with a capacity of 10,000 tonnes. The silos are to be located in Punjab, Rajasthan and Uttar Pradesh. The conventional godowns also are to be located in these States and in Haryana. Detailed surveys of most of the silo sites have been completed by F.C.I.

Subsidiary Foods : The Food and Nutrition Board further intensified its activities for the promotion of high protein foods, such as, edible groundnut flour, cottonseed flour, soyabean products, vegetable protein and toned milk. Three new solvent extraction units were licensed for the production of edible groundnut flour and the total number of such units during 1973 was 42. Efforts were also continued for the development of soyabean products at the U.P. Agricultural University, Pantnagar. Available indigenous equipment for processing plant has been installed. At this unit, the University has been experimenting with new products based on soyabeans such as soya milk, soya extruded meal, soya grits and soya dal. A number of nutritious food formulations have been developed and evaluation of the products is in progress. A unit with production capacity of 125 tonnes per day is being set up at Faridabad with the assistance of UNICEF and in collaboration with the Food Corporation of India.

Balahar : During 1973-74 about 23,000 tonnes of Balahar were produced for free distribution to the school children under the mid-day meal programme.

Fortified Atta : During 1973, about 4,400 tonnes of fortified atta were produced for providing nutrition to the less privileged segments of the urban and rural population at Calcutta

Weaning Food : Bal Amul, a pre-cooked weaning food, has been successfully tried in the markets of Western and Southern India. During 1973-74, upto Feb. 1974 about 160 tonnes of Bal Amul was produced. Production of miltone, a protein isolate toned milk using groundnut, at the Government Dairy, Bangalore, was about 1 million litres in 1973-74. Two more units, one each in Ernakulam and Hyderabad, are being set up.

Canning Centres : Nineteen community canning and food preservation centres were under operation for popularising fruit and vegetable preservation and imparting training in the techniques of preservation. Twenty-one mobile food and nutrition extension units located in the States of Andhra Pradesh, Assam, Bihar, Gujarat, Haryana, Jammu, Maharashtra, Orissa, Punjab, Rajasthan, Tamil Nadu, Uttar Pradesh and West Bengal continued to promote nutrition education. The units organised 6,000 demonstrations including lectures and film shows during 1973-74.

Modern Bread : During the year 1973-74, about 115 million standard loaves were produced as against 94 million last year.

Package Programme : The package programme is now invigorated through three other programmes :

(a) The IADP—Intensive Agricultural District Programme: During 1972-73, the programme remained operative in practically all the 28,320 villages in the 15 selected districts. The use of fertilizers, improved seeds and pesticides in these areas maintained an upward trend. The programme was also adopted in 13 more districts including 2 districts in Punjab, 3 in Bihar, 1 in Karnataka, and 7 in Madhya Pradesh.

(b) The HYVP — High Yielding Varieties Programme : The programme was launched in 1966-67. It covered 9·20 million hectares in 1968-69, 11·4 million hectares in 1969-70, 15·4 million hectares in1970-71, 18·2 million hectares in 1971-72, 22·5 million hectares in 1972-73 and about 25·0 million hectares in 1973-74.

(c) Multiple Cropping Programme — This programme was started in 1967-68. As against the target of increasing the gross cropped area by 9 million hectares during the Fourth Plan, the achievement in 1969-70 was about 1·66 million hectares, in 1970-71 about 1·79 million hectares, in 1971-72 about 1·74 million hectares, in 1972-73 about 2·00 million hectares and about 1·7 million hectares in 1973-74.

Training Centres : The four Institutes of Catering Technology and Applied Nutrition at New Delhi, Bombay, Calcutta and Madras trained 1,600 students during 1973. The five Food-crafts Institutes at Kalamassery, Panaji, Bangalore, Nagpur and Lucknow trained 550 students in various courses such as cookery, bakery, confectionery, hotel reception, canning and fruit & vegetable preservation. In addition, three more institutes, one each at Hyderabad, Ahmedabad and Bhubaneswar commenced training during 1973 and arrangements have been finalised to commence training at the institute at Chandigarh.

Fifth Plan : During 1974-75 (the first year of the Fifth Plan) it is proposed to achieve a production target of 118 million tonnes of food grains through the extension of area under high-yielding varieties, coverage of larger area under irrigation, intensification of plant protection measures, use of larger quantities of pesticides, strengthening of research, etc. It is also hoped that the agricultural targets of 14 million tonnes in sugarcane production, about 10 million tonnes of oil-seeds and 6·8 million bales of cotton production fixed for the first year of the Fifth Plan will be achieved. In view of the rising population and income levels higher targets are envisaged for the Fifth Plan.

Food Situation in 1973-74 : Production of foodgrains which had suffered a heavy setback of about 11 million tonnes in 1972-73 over 1970-71, registered an increase of 6·6 million tonnes during 1973-74. Production of foodgrains during 1973-74 amounted to 103·6 million tonnes as against 97·0 million tonnes last year. While production of cereals went up by 6·8 million tonnes, that of pulses declined by 0·2 million tonnes.

The recovery in total foodgrains production, however, had very little impact on foodgrain prices which continued to rise almost throughout the country. To check the rise in prices public distribution of foodgrains was considerably stepped up. Total offtake from the public distribution system which rose from 7·8 million tonnes in 1971 to 10·5 million tonnes in 1972 was further raised to 11·4 million tonnes in 1973. However, because of the increased market availability of coarse grains and wheat resulting from the relaxation of restriction on their movements, the quantity of foodgrains issued through the public distribution system at 6·9 m. tonnes in 1974 (Jan–August) was lower than the quantity of 7·9 m. tonnes released during the corresponding period of 1973.

To augment the internal supply, arrangement were also made to import foodgrains from abroad. During Jan–Sept., 1974, about 3·3 million tonnes of foodgrains were imported.

Agriculture offered employment to over 126 million people in 1971 against 131 million in 1961.

Some major facts about Indian agriculture (1971-72): Total geographical area according to Surveyor-General of India : 328·0 million hectares ; total reporting area : 306·0 million hectares ; area not available for cultivation including forests, 111·5 million hectares, land for non-agricultural uses and barren lands, 16·4 and 29·3 million hectares respectively ; other uncultivable lands like permanent pastures and grazing lands, land under tree crops and cultivable wastes 33·4 million hectares ; fallow land : 8·7 million hectares ; Current fallows : 12·6 million hectares ; net area sown : 139·4 million hectares ; area sown more than once : 24·6 million hectares ; gross area sown : 164·0 million hectares ; net area irrigated : 31·6 million hectares and gross area irrigated : 38·6 million hectares.

AREA AND PRODUCTION : The names of crops, area in million hectares and production in million tonnes respectively during 1973-74 are given below : Rice : 38·011 ; 43·742 ; Wheat : 19,057 ; 22·073 ; Barley : 2·625 ; 2·327 ; Maize : 6·021 ; 5·643 ; Jowar : 16·964 ; 8·992 ; Bajra : 13·646 ; 7·087 ; Ragi : 2·392 ; 2·132 ; Small millets : 4·532 ; 1·864 ; Total cereals : 103·247 ; 93·857 ; Gram : 7·691 ; 4,006 ; Red gram : 2·576 ; 1·364 ; Other pulses : 12·615 ; 4·384 ; Total pulses : 22·882 ; 9·754 ; Total foodgrains : 126·128 ; 103·611 ; Sesamum : 2·358 ; 0·486 ; Groundnut : 6·900 ; 5·798 ; Rape & mustard : 3·428 ; 1·682 ; Linseed : 1·876 ; 0·471 ; Castor-seed : 0·529 ; 0·235 ; Total oilseeds : 15·091 ; 8·682 ; Tobacco : 0·447 ; 0·441 ; Cotton : 7·601 ; 5·819† ; Jute : 0·792 ; 6·176† ; Mesta : 0·371 ; 1·461† ; Sanhemp : 0·140 ; 0·050 (fibre) ; Turmeric : 0·074 ; 0·133 ; Potato : 0·528 ; 4·473 ; Guarseeds : 1·162 ; 0·399 ; Coconut : 1·098 ; 5·924 ; Arecanut : 0·177 ; 0·152 ; Cashewnuts 0·235 ; 0·197 ; Cardamom : 0·076 ; 0·003 ; Sugarcane : 2·722 ; 14·046 (in gur) ; Pepper : 0·122 ; 0·027 ; Ginger : 0·024 ; 0·038 ; Chillies 0·732 ; 0·488 ; Tea : 0·358 ; 0·450 ; Bananas : 0·220 ; 3·190.

Index of Production—All Commodities

Year	INDEX NUMBERS OF PRODUCTION
	Foodgrains	Non-foodgrains	All commodities
1968-69	115·7	113·2	114·8
1970-71	133·9	126·6	131·4
1971-72	132·0	128·9	130·9
1972-73	121·2	119·4	120·6
1973-74	130·3	134·1	131·6

FOODGRAINS (1973-74) : A 6·8 per cent increase in food production was recorded this year over last year's production. This year's production stood at 103·6 million tonnes compared with last year's production of 97·0 million tonnes.

The total cereal production is 93·9 million tonnes, about 6·7 million tonnes more than last year at 87·2 million tonnes. The total pulses produced are 9·8 million tonnes — a decrease of 1·5 per cent.

Rice: Production in the country during 1973-74 was estimated at 43·7 million tonnes showing an increase of 4·5 million tonnes (11·5 per cent) over 1972-73. Bulk of the increase in production has been recorded by Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra, Uttar Pradesh, Orissa, Madhya Pradesh, Gujarat, Karnataka, Punjab and Tripura and is due to favourable weather conditions and the intensive kharif production programme. This increase has been offset to some extent by the decreases reported by Bihar and Assam. West Bengal continued to be the largest producer of rice with an output of 5·800 million tonnes followed by Tamil Nadu with 5·595 million tonnes.

Wheat: The area under wheat was 19·1 million hectares and production 22·1 million tonnes. The decline in production during 1973-74 is accounted for mainly by Uttar Pradesh and Bihar and, to a lesser extent, by Haryana, Assam and Punjab due to failure of winter rains in several rabi growing areas and overall shortage of fertilisers. Wheat is grown widely as a winter crop, in Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Haryana and Punjab supplying over 70 per cent of the total outturn in this country. This crop occupies on an average about 11·4 per cent of the total cultivated area. More than 50 per cent of the crop is irrigated.

Jowar: About 16·964 million hectares yield about 8·992 million tonnes of grain. Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka and Madhya Pradesh contribute over three-fourth of the total output. The jowar area and production respectively during 1973-74 were 17·0 million hectares and 9·0 million tonnes.

Bajra: Occupies about 14 million hectares to yield about 7 million tonnes of grain. Uttar Pradesh, Rajasthan. Haryana, Gujarat and Maharashtra are the chief growing tracts. The duration of the crop varies from about 2½ to 5 months. During 1973-74 bajra was cultivated in 13·6 million hectares and produced 7·1 million tonnes.

Ragi: Ragi occupies about 2·4 million hectares to produce nearly 2 million tonnes of grain. More than half the area is in Karnataka, Tamil Nadu and Andhra Pradesh. The area and yield during 1973-74 were 2·39 million hectares and 2·1 million tonnes respectively.

Other millets: Small millets form about one-tenth of the total area under millets and are grown in over 4 million hectares and yield about 2 million tonnes of grain. The area and yield during 1973-74 were 4·53 million hectares and 1·864 million tonnes respectively.

Maize: Maize is cultivated in India in about 6·021 million hectares to produce about 5·643 million tonnes of grain The major growing areas, Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Rajasthan, Punjab and Madhya Pradesh among themselves account for about three-fourth of the maize area. The area and production during 1973-74 were 6·02 million hectares and 5·64 million tonnes respectively.

Barley: During 1973-74, barley was cultivated in an area of 2·625 million hectares and the production estimate was 2·327 million tonnes.

Pulses: Pulses are grown in over 22 million hectares producing about 9·8 million tonnes of grains.

Cotton: The area under cotton during 1973-74 was 7·6 million hectares producing 5·8 million bales of 180 kg. each of cotton lint or 3·1 million tonnes of kapas. Production of cotton during 1973-74 moved up partly due to increase in area and partly due to increase in average yield on account of large scale introduction of high yielding varieties in some areas.

Jute: The area under jute during 1973-74 was 7·92 million hectares yielding 6·2 million bales of 180 kg each.

Oilseeds: The present production of 5 major oilseeds viz., groundnut, sesamum, rapeseed and mustard, linseed and castorseed is 8·683 million tonnes as against 6·858 million tonnes a year ago. The production of groundnut is sought to be increased through use of better quality seed, fertilisers, adoption of plant protection measures, increasing the area under irrigated groundnut and promoting better cultural practices. Other measures being taken to increase oilseeds production include organisation of mass plant protection on rapeseed and mustard for the control of widespread pest ' aphids", extending the area under early maturing high yielding varieties of castor, acquainting the farmers with proper techniques for getting good results from the cultivation of rapeseed, mustard, castor nigar, soyabean and sunflower. Measures have been taken to increase the collection of salseeds in Madhya Pradesh, Bihar and Orissa and increase the crushing of cottonseed oil and rice bran oil through appropriate fiscal incentves. The centrally sponsored scheme for sunflower development, which was started in 1972-73 in the three States of Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka and Tamil Nadu, has now been extended to Gujarat and Maharashtra also (more details in Chapter on Oilseeds and Vanaspati).

The High Yielding Varieties Programme: It was envisaged that 25 million hectares would be brought under high yielding varieties of cereals by 1973-74. The achievement is expected to be substantially higher than the target in the case of wheat which was 11 million hectares. Before introducing high yielding varieties in 1964-65, the production of wheat was 12·3 million tonnes. In 1973-74, production rose to 22·1 million tonnes. Widespread rust diseases were observed in the wheat growing areas of Punjab, Haryana and western U.P. in 1972-73. Measures were taken during 1973-74 to limit the cultivation of Kalyan Sona which was found to be more susceptible to rust and to extend the cultivation of safer varieties like Sonalika.

In case of rice, the impact of high yielding varieties on production is not proportionate to area covered mainly because the kharif season is subject to drought in some areas and flooding in others. Under the Mini-kit programme for rice cultivation, 2 kgs. of seeds of two varieties are supplied free of cost to farmers and trials are laid out alongside existing varieties. The results of these trials are expected to help farmers make a proper choice of varieties suitable for agro-climatic conditions.

The high yielding programme for Hybrid-bajra has been successful. Of late, Ergot and Downy Mildew diseases have, however, posed problems, particularly in the case of HB-2 and HB-4 varieties. Hybrid jowar and maize are found to be more susceptible to pests and diseases and less liked by consumers. In the case of pulses, certain short duration varieties viz. Pusa Baisakhi in Moong and Ageti, Sharda and Mukka in Arhar have been evolved and are being cultivated in multiple cropping blocks. An additional 300,000 hectares would be covered under these varieties during 1973-74.

Fruit: The total area under fruit production is at present 1·80 million hectares and the production is estimated at 9·2 million tonnes. Centrally sponsored schemes for development of banana and walnuts are in operation in a number of States.

A Banana and Fruit Development Corporation, (3, Wheat Croft Road, Madras 600034), has been organised and the coverage under the banana package programme is likely to reach 6,000 hectares by 1973-74. The programme is being implemented in Andhra Pradesh, Gujarat, Kerala, Karnataka, Maharashtra, Orissa, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal and Goa. The present production of banana is about 3·19 million tonnes. A scheme for the development of walnut production for export is being implemented in Jammu & Kashmir, Himachal Pradesh and Uttar Pradesh and by 1973-74 about 4,000 hectares are proposed to be covered under the scheme. Additional schemes for the development of mango, pineapple, citrus and apple have been formulated and are receiving attention from the Government.

Exports of canned fruits during 1973-74 amounted to Rs. 18·72 million and that of pickles and chutnis to Rs. 11·51 million. During 1973, 163 new licences were granted including 19 for relevelling. Fruits and vegetable products amounting to about 50,000 tonnes are now manufactured in the country.

Regulated Markets: An immediate benefit has been the reduction in market charges between 28 to 50 per cent. So far 17 States and 3 Union Territories have established regulated markets. The number of regulated markets in the country is 2,384. Another 670 assembling markets are to be regulated during the 5th Plan period out of 800 still to be regulated. The Central Govt. has sanctioned a scheme with an outlay of Rs. 20 million for providing financial assistance for development of infra structure facilities in the selected market committee located in the economically underdeveloped areas in the States of Bihar, West Bengal, Orissa, Uttar Pradesh, Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh. By the end of 1973-74 an outlay of Rs. 3 million is expected to be spent. This activity will be continued during the 5th Plan period with an outlay of Rs. 125 million. For 1974-75 an outlay of Rs. 8 million has been provided for this purpose. The number of grading units at the producer's level increased from 460 in October 1972 to 541 in March 1973. The total value of commodities graded for exports amounted to Rs. 1,334 million in 1972-73 and Rs. 857 million during the first half of 1973-74.

Marketing and Processing: The main features of the programme are (1) linking of credit with marketing in the form of marketing societies, (2) developing, processing and distribution of farming requisites on co-operative lines, (3) promotion of storage and warehousing, (4) consolidation and strengthening of consumer cooperatives at all levels; and (5) development of cooperatives for small, marginal farmers and agricultural labourers as also for tribal areas.

Exports: Exports of major agricultural commodities during 1972-73 were of the order of Rs. 4,201 million as against Rs. 3,432 million during 1971-72 showing an increase of over 22·4 per cent. This increase was mainly contributed by castor oil, groundnut extractions, cottonseed cake, unmanufactured tobacco, cashew kernel and fish. Exports during 1973-74 amounted to Rs. 6,684 million — 59·1 per cent higher than last year.

Cold storage: The present capacity of cold storage in the country is about 1·8 million tonnes provided by 1,403 cold storages mostly run by private traders. Three new licences were granted and 1,400 licences were renewed during the year 1973.

Agricultural Education: (See Chapter on Education.)

Soil Conservation: Under the Fourth Plan (1969-74), it was envisaged that an area of 5·39 million hectares of agricultural lands and 0·45 million hectares of non-agricultural lands would be benefited by soil conservation measures. It is estimated that the achievement might be around 6·4 million hectares with an estimated outlay of Rs. 1,580 million.

Centrally sponsored soil conservation schemes are in operation in the catchments of 21 major river valley projects over 14 States to reduce the premature silting of reservoirs. During Fourth Plan period, about 0·48 million hectares had been treated under this scheme at a cost of Rs. 220 million.

Till March, 1973 about 4,000 hectares had been covered for reclamation of ravine lands in Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan and Gujarat and another 2,600 hectares are expected to be covered during 1973-74.

The All-India Soil and Land Use Survey Organisation, Pusa Road, New Delhi-110012, is carrying out standard soil surveys in the catchments of 21 river valley projects. Under this scheme, 1·5 million hectares had been treated during the first four years of the Fourth Plan period and another 1·0 million hectares are likely to be covered during 1973-74.

Research Centres: Eight Soil Conservation Research-cum-Training Centres under the jurisdiction of ICAR have been established at the following places:

(1) Ootacamund (Tamil Nadu) for erosion control in the Nilgiri and other hills; (2) Bellary (Karnataka) for soil conservation studies in black soils; (3) Kota (Rajasthan) for erosion control in Chambal & Jamuna ravines; (4) Dehra Dun (U.P.) for studying erosion problem in North-Western Himalayan Region, specially for water-shed management, rational land use, silt reduction in stream flow, afforestation on denuded sites, hill torrent and land slide control; (5) Valsad (in the Gujarat tract) for erosion control in the ravines along rivers in Gujarat; (6) Chandigarh for studying erosion problems in Ambala Sivaliks, specially for rational land use, afforestation in eroded sites, water-shed management, silt reduction in stream flow, hill torrent control etc.; (7) Agra (Yamuna ravines); and (8) Ibrahimpatnam (Andhra) for tackling red soil problems.

In view of the seriousness of the problems of soil erosion, the soil conservation research-cum-training centres are proposed to be reorganised and strengthened in the Central Research Institutes set up during the 5th Plan for further intensification of research and training.

Plant Protection: The plant protection programme included seed treatment, prophylactic spraying, weed control, rat control, control of epidemics, etc. During 1973-74, the gross area benefited is estimated at 63 million hectares as against 52 million hectares in the previous year. During 1973-74, the area covered by aerial spraying was about 0·62 million hectares.

To overcome the shortage of aircrafts, which has been limiting aerial spraying operations, arrangements have been made for the import of fixed wing aircraft and helicopters under a Credit Agreement with the International Development Association. In addition, private operators have been permitted to acquire 9 fixed wing aircrafts from Yugoslavia under the Trade Plan against rupee payment. Under Centrally sponsored schemes, 0·78 million hectares of endemic areas were treated by plant protection measures in 1973-74 as against 0·5 million hectares last year.

Agricultural Machinery: An estimated 200,000 tractors were in use at the end of 1973. Indigenous production of tractors was 18,100 in 1971-72; 20,802 in 1972-73 and 24,399 in 1973-74.

Seventeen units have been licensed with a total capacity of 167,000 tractors per annum. At present, only 8 units are in production.

During the period 1969 to 1973, about 46,997 tractors were imported. During 1973-74, no combine harvestor was imported.

Agricultural Credit: Short and medium term loans advanced to cultivators during 1973-74 are estimated to have reached Rs. 7,500 million compared with Rs. 6,090 million in 1972-73.

Fertilisers: (See Chapter on Fertiliser Industry.)

Small Farmers and Agricultural Labourers — All the 46 Small Farmers Development Agency Projects are functioning. By Feb. 1974, about 2·6 million small farmers and marginal farmers had been identified, of whom 1·35 million were brought under the Co-operative fold. The SFDA helped in arranging institutional credit amounting to a sum of Rs. 150 million for short term loan during 1974 and about Rs. 440 million as medium and long term loans through co-operatives and commercial banks. About 0·14 million minor irrigation works, 38·8 thousand units of milch cattle and a number of poultry and other schemes have been implemented under the programme.

In the 41 marginal farmer project and agricultural labour project, about 0·91 million marginal farmer and 0·27 million agricultural labourers were identified and of these 0·46 million were enrolled as members of cooperatives. The MFAL agencies arranged institutional credit amounting to about Rs. 20 million of short term loans during the year and about Rs. 110 million as medium and long term loans through the cooperatives and commercial banks since inception. About 19 thousand minor irrigation works, 29 thousand units of milch cattle and 16 thousand units of poultry etc. have been established in these projects.

Land Reclamation and Development — Work to reclaim and develop an area of 0·60 million hectares with financial assistance of Rs. 871 million from the Agricultural Refinance Corporation was in progress.

Minor Irrigation — Development of minor irrigation aided by public as well as institutional financing has made substantial progress during 1973-74. About 2·43 million electrical pumpsets, 0·82 million private tubewells, 0·02 million State tubewells and 6·50 million dug-wells were installed. In the Fourth Plan a gross area of about 8·2 million hectares is likely to be benefited through minor irrigation was against 7·2 million fixed for the Plan period. This includes additional facilities serving about 0·75 million hectares created under the Emergency Agricultural Production Programme implemented during 1972-73. The Central Ground Water Board (Jamnagar House, New Delhi-110011) is fully responsible for ground water exploration in the country for agricultural purposes. Under the exploratory programme of the Central Ground Water Board in different States through regular divisions as well as projects, 71 exploratory tubewells, 96 observation tubewells, 15 slim holes and 55 production tube wells had been completed by the end of Dec., 1973. (See also Chapter on Irrigation & Power projects.)

Ceiling on Holdings: — Concerted attempts at evolving a national policy for ceiling on land began in 1969 and following the recommendations of the Central Land Reforms Committee in July 1972, the Chief Ministers of all the States suggested a national policy which has since been given a concrete shape by the Government of India. Keeping in view the varied agro-economic and climatic conditions prevalent in the country, it has been decided to keep the holding of a family between 4·05 and 7·28 hectares of land with assured irrigation capable of yielding two crops in a year; a ceiling of 10·93 hectares for land with facilities of irrigation capable of yielding one crop a year; and a ceiling of 21·85 hectares for all other categories of land. A family unit for the ceiling consists of husband, wife and three minor children. Additional land can be retained by large families subject to a maximum of twice the ceiling. Only the plantations of tea, coffee, cocoa and cardamom have been allowed exemptions from the ceiling. By now all States have passed legislations revising the ceiling laws and the revised level of ceiling in these States are: Andhra Pradesh 4·05 — 10·93 hectares of wet land, 14·16 — 21·85 hectares of dry land; Assam 50 bighas plus actual area of the orchard subject to a maximum of 15 bighas; Bihar 6·07 — 7·28 hectares of irrigated land, 12·14 — 18·21 hectares of other land; Haryana 7·25 — 10·92 hectares of irrigated land, 21·80 hectares of other land; Himachal Pradesh 4·05 — 6·07 hectares of irrigated land and 12·14 hectares of other land; Jammu & Kashmir 3·69 — 6·80 hectares of irrigated land, 5·83 — 8·98 hectares of unirrigated land and 7·77 hectares for Ladakh area; Karnataka 4·05 — 21·84 hectares; Kerala 4·05 — 8·10 hectares; Madhya Pradesh 4·05 — 7·28 hectares; Punjab 7 — 11 hectares of irrigated land and 20·5 hectares of unirrigated land; Rajasthan 7·28 — 10·92 hectares of irrigated land; Tamil Nadu 6·07 — 12·14 hectares; Uttar Pradesh 7·30 hectares of irrigated land 10·95 hectares of unirrigated land; West Bengal 5 hectares of irrigated land and 7 hectares of other land.

Size of Holding: The average size of holding for the whole of India is 2·63 hectares, but this varies from State to State. Andhra Pradesh 2·87 hectares; Assam 1·46 hectares; Bihar 1·53 hectares; Gujarat 4·49 hectares; Jammu & Kashmir 1·43 hectares; Kerala 0·75 hectares; Madhya Pradesh 3·99 hectares; Tamil Nadu 1·49 hectares; Maharashtra 4·65 hectares; Karnataka 4·11 hectares; Orissa 1·98 hectares; Punjab 3·85 hectares; Rajasthan 5·5 hectares; Uttar Pradesh 1·78 hectares and West Bengal 1·56 hectares.

Out of total estimated number of 50 million rural households possessing operational holding, 35 per cent hold on the average less than 0·20 hectares of land each.

In India most agricultural holdings are not only small but also selected. Hence emphasis has been laid on the consolidation of holdings in the Five-Year-Plan. No law for effecting consolidation of holding has yet been passed in the Andhra Area of Andhra Pradesh, Kerala and Tamil Nadu. The laws of Gujarat, Madhya Pradesh and West Bengal provide for consolidation on a voluntary basis. The other States have passed the necessary legislation for compulsory consolidation. The progress has been uneven in the different States. The work has been completed in Punjab and Haryana. Uttar Pradesh has made good progress and some headway has been made in Maharashtra and Himachal Pradesh. So far about 34·4 million hectares of land have been consolidated.

State-wise progress in consolidation of holdings in million hectares is as follows: Andhra Pradesh 0·04; Bihar 0·07: Haryana 4·13; Himachal Pradesh 0·36; Gujarat 1·03; Jammu & Kashmir 0·03; Karnataka 0·80; Madhya Pradesh 3·18; Maharashtra 7·58; Punjab 4·74; Rajasthan 1·74; and Uttar Pradesh 10·66.

Co-operative Farming: As on the 30th June, 1973, there were nearly 9,732 co-operative farming societies with a membership of 0·268 million and covering an area of 0·488 million hectares. Of these, the number of joint farming societies was 5,123 with a membership of 0·122 million and covering an area of 0·287 million hectares. The number of collective farming societies was 4,609 with a membership of 0·146 million and covering an area of 0·201 million hectares.

FERTILISER INDUSTRY

IT was only in the Third Plan that the industry received a big boost. An allocation of Rs. 11,500 million has been included in the Fifth Plan to cater to both the continuing schemes, which are under different stages of implementation, and new projects. With the implementation of the schemes, which are either under consideration or which have been approved for implementation, the total capacity developed would be 4,160,000 tonnes of Nitrogen and 1,230,000 tonnes of P_2O_5. Most of the capacity developed in the fertilizer field is based on naphtha but in view of the increasing pressure on naphtha, Government has, as a matter of policy, decided that the plants to be set up hereafter should be based either on coal or fuel oil/heavy petroleum fractions depending on the suitability of the locations, availability of raw materials, demand considerations, etc. In pursuance of this policy, three large sized coal-based plants are under implementation at Talcher, Ramagundam and Korba. Each of these plants would be consuming about 1 million tonnes of coal per annum.

Consumption of fertilisers increased only marginally in 1972–73 and 1973–74 due to acute shortage of fertilisers. Due to power cuts, labour unrest, etc., domestic production in 1973–74 did not register any increase over 1972–73. Large imports have also not been possible due to tight supply situation in the world market, oil/energy crisis (see Chapter on Energy Crisis) and high prices in the international market. Despite this, promotional efforts to create awareness among the farmers about the need for the efficient use of available fertilisers were stepped up by the Government Extension Agencies and the indigenous producers. The number of dealer outlets increased from 81,000 in 1971–72 to 86,000 in 1973–74 with a view to better serve the farmers in the areas.

The ban has been imposed on inter-state movement of fertilizer without prior permission of the Central/State Government to ensure that fertiliser allotted to the State is used therein and not diverted to another State. Statutory control on selling prices of urea, ammonium sulphate, calcium ammonium nitrate and the formal control on ex-factory prices of super-phosphate continued during 1973–74. The prices of straight nitrogenous fertilisers were increased in October, 1973, because of the increase in the prices of Naphtha. Price of super phosphate had to be revised upward substantially due to the sharp rise in the import price and freight hike of the two essential raw-materials — rock and sulphur — needed to manufacture super-phosphate.

Location of the Industry : There are more than 71 fertiliser factories of various sizes in the private and public sectors. Many of these, however, make fertiliser as a subsidiary of their main products.

In the private sector there are 46 public limited concerns manufacturing fertilisers as the main product. 17 of these manufacture nitrogenous fertilisers and 29 phosphatic fertilisers.

The State-wise break-up of the nitrogenous fertiliser manufacturing units is as follows :

There are 2 in Uttar Pradesh; one each in Andhra Pradesh, Assam, Bihar, Gujarat, Maharashtra, Orissa, Rajasthan, West Bengal and 4 in Tamil Nadu.

The State-wise break-up of the phosphatic fertiliser manufacturing units is :

Maharashtra 5, Tamil Nadu 5, Andhra Pradesh 4, Gujarat 4, Karnataka 2, West Bengal 2, Rajasthan 2, Uttar Pradesh 2, and one each in Delhi, Assam and Madhya Pradesh.

Private Sector : A letter of intent hs been issued to Messrs. Shriram Chemicals Ltd., for expansion of their plant at Kota to a capacity of 1,350 tonnes of ammonia per day. Another letter of intent has also been issued to Messrs. Nagarjuna Fertilizers for setting up a fertilizer plant at Kakinada, a grass root site in Andhra Pradesh, with a capacity of 900 tonnes of ammonia per day. Government have also approved a project sponsored by the Maharashtra Co-operative Fertilizer Co. for production of 66,000 tonnes of ammonia near Bombay. A major part of the ammonia produced would be utilized for direct application to the soil instead of being fixed in the form of solid fertilizer. This is the first project of the type that has been sanctioned. Certain other proposals for the development of additional fertilizer capacity either by way of expansion of the existing plants or by setting up new ones are under consideration.

Public sector : Following are the public sector units :—

Fertiliser Corporation of India Ltd., which has 5 units — one each at Namrup (Assam), Sindri (Bihar), Nangal (Punjab), Trombay (Maharashtra) and Gorakhpur (U.P.) (Projects under construction of FCI are Durgapur (West Bengal) and Barauni (Bihar) to commence production in 1974, Talcher (Orissa) and Ramagundam (Andhra Pradesh) in 1975 and Korba (Madhya Pradesh) in 1978.

Fertilisers and Chemicals, Travancore Ltd. (FACT), Udyogmandal (Alwaye) Kerala. The Cochin Fertiliser factory at Ambalamedu set up by FACT and FCI at a cost of Rs. 450 million began production in April 1973. It is implementing a major project in Cochin (Cochin Phase II) with the assistance of the World Bank and this project is expected to be completed in the first quarter of 1975.

Madras Fertilisers Ltd., at Madras (Tamil Nadu) with an annual capacity of 164,000 tonnes of Nitrogen and 85,000 tonnes of phosphates commenced production in Nov. '71. It is a joint venture in which the Govt. of India holds 51 per cent of the equity capital while the remaining 49 per cent is equally shared between Amoco India incorporated of USA and the National Iranian Oil Co. of Iran.

Haldia Fertiliser Factory, Haldia (West Bengal) when completed will have an annual capacity of 165,000 tonnes of Urea, 500,000 tones of Nitro-Phosphates, 60,000 tonnes of soda ash and 41,250 tonnes of methenol. The project is expected to go into production by October '76. In addition, a large scale expansion and modernisation scheme known as the Sindri Modernisation Scheme has been approved. The scheme when completed would increase the nitrogen capacity at Sindri by 129,000 tonnes per annum and would be based on heavy petroleum fractions as feed stock in lieu of coke/coke oven gas being used at present.

Indian Farmers' Fertilisers Co-operative (IFFCO), a nitrogen complex at Kalol, Gujarat was expected to begin production in June, 1974. The IFFCO will produce NPK fertilisers at Kandla and ammonia at another factory in Kalol.

Bihar State Superphosphate Factory, at Dhanbad is the only unit in the State Sector at present. Bihar State Superhphosphate factory, Sindri, has also come up during 1973-74.

Production & capacity : In terms of production and capacity, fertiliser industry, as a whole, has made rapid strides. Indigenous production in this sector meets about 53 per cent of the demand. During the First Plan period, only ammonium sulphate fertilisers were produced. It was during the Second Plan period that the product diversification was introduced in the form of ammonium sulphate nitrate, urea and calcium ammonium nitrate. Even then a sizable portion was accounted for by ammonium sulphate. In the Third Plan and subsequent annual plan periods urea and calcium ammonium nitrate claimed a lion's share of total production.

In the Fourth Plan, a variety of nitrogenous, phosphatic and complex fertilisers were produced. These included urea, ammonium sulphate, calcium ammonium nitrate, ammonium sulphate nitrate, ammonium chloride, single superphosphate, triple super phosphate, ammonia phosphate sulphate, diamonium phosphate and NPK fertilisers.

Nitrogenous Fertilisers: Originally, the entire capacity of nitrogenous fertilisers was confined to the public sector. In 1960-61, private sector came with a small share. Out of the nine units accounting for a production of 98,000 tonnes, 6 were public sector units accounting for about 89,000 tonnes of N and the rest were private sector units. The total number of producing units rose from 9 in 1960-61 to 13 in 1965-66 and 19 in 1969-70. In 1973-74, it rose to 20 with an installed capacity of 811,000 tonnes in terms of nitrogen.

The number of public sector units stood at 11 in 1969-70 accounting for over 58 per cent of the aggregate production. The public sector predominated in both capacity and production till 1965-66. With the removal of controls in 1965, the industry witnessed the entry of private sector in a big way. The growth of private sector units in terms of size and production in nitrogenous fertilisers (in terms of plant nutrient N) in comparison with the growth in public sector is shown below.

	Private Sector			Public Sector			Total
Year	No. of units	Production ('000 tonnes)	Share of Production	No. of units	Production ('000 tonnes)	Share	No. of unit	Production ('000 tonnes)

1973–74 ..	9	527	49·7	14	533	50·3	23	1,060

The total installed capacity of nitrogenous fertiliser industry (in terms of plant nutrient-N) as at the end of 1973-74 was of the order of 1·939 million tonnes. The share of public sector unit was 1,128,000 tonnes, 58 (per cent). When the projects under implementation are completed, the public sector will dominate the scene by controlling 69 per cent.

The capacity under implementation stage is estimated at 2·222 million tonnes, making a total of 4·161 million tonnes. In addition to this, the capacity approved in principle, amounted to 2·350 million tonnes. The Fifth Five Year Plan has placed a target of 6·511 million tonnes in terms of capacity and 3·530 million tonnes in terms of production of nitrogenous fertilisers.

Taking into consideration the slow rate of progress, and the large gestation period, the industry will be able to attain a total capacity of only 2·6 million tonnes by 1978–79. Thus, a shortfall of 3·91 million tonnes in capacity is on the card. This is confirmed from the slow progress of the projects under implementation in both the public and private sectors. The break-up of the existing capacity in both the sectors as well as that under implementation stage is set out below.

Phosphatic Fertilisers: In sharp contrast with the nitrogenous fertiliser industry, the phosphatic fertilisers were largely confined to the private sector as will be seen from the table below and production was accounted for by single superphosphates.

Year		Private Sector			Public Sector		Total
	No. of Unit	Production ('000 tonnes)	Share	No. of Unit	Production ('000 tonnes)	Share	No. of unit	Production ('000 tonnes)

1973–74 ..	27	208	64·4	8	115	35·6	35	323

It is evident that the share of the public sector units in terms of production rose from 18·9 per cent in 1965–66 to 25·2 per cent in 1968–69 but declined to 18·9 per cent in 1969–70. In subsequent years it has again registered an increase, the share in 1973–74 being 35·8 per cent.

The installed capacity of phosphatic fertilisers stood at 560,000 tonnes in 1973–74. The break-up is 202,000 tonnes in public sector and 358,000 tonnes in private sector. The capacity under implementation amounted to 680,000 tonnes and the capacity approved in principle but not yet formed up was 665,000 tonnes.

Various types: Following table shows the production of various types of fertilisers with the number of units and their installed capacity.

Manures and Composts

The Ministry of Agriculture has taken up a very comprehensive programme for the development of organic manures in the country in view of its importance in building up of soil fertility and also because of constraints in the availability of fertilisers. The programmes are:

(i) Urban compost programme, (ii) Sewage and sullage utilisation Programme; (iii) Rural compost programme; (iv) Green Manuring Programme and (v) Gobar Gas Plant.

The anticipated production of urban and rural compost by the end of the fourth plan was 4·8 and 170·00 million tonnes respectively. The area under sewage irrigation by the end of the Fourth Plan was 2,400 hectares. The above schemes will be taken up on an expanded scale during the Fifth Five Year Plan for which purposes an outlay of Rs. 9·0 million has been provided in the State Plans. The target is to produce 350 million tonnes of rural compost and 7·5 million tonnes of urban compost a year, by the end of the Fifth Plan. Though no target for green manuring has been fixed for the Fifth Plan, efforts will be made to popularise green manuring practices so that pressures on chemical fertilisers is released considerably. However, the available information shows that the coverage under green manuring increased from 8·5 million hectares in 1969–70 to 10·4 million hectares in 1970–71 and 11·96 million hectares in 1973–74.

In addition, the following key schemes are proposed to be taken up under the Central Agricultural Sector in the Fifth Plan at an outlay of Rs. 9·0 million.

(i) Setting up of 45 mechanical compost plants in cities having population of 300,000 and above to manufacture compost manure from city wastes.

(ii) Three hundred sewage/sullage utilisation schemes in cities/towns where such potentialities exist, which will irrigate an area of 24,000 hectares.

(iii) Setting up of 100,000 gobar gas plants in rural areas for production of gas for fuel purposes and good quality manures for agricultural production.

Other Developments: To promote balanced use of fertilisers and to correct the deficiency of micronutrients in soil as also to encourage fertiliser consumption in general, a centrally sponsored scheme of fertiliser promotion with an outlay of Rs. 219 million was sanctioned by the Government for implementation in 64 districts during 1972–73 and 1973–74. The selection of districts was done in consultation with the State Governments and fertiliser manufacturers. To support the scheme, 65 existing Soil Testing Laboratories would be strengthened so as to increase their annual capacity from 10,000 to 30,000 soil samples. As a result of the demonstrations conducted, both under the centrally sponsored scheme and by the Fertiliser Industry, the consumption ratio of N, P and K has become smaller. In view of these programmes, the sale of superphosphate which was earlier lagging far behind, has also increased.

For improving Soil Testing service facilities, 34 Mobile Soil Testing Laboratories were supplied to the States and Union Territories during the Fourth Plan period. To run these Laboratories efficiently, Mobile Soil Testing vans have been attached to the existing static Soil Testing Laboratories in the States. A Central Fertiliser Control Laboratory is being established at Faridabad to act as reference laboratory and to train the fertiliser quality control staff of the State Governments in technical and legal aspects.

Consumption: With intensive farming, nominal increase of 1·37 per cent per year in the cropped area, and other efforts to make the country self-sufficient in food, one would have expected a commensurate increase in the consumption of fertilizers.

The actual performance, however, shows a decline in the rate of consumption in recent years.

In 1970–71, the rate of growth of consumption of nitrogenous phosphatic and potassic fertilisers was 9·5 per cent compared with 18·8 per cent in 1969–70 and 14·3 per cent in 1968–69. In 1971–72, the growth rate of fertiliser consumption reached the peak level of 20·8 per cent. The rate of growth is considerably lower than the annual compound growth rate of 26·6 per cent envisaged during the Fourth Plan. The average rate of growth of consumption which stood at 12 per cent per annum over the five year ended 1972–73 dropped to 8 per cent per annum with the period ended 1973–74.

	1967–68	1970–71	1970–71	1972–73	1973–74	1974–75 (Estimated)

Phosphatic (P_2O_5) ..	335	541	558	581	634	935

The consumption of fertilisers per hectare of agricultural land in India during 1973–74 works out at 9·93 kgs. of N, 3·43 kgs. of P and 1·70 kgs. of K respectively. The levels are for below those of other countries (Figures in kgs.).

Country	N	P_2O_5	K_2O	Total
China (Taiwan)	189·58	44·12	68·63	302·33
Japan	136·76	105·10	104·95	346·81
Rep. Korea ..	122·34	51·95	30·46	204·75
India	9·93	3·43	1·70	15·06
Philippines ..	6·75	4·80	4·26	15·81

Apart from inadequate marketing facilities and lack of purchasing power of the farmers, natural calamities and inadequate irrigation facilities, high prices, inadequate imports, inadequate promotion measures, lack of adequate credit facilities in several areas, and insufficiency of retail points at convenient distance from the various rural points contributed to the decline in fertilizer consumption. For the Fifth Plan period, the overall growth rate of NPK is envisaged at 21·7 per cent per annum.

The table below portrays vividly how actual consumption fell short of targeted levels during the Fourth Plan.

Year	Target	Actual
1969–70	2·60	1·99
1971–72	3·20	2·66
1973–74	3·80 (Annual Plan)	2·81

Five States, namely Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra, Uttar Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, and Punjab account for more than 59·81 per cent of total consumption. The States having very low consumption of fertiliser per agricultural land are Madhya Pradesh, Assam, Rajasthan, Jammu & Kashmir, Himachal Pradesh, Orissa, Tripura and Manipur.

The States which showed a sharp decline in consumption of nitrogenous fertilisers during 1973–74 were Andhra Pradesh, Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Assam and Bihar. On the other hand, the three States — Maharashtra, Gujarat and Punjab recorded increase of 17·54 per cent 21·92 and 21·70 per cent respectively in 1973–74. Statewise, the consumption of phosphatic fertiliser has recorded a fall in Bihar, Karnataka and Uttar Pradesh.

Imports: With the increase in indigenous production, imports were reduced in 1969–70. Total value of imports of manufactured fertilisers stood at Rs. 900 million in 1971–72 against Rs. 770 million in 1970–71 and Rs. 1,170 million in 1969–70. In 1972–73 and 1973–74, the total value of imports stood at Rs. 1,210 and Rs. 1,770 million respectively. As there is insignificant, manufacture of potassic fertilisers, the country has to depend on imports.

The trend in imports of fertilisers is given in the table below :

Year	N	P	K	Total
1968–69	842	137	213	1,192
1969–70	667	94	120	881

General

Potassium Fertilizers : To substitute potassium sulphate which is being imported at present, the Central Salt and Marine Chemicals Research Institute in Bhavnagar, Gujarat, has developed a process for manufacturing potassium chloride and potassium Schoenite from mixed salts.

The institute has set up a commercial plant at Kandla in the private sector having a capacity of manufacturing 1,000 tonnes of potassium chloride and 2,000 tonnes of potassium schoenite (epsom salt) annually. The plant is the first of its kind in the country.

Role of F.C.I. (Training) : F.C.I. has initiated a number of scientific and technological programmes for popularising the use of fertilisers; (i) Fertiliser Promotion and Agricultural Research Centre at Calcutta, to demonstrate the use of fertilizer; (i) a Rice Production

Training Centre was set up at Durgapur during 1972-73 to impart right technique of rice cultivation; (iii) the F.C.I. has currently taken up studies to assess the requirement of micro-nutrient for plants under different climatic and soil conditions. With a view to producing fertilisers containing micronutrients, Fertiliser Corporation of India runs a training institute which provides refresher courses for all categories of employees.

Research : Fertiliser Association of India at 85, Sunder Nagar, New Delhi, 110003, has set up a Fertiliser Institute which does research on the pathological problems of the industry, holds lectures, group discussions and publishes papers on the research done. The institute also holds courses in marketing from time to time.

Fifth Plan : The Firth Plan envisages a production target of 4 million tonnes of nitrogen and 1·25 million tonnes of P_2O_5 by 1978-79. To achieve this, a minimum capacity of at least 6 million tonnes of nitrogen, 1·7 million tonnes of P_2O_5 would have to be developed by the terminal year of the Fifth Plan. The Government proposes to set up five projects in the public sector (Bhatinda, Panipat, Mathura, Paradeep and Trombay) and 4 other fertilizer plants, viz., Kota (Rajasthan), Vadodara (Gujarat) Kakinada (Andhra Pradesh), Phulpur (Uttar Pradesh) with a capacity of 900 to 1,350 tonnes of ammonia per day each. They had a capacity of 1·94 million tonnes of nitrogen and 0·56 million tonnes of P_2O_5 during 1973. Thus, a total capacity of 6 million tonnes of nitrogen and 1·7 million tonnes of P_2O_5 would have been developed when all these projects both in public and private sectors including those under various stages of implementation are completed.

A new type of project sponsored by the Maharashtra Co-operative Fertiliser Co. to produce 66,000 tonnes of ammonia for direct application to the soil instead of being fixed in the form sold, has been finalised by the Government.

Steps are being taken to step up the production of rock-phosphates at Udaipur, Uttar Pradesh for producing phosphatic fertiliser. At present, these are being imported.

Facilities for the production of phospheric acid at Kandla and Madras are also planned during this period.

A provision of Rs. 11,530 million has been made for the fertilizer programme in the public sector.

IRRIGATION AND POWER PROJECTS

(Also see Chapter on "Energy Crisis")

India owns a fifth of the world's irrigated area yet the country suffers from a chronic food shortage. This is largely due to the increase in population from 380 million in 1939 (undivided India) to almost 560 million today.

At the beginning of the period of planned development in 1950 the area under irrigation from all sources was 22·66 million hectares (56 million acres), 9·7 million hectares (24 million acres) from major and medium sources and 12·95 million hectares (32 million acres) from minor irrigation works.

Power Development : With increased dependence on lift irrigation for food production, the demand for power in the rural sector is increasing rapidly. At the beginning of planned development in 1951 the installed capacity for power generation was only 2·3 million KW. By the end of 1973-74 it was 18·87 million KW.

Power Shortages : The shortages which developed during 1971-72 highlighted the urgent need to strengthen the transmission systems so that a more efficient interstate transfer of power could take place, also the need for improvements in operation and maintenance of available generation capacity and the need for more effective management and faster implementation of the power development programme.

POWER POSITION

The installed capacity of public utility power stations in the country which was 14·83 million KW at the end of 1970-71 is anticipated to rise to 21·22 million KW by March 1975, after taking into account the various retirements.

The total peak capability of all utility power systems in the country is estimated to rise from 12·52 million KW at the end of 1970-71 to 18·82 million KW by March, 1975.

The actual off-take of energy in 1970-71 was 53,618 million KWh. During this period there was a power cut to the tune of 750 M.KWh. The total energy requirement in 1970-71 was 54,368 million KWh. which is expected to rise by March 1975, to 86,103 million KWh.

Power Stations : Total number of major hydel power stations in the country in 1973 was 79.

Future Needs : The generation requirement in 1978-79 are estimated around 130,000 million Kwh for which an installed capacity of 33 million KW will be required. During the Fifth Plan about 1 million KW of old and obsolete capacity is likely to be retired. The Plan envisages the addition of 16·55 million KW to bring the actual generating capacity in 1978-79 to 33 million KW.

Water Resources : All fresh water resources are ultimately derived from inland precipitation. The average annual precipitation, excluding evapo-transpiration and soil moisture storage, in the country can be placed at 179 million hectare metres, resulting in the surface run-off and the ground water recharge included in the annual hydrological cycle.

On account of the limitations of topography, physiography, geology, dependability, quality and the present state of technology, only a part of this can be utilised.

According to recent estimates only 67 million hectare metres of surface water and 26·5 million hectare metres of ground water can be utilised. With the advancement of technology the estimate of utilisable water may improve.

Irrigation Potential : Out of the total arable area of 175 million hectares in the country, an estimated 142 million hectares were under cultivation by the end of the Fourth Plan (1974). The gross cropped area was about 169 million hectares. According to the Planning Commission estimates only 107 million hectares can ultimately be irrigated.

FLOODS

BACKGROUND : Monsoon in India is erratic and its intensity variable. Floods cause heavy damage to numerous irrigation works and irrigated areas. The sudden floods in the Ganga in 1970 led to heavy silting up of the Upper Ganga Canal which resulted in the closure of the canal for nearly nine weeks during critical parts of the kharif season. Complete protection from floods can seldom be achieved, even if it were technically feasible. Works for cent per cent protection from floods may also not be economically justifiable. Most flood control works aim at minimising the flood damage and protecting the maximum area.

Flood Regions : Ganga is formed at Devprayag, where the Alaknanda and the Bhagirathi meet. It flows south and then south-east through the great plains to Farakka, which is the apex of the Ganga delta. In its long course through the foot-hills and plains, it gathers the water of the Ramganga, the Yamuna, the Tons, the Gomati, the Ghaghara, the Son, the Gandak, the Burhi Gandak, the Baghmati, the Kosi and the Mahanadi. The Ganga-Yamuna, Ghaghara, Tapti, Gandak, Bagmati and Kosi — cover parts of the Punjab, Uttar Pradesh, Rajasthan, Bihar, West Bengal, Delhi and Himachal Pradesh.

Brahmaputra Basin : Brahmaputra, Barak, Teesta, Torsa and Raidak — covers Assam and West Bengal. Brahmaputra lies in the seismic zone and brings down sediment. These rivers have a smaller catchment than either the Ganga or the Indus and gathers in its long course through Tibet, India and Bangladesh, the waters of Raka Tsangpo, the Nagang chu, the Kyichu, the Giamda chu, the Dibang, the Disang, the Kopli, the Dhansiri, the Lohit, the Subansiri, the Kameng, the Manas, the Tista and the Benhi Dihing.

North Western River Basin : Jhelum, Chenab, Ravi Beas, Sutlej — covers Jammu & Kashmir, parts of Punjab and Himachal Pradesh.

Central India and Deccan : Mahanadi, Brahmini, Baitarni, Godavari, Krishna and Tapti — covers Orissa, Andhra Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Gujarat, Karnataka, Kerala and Tamil Nadu.

The Godavari : Of the east-flowing rivers of Peninsular India, the Godavari is the largest. It rises in the Nasik district of Maharashtra and flows across the Deccan plateau into the Bay of Bengal and passes through Maharashtra, Madhya Pradesh and Andhra Pradesh.

The Krishna : It flows from West to East through Maharashtra, Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh before falling into the Bay of Bengal.

The Mahanadi : One of the great rivers of India, the Mahanadi is 858 kms. in length with a catchment of 132,090 sq. kms. It rises near Sihawa in the Raipur district of Madhya Pradesh.

The Kaveri : The Kaveri, which fourth largest of the east-flowing rivers, is one river whose potential has been almost completely utilised. It rises near Mercara in Coorg district of Karnataka at an elevation of 1,341 metres above sea level. It is joined in its course through Karnataka and Tamil Nadu by a large number of rivers such as the Hemvati, the Lakshmantirtha, the Bhavani etc.

Flood Prone Areas : According to the studies made by Dr. Khosla in 1949 (the then Chairman of C. W. & P. C.), the total annual flow of all the river systems in India comes to 1,672,599 m.cu.m. (1,356 million acre feet). Another appraisal of the water resources of the country made in 1960 based largely on statistical analysis of the flow-data and on suitable rainfall run off relationship (wherever observed data was meagre) puts the total flow at 1,881,057 m.cu.m. (1,525 million acre feet). Several studies have also been undertaken by the Surface Water Resources Directorate (SWRD) of the C.W. & P.C. However, various estimates do not tally and this clearly underscores the importance of scientific observation for each river system. Only one third of water resources available in the country could be used for agricultural purposes.

Floods have been damaging large irrigated areas in the Indo-Gangetic plain, particularly in North Bihar, eastern Uttar Pradesh, the Punjab, Haryana, portion of Rajasthan and also the coastal areas in Orissa, Andhra Pradesh and Tamil Nadu. The damage is acute in the delta areas of Mahanadi, Godavari, Krishna and Kaveri rivers. Floods also cause damage to the areas irrigated by tanks in Peninsular India, particularly where these tanks are in series and the breaching of one tank leads to the failure of tanks below.

The total area liable to floods in India is estimated to be about 20 million hectares.

On an average, floods affect an area of 6.7 million hectares annually including 2.6 million hectares under crops.

Sixty per cent of flood damage is caused by Himalayan rivers (Ganga, Brahmaputra and their tributaries). Damage from cyclones and rain is about 40 per cent — of the total. Heavy floods in peninsular rivers (Godavari, Krishna, Pennar and Cauvery) have been occurring only at long intervals and almost all the damage caused in this area is by cyclones and heavy rainfall. In Himalayan region, two-third damage is caused by floods and one-third by the rains. In the Central rivers (Tapti, Narmada and Chambal) damage is the least and mostly by rains. About 33 per cent of the flood-prone area has been protected, at a cost of about Rs. 3,000 million, against floods since the first comprehensive plan to tackle flood which took shape in 1954. Present plan is to cover an equal area by 1981. In another 10 years, another 27 per cent will be protected. The total flood area that can reasonably be protected has been assessed to be about 16 million hectares.

The flood menace has been tackled by the raising and strengthening of existing embankments, provision of new embankments, river training works and protection of towns. The best way to control floods is to intercept them with storage reservoirs, so that only moderated floods are allowed to flow through the valley below. However, reservoirs constructed merely to detain and moderate floods may not be economically justifiable. On the other hand, those constructed for irrigation, power, etc., could be planned to provide for flood control also. The works carried out by the Damodar Valley Corporation in the Damodar river basin and the various benefits conferred by them are result of such planning where the primary aim was flood control. The rains experienced all over the Damodar Valley in the middle of September, 1958, led to a high flood in the Damodar and its tributaries. Had there been no reservoirs, the maximum flow at Durgapur would have been of the order of 18,800 cumecs and would have caused considerable damage in the valley. But the flood was absorbed by the reservoirs and their careful operation helped to avert a catastrophe. The Hirakud reservoir is another multipurpose project that was primarily meant for flood control. The reservoir is not filled to capacity till the middle of August so that it can absorb whatever floods may come in.

Another factor which contributes towards making large areas flood-prone are the indiscriminate cutting of trees and unauthorised grazing that is allowed in the foothills. The region traversed by the Himalayan rivers is also subject to earthquakes and land-slides, which makes large areas flood-prone. Growing frequency of floods in Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra, Gujarat and Rajasthan can also be traced to deforestation.

Flood Damage — The worst affected areas in 1974 were Bihar, Uttar Pradesh, Assam and West Bengal. Kerala, Manipur, Orissa and Karnataka were also affected. The annual average damage, which is mostly to crops, houses and public utilities has been estimated to be about Rs. 1,260 million. Almost 70 per cent of the damage relates to crops. Besides, there are indirect losses resulting from the break-down of communications and essential services and the expenditure on relief operations.

The total damage caused by floods in 1974 was Rs. 2,819 million. About 16 million people were affected, 5.8 million hectares of land were flooded and crops in 1.9 million hectares were destroyed. Damage to crops was about Rs. 2,119 million. About 243 human lives were lost and 265,163 houses collapsed and 1,270 heads of cattle perished.

Flood control — It was only in 1954 that a comprehensive National Flood Control Policy came into being. It was to be implemented in three stages — (a) immediate measures — which needed to be completed in two years or so; (b) short term measures — which included the construction of channel diversions, raising of villages, construction of more embankments and protection of more towns (to be executed over 6–7 years); and (c) long term measures — includes storage reservoirs, detention basins additional embankments, channel diversions and protection of towns (to be completed and taken up in stages).

Rs. 1,634 million were spent in the First, Second, Third and the Fourth Five Year Plans for flood control. Of the 16 million hectares usually ravaged by floods, 7.1 million hectares have been protected. By March 1974 (Rs. 3,526) million had been spent to protect 35 per cent of the flood prone areas. A decade plan (1971-81) estimated to cost Rs. 5,400 million has been prepared with the objective of providing protection to about 50 per cent of the flood prone areas by 1981. An outlay of Rs. 10,000 million is needed to protect most of the areas which are normally affected by floods. Total and all time protection is not possible as the factors that lead to floods are variable. However, by the end of March 1974, 7,500 kms. of embankments, 11,500 kms. of drainage channels and 205 town protection schemes had been completed to benefit an area of 7.1 million hectares. 4,600 villages had been aised above high flood level and 95 kms. of sea coast protected. It is proposed to accelerate the programme of flood control in the Fifth Plan and the total outlay proposed for the purpose is Rs. 3,010 million. Actual outlay on flood control, drainage and water logging and sea coast protection schemes :

Measures suggested by the Irrigation Commission (1972) for Flood Control.

Integrated Planning for Flood Control & Other benefits — In planning and designing future river valley projects, multipurpose dams, singly or as a part of basin plan, the flood control aspect should be prominently kept in view.

Construction of embankments — It is necessary to construct embankments in order to protect large areas on either side of the lower reaches of a river. In providing embankments on a river to prevent the inundation of adjoining areas, the attendant problem should be carefully considered and suitable designs evolved to minimise ill effects. The most important precaution to be taken is to provide suitable drainage for the land behind the embankments. The drainage should be led through sluices in the embankment or into the river below the embanked reach.

Maintenance of embankments — An annual systematic post monsoon check of all important embankments should be made and necessary repairs undertaken.

Flood forecasting — Flood forecasting is important for the operation of multipurpose reservoirs. Regulators in canal system can be operated in time if a flood warning is received sufficiently in advance. Flood forecasting services need to be established at all places vulnerable to floods.

Flood patrolling — Patrol rules should be prepared and made available for guidance at all places vulnerable to floods. These should include instructions for the maintenance and checking of flood stores and the manner of dealing with emergencies.

Other flood control measures — Some time it may be possible to divert a portion of the flood from a river into an adjacent valley or away from an area where it causes damage. The Budameru in Andhra Pradesh is an example. The flood carrying capacity of a river cannel could be improved by deepening and widening it and by removing bad curves.

The systematic collection of hydrological data is important for forecasting floods and designing flood protection measures.

Drainage problem : Surplus water is as harmful to crops as inadequate water. It is not only the accumulated surface water from heavy precipitation or flood water that needs draining, but also the excess water in the field due to over irrigation or seepage from an adjacent channel that has to be removed to help crop growth. For example, the rainfall in parts of West Bengal is sufficiently heavy to permit a rice crop to be raised successfully without any irrigation, but without proper drainage the crop cannot thrive. The importance of drainage is so well recognised in advanced countries that it is always considered an integral part of any irrigation scheme. The Brahmputra and the Barak valleys, parts of Gujarat and in the deltaic areas of the rivers like the Ganga, the Mahanadi, the Godavari, the Krishna and the Kaveri the drainage problem is naturally acute. In the case of deltas there may be some tracts whose levels are just a few feet above sea level. The drains in such tracts are generally affected by tides from the sea and the drainage flow is held up for a part of the day. West Bengal has drainage difficulties over about 0.4 million hectares. Andhra Pradesh, besides experiencing the usual drainage difficulties in its deltaic areas has a major drainage problem at the junction of the Godavari and Krishna Deltas. The Government of Andhra Pradesh is taking steps to give relief to this area by constructing detention reservoirs across the big streams flow into the Kotteru from outside the delta, and improving the capacity of the Lepputeru including the formation of flood embankments and a straight cut to the sea from an appropriate point.

Money spent on drainage in the last decade has been over Rs. 500 million (60 per cent of this has been spent in Haryana and Punjab). Drainage continues to pose a problem into other parts of the country. In the Fifth Plan, adequate measures are supposed to be taken up for drainage and anti-waterlogging, mainly in the States of Punjab and Haryana and to some extent in Uttar Pradesh and the Deltaic tracts of Andhra Pradesh and Tamil Nadu where old irrigation schemes have been in operation for a very long time. It is envisaged that the drainage problem in the command areas of the continuing and new irrigation projects will also receive special attention.

SEA EROSION

Even though sea erosion occurs at different places along the 5,700 kms. stretch of the coastline of India, the problem is of a serious nature in a length of about 320 kms. coastline of Kerala. Protection measures were started at the end of the First Plan. A length of 95 kms. is expected to be protected by the end of the Fourth Plan at a cost of of about Rs. 177 million. Special financial assistance of Rs. 20 million was provided to the Government of Kerala during 1972-73 and another Rs. 240 million during 1973-74 for enabling them to make better progress on anti-sea erosion measures during the Fourth Plan.

The tempo of anti-sea erosion measures would be maintained during the fifth Plan for which a provision of Rs. 200 million has been proposed. The outlay proposed during 1974-75 is Rs. 30 million.

Policy : There has been a progressive increase in the damage, due to floods in monetary terms, on account of several reasons including the rise in prices, particularly of crops, the mounting pressure on land from the ever increasing population which induce people to occupy or build and cultivate on traditional ponds, depressions and Khadir lands; the role played by development works such as roads, railways, canals, etc., firstly by exposing more public property to damage and secondly by accentuating damaging capability of waters by transforming sheet flows into concentrated flows through culverts, siphons, bridges, aquaducts, etc. The flood control measures have, therefore, to keep pace with the general tempo of economic and other developmental activities.

The flood control measures undertaken so far have, no doubt, been helpful but there is a need to supplement these engineering works with measures for the positive control of the events which cause an increase of damage potential and actual loss. These measures should include proper land use planning and regulation. There is also need for long range planning and preparation of master plans to indicate the sequencing and priorities of the various measures that may be taken from time to time to fit into the overall plans. To meet the challenge posed by the difficult and complex problems of flood control in the Ganga and Brahmaputra Basin, Boards and Commissions have been set up. In the Fifth Plan, while all the schemes undertaken during Fourth Plan period, including the priority flood control works identified following the 1971 floods will be completed, first priority will be given to the raising and strengthening of existing embankments and other connected flood protection works. Special attention will also be given to the flood control programmes on inter-State rivers where the various works in different States will need to be properly dovetailed and co-ordinated to get the optimum benefits and, at the same time, ensure that the works taken up in one State do not aggravate the conditions of other States.

Floods forecasting centres set up for providing advance warnings of floods in the most vulnerable river basins in the country have been of great assistance in organising effective evacuation and relief measures. The survey programme to precisely demarcate the areas prone to flooding will be accelerated. The Ganga Flood Control Commission (Patna) started functioning from August, 1972. It has prepared an outline plan for flood control in the Ganga basin and is presently engaged in the formulation of detailed basin-wise plans.

DROUGHT

BACKGROUND

CONSTANT famine has been so important a cause of economic dislocation, that the British Government appointed a commission in 1878 to enquire into the problem. One of its important contributions was to draft the Famine Code which was formalised in 1883.

India on an average receives 3,700,400 cubic inches of rain. But there is a variation in the seasonal and the annual distribution of rainfall. Some parts of Rajasthan get as low as 12·70 cms. of rain while hills of Assam get as much as 1,270 cm. About 12 per cent of the country's area receives less than 61 cms. of rain on an average and only 8 per cent more than 254 cms.

Drought : Droughts have been occurring periodically largely due to the variability of south west monsoon from which 80 per cent of the annual rainfall is received during the period from June to September in most parts of the country. Not only a low rainfall but untimely distribution of fairly high rainfall can lead to droughts. Approximate probability of deficient rainfall (deficiency equal to 25 per cent or more of the normal) is once in 4 to 5 years over large areas of the country.

In India, as many as 128 districts accounting for about 68 million hectares have low to medium rainfall under 1,125 mm. annually, and these also have very limited irrigation facilities. Of these districts, 25 districts are characterised by very poor rainfall in the range of 375–750 mm. annually with an irrigated area of 5–10 per cent of the cropped area. Another 91 of these districts receive annual rainfall ranging from 750 to 1,125 mm. The total net sown area in these districts is 42 million hectares of which about 5 million hectares are irrigated. Agriculture in these dry farming areas is faced with the twin problems of low productivity and high instability. Since, by and large, drought regions have low water resources, they may have to depend on rain-fed agriculture with its attendant risk of instability in years of bad monsoon.

The chronically affected drought areas account for 19 per cent of the total geographical area of the country and 12 per cent of its population. With the exception of Kerala in the South, Punjab in the North and the States of North-Eastern region, every State in India has one or more drought prone districts. Nearly 56 per cent of the geographical area of Rajasthan falls within the category of drought prone areas; in terms of population the coverage is 33 per cent. Next to Rajasthan comes Andhra Pradesh, where about 50 per cent of the geographical area and 22 per cent of the population is within the ambit of the drought prone areas. In Gujarat, about 29 per cent of the geographical area and about 18 per cent of the population are within the purview of the areas characterised as drought prone. In Mysore, the corresponding figures are 25 per cent and 22 per cent. These areas are the major factor contributing to regional imbalances in the country. Every third year, about 3 million inhabitants of arid zones take to migration with their livestock. These areas also remain a continuous source of strain on the financial resources of the country. At the all-India level, during the period 1969-70 to 1972-73, the expenditure on drought relief was estimated to be in the neighbourhood of Rs. 7,900 million.

Drought Prone Areas Programme : Over the Plan period, several measures have been taken for the development of drought prone areas. These include: (a) development of irrigation; (b) formulation of schemes specifically designed to benefit the drought prone/dry areas; (c) agricultural research specifically oriented towards the problems of the low rainfall areas; (d) scarcity relief wich also helped in creating additional production potential and provision of services like drinking water supply; and (e) special programmes like Emergency Agricultural Production programme.

Drought Prone Areas Programme (formerly known as the Rural Works Programme) which made a beginning in 1970-71 has been in operation in 54 districts primarily and contiguous areas of another 18 districts which have been identified as chronically drought prone. These districts have been identified on the following criteria:

(i) incidence and pattern of rainfall; (ii) percentage of irrigated areas to the total area and (iii) the frequency of drought over a period of time.

The districts covered under this Programme are as follows:

Anhdra Pradesh : Anantapur; Kurnool; Cuddappah; Chittor; Mehboobnagar.

Bihar : Monghyr; Palamau; One unit for 3 sub-divisions, namely Nawada sub-division of Gaya District and Bhabhua and Sasaram sub-divisions of Shahabad district.

Gujarat : Panchmahals; Kutch; Jamnagar; Rajkot; Amreli; Banaskantha; Surrendranagar.

Haryana : Mohindergarh.

Jammu & Kashmir : Doda.

Karnataka : Bijapur; Chitradurga; Kolar; Dharwar; Belgaum.

Madhya Pradesh : Jhabua; Dhar; Sidhi; Betul.

Maharashtra : Ahmednagar; Sholapur; Nasik; Pune; Satara; Sangli.

Orissa : Kalahandi; Boudh Phulbani.

Rajasthan : Jaisalmer; Barmer; Pali; Jalore; Bikaner; Churu; Jodhpur; Banswara; Nagaur; Dungarpur.

Tamil Nadu : Dharmapuri; Ramanathapuram.

Uttar Pradesh : Mirzapur; Banda; Allahabad; Varanasi; Hamirpur; Jalaun.

West Bengal : One unit each in Purulia; Midnapur; Bankura.

Contiguous areas selected under drought prone areas programme:

Andhra Pradesh : Ongole; Nalgonda.

Gujarat : Mehsana; Ahmedabad; Bhavnagar.

Haryana : Bhiwani; Hissar; Rohtak.

Jammu & Kashmir : Udhampur.

Karnataka : Gulbarga; Raichur; Bellary; Tumkur.

Madhya Pradesh : Khargaon; Shahdol.

Rajasthan : Udaipur; Ajmer; Jhunjhunu.

Progress : The Programme has made good stride in financial progress starting from a modest expenditure of nearly Rs. 70 million in the first year to over Rs. 670 million in the fourth year. The cumulative expenditure till July 1973 has been about Rs. 740 million as against the total indicative allocation of Rs. 1,000 million available during the Fourth Plan.

In physical terms too, its achievements have been quite satisfactory. Under irrigation, a resource inventory of the available surface and underground water resources is being prepared for management and development of irrigation resources for a long term development of these areas. So far an area of 125,000 hectares has been provided with additional irrigation facilities either through the new works or stabilisation of existing command. Spectacular progress was made in Haryana where Loharu Lift Irrigation Scheme, partly financed from DPAP, was commissioned in record time providing much needed relief in drought stricken areas of Mohindergarh district. Other areas benefiting from additional irrigation are from Uttar Pradesh, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Rajasthan, etc. Soil and moisture conservation which is the next priority programme, provided benefit to 442,000 hectares mostly in catchment areas of Karnataka and Maharashtra. A total area of 63,000 hectares was covered under affforestation and pasture development. A sizable amount has been spent in Rajasthan on afforestation and pasture development. The other important States in this field are Andhra Pradesh, Gujarat and Madhya Pradesh. A substantial amount has been spent on roads in Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu and Rajasthan. A total length of 4,760 kms. of roads has been either newly constructed or existing roads upgraded. All these works have resulted in the generation of employment of over 130 million mandays.

Integrated Dry Land Farming Projects : A new broad based approach on integrated area development was accepted for the drought prone areas at the mid-term appraisal of the Fourth Plan.

Activities like development of sheep, cattle and dairying based on Pasture Development Programme were considered more suitable for the purpose. The Fourth Plan introduced 24 pilot integrated dry land farming projects in different agro-climatic and soil zones of the country. The programme had a two-fold approach namely (a) research to improve dry land farming technology and (b) testing the efficacy of the new technology through dry land farming pilot projects. A Desert Development Programme was also initiated in the Fourth Plan. The programme has been found acceptable to the World Bank for financing. Six projects namely Ahmednagar and Sholapur in Maharashtra; Jodhpur and Nagaur in Rajasthan; Anantpur in Andhra Pradesh and Bijapur in Karnataka have been referred to the Bank for assistance.

Agricultural Research oriented towards low rainfall areas : The All India Co-ordinated Research Project on dry land farming was introduced in 15 centres and 9 sub-centres. This project provides a research base for the integrated pilot dry land farming project. The Central Arid Zone Research Institute was also established in 1959 and has been functioning as a focal point on research on Agricultural problems of arid areas.

Fifth Plan : The main thrust of the strategy to be adopted in the Fifth Plan will be on management and development of irrigation sources, soil and moisture conservation and afforestation measures, popularisation of new dry farming technology, development of animal husbandry linked with dairying. A total allocation of more than Rs. 3,000 million will be available in the State and Central sectors in the 5th Plan.

Development and management of irrigation resources: The Irrigation Commission has computed that at present about 13 per cent of the cropped area of the drought affected region is irrigated. This is likely to rise to about 19 per cent when the schemes under execution are completed. Even so as much as 81 per cent of the cropped areas will remain without irrigation. In the drought areas of Gujarat, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra and Karnataka, the position remains much worse. As such, a suitable programme for development and management of irrigation resources has been accorded priority in the Fifth Plan. Apart from improvement in existing irrigation works, various irrigation projects already under construction in the drought prone areas will be completed.

In the intensive development visualised in the Fifth Plan under the Drought Prone Areas Programme, research findings of the co-ordinated dry land farming projects will be applied in large areas. An attempt will be made to apply the findings of the Central Arid Zone Research Institute while framing the afforestation, pasture land development and sand dune fixation programme.

FORESTS

TOTAL forests: 74.6 mill. hectares. Percentage of forests to land: 22.7. Per capita forest area 0.14 hectares as compared to world average of 1.08 hectares. An average of 3.6 million people are engaged in forestry activities.

Revenue from forests: Rs. 1,508 million. Forest revenue as percentage of national revenue: 2.2.

By composition, coniferous forests constitute 4.2 million hectares, the broad-leaved species such as sal and teak aggregate to 20.5 million hectares, while miscellaneous trees account for 49.9 million hectares. The forests are owned by the State (95.2 per cent), by corporate bodies (2.8 per cent) and by private individuals (2.0 per cent).

The forests are unevenly distributed and the production is also proportionately low, being only 0.5 cu.m. per hectare per year as against the world average of 2.1 cu.m. per hectare. Forests are located mostly in hilly terrain or remote interior areas where communications are not properly developed. Madhya Pradesh has the maximum forest area and accounts for about 23 per cent of the country's total forest area. Other important wood-rich States are Assam, Himachal Pradesh, Kerala, Orissa, Maharashtra, Karnataka, Uttar Pradesh and Andaman and Nicobar Islands.

Classification: The forests in India can be broadly classified in the following major groups.

(i) Tropical forest; (ii) Montane Sub-tropical forest (iii) Montane temperate forest and (iv) Alpine forest.

Each of these groups has a number of types which are in turn divided into sub-types. 16 broad climatic forest groups are recognised in this country. These are:

1. Tropical Wet Evergreen Forest — 4.503 million hectares including semi-evergreen forests (Parts of Assam, West Bengal, Karnataka, Kerala and Andaman and Nicobar Islands).
2. Tropical Semi-Evergreen Forest — (Parts of Assam, West Bengal, Orissa and Andamans).
3. Tropical Moist Deciduous Forest — 23.303 million hectares (Parts of Andamans, Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Karnataka, Orissa, Tamil Nadu and Kerala).
4. Tropical Dry Deciduous Forest — 29.154 million hectares (Almost all over India).
5. Littoral and Swamp Forests — (Deltas of big rivers).
6. Tropical Thorn Forest—5.236 million hectares (Parts of Punjab, Haryana, Rajasthan, Upper Gangetic plains, the Deccan Plateau and Lower Peninsular India).
7. Tropical Dry Evergreen Forests — 0.075 million hectares (Restricted to a small area of the East Coast in Tamil Nadu).
8. Sub-Tropical Dry Evergreen Forests — 0.173 million hectares (Siwaliks and the Western Himalayas up to about 1,000 m).
9. Sub-Tropical Broad-leaved Hill Forests — 0.287 million hectares (Lower slopes of the Himalayas in W. Bengal and Assam and other hill ranges such as Khasi Hills, Nilgiris and Mahableshwar).
10. Sub-Tropical Pine Forests — 3.740 million hectares (North-West Himalayas, between 1,000 m to 1,800 m and in Khasi, Manipur and Naga Hills).
11. Montane Wet Temperate Forests — 1.613 million hectares (Tamil Nadu and Kerala above 1,500 m and in the Eastern Himalayas, Viz., W. Bengal, Assam, Arunachal Pradesh from 1,800 m to 3,000 m).
12. Himalayan Moist Temperate Forests — 2.725 million hectares including dry Temperate Forests. (Entire length of Himalayas between the pine and sub-alpine forests in Kashmir, Himachal Pradesh, Punjab, Uttar Pradesh and Sikkim between 1,500 m to 3,300 m).
13. Himalayan Dry Temperate Forests (Inner ranges of the Himalayas where S-W monsoon is very feeble).
14. Sub-Alpine Forests
15. Moist Alpine Scrub
16. Dry Alpine Scrub

} Higher elevations over 3,000 m on the Himalayas.

The treeless zone is the habitat of the Tibetan sheep, bharal, wooly hare with occasional appearance of snow leopard.

Over 16 per cent of the total forest area is inaccessible.

Education and Research: Forest research and education are centralised in the Forest Research Institute and Colleges located at Dehra Dun. The Institute is recognised by the F.A.O. as a centre for training in forestry for South-East Asia.

The Forest Research Institute and Colleges are under the administrative control of the Ministry of Agriculture of the Government of India. Its administrative Head is designated the President. It has under its control three Regional Forest Research Centres, one each at Bangalore, Jabalpur and Coimbatore to deal with the special problems pertaining to the area. It has also set up a college at Kuescong, West Bengal from April 1974, for providing training to Forest Rangers of the Eastern Region. The college will, in due course, be developed into a full-fledged Regional Centre similar to that of Coimbatore.

The institute was reorganised into four Directorates working under the President, viz., (1) The Directorate of Forest Education with 4 forestry colleges under it, two at Dehra Dun and one at Coimbatore and one at Kuescong; (2) The Directorate of Forestry Research having eight branches — the Silviculture branch, the logging branch, the forest genetics branch, the minor forest products branch, the forest economics branch, the silvic branch, the forest soils branch, and the forest management and mensuration branch; (3) the Directorate of Biological Research having four branches — the systematic botany branch, the forest pathology branch, the entomology branch, and the wood anatomy branch; (4) the Directorate of Forest Products Research having eight branches — the wood seasoning branch, the composite wood branch, the cellulose and paper branch, the timber mechanics branch, the timber engineering branch, the chemistry of forest products branch, the wood preservation branch and the wood working, saw milling and finishing branch.

Training Schemes: Training courses (under the aegis of the Government of India/F.A.O./United Nations Development Programme) in basic logging have been started in the Northern Zone (Dehra Dun), Central Zone (Chandrapur) and in the Southern Zone (Coimbatore). Training courses in the operation and maintenance of logging equipment, studies in planning and efficiency of logging operations and land milling and operation in cable ways are run at Dehra Dun, Chandrapur and Kulu respectively. During 1973-74, an expenditure of Rs. 0.532 million was incurred.

In the year 1973-74, 28 I.F.S. probationers and 18 other forest officers in different courses and 148 rangers passed out from the 3 colleges.

There are in all 19 schools for training foresters and 29 schools for training forest guards in the country.

Development Programmes : Greater emphasis has been laid on schemes relating to forest plantation, development of forest communications, farm forestry-cum-fuel wood plantations, survey of forest resources and improvement of logging techniques. The State Governments have also been urged to set up Forest Corporations in the Fifth Plan to attract sufficient funds from financial institutions for undertaking large-scale plantation programmes.

Pre-Investment Survey of Forest Resources : This project aims at investigating the economic availability of raw materials for forest based industrial development in selected areas of the country.

The achievements of some important forestry schemes during the Fourth Plan period and the targets for the Fifth Plan are indicated in the following table :

Scheme	Unit	Fourth Plan (1969-74) Achievements	Fifth Plan (1974-79) Targets
Plantations of quick growing species for production of raw material pulp & paper industry ..	'000 hects.	251	860
Economic and Commercial plantations ..	,,	289	1,610
Farm forestry-cum-fuel wood plantation ..	,,	80	400
Communications	'000 kms.	8	60

Forest Produce : The forest produce can be broadly divided in two broad groups:—

(i) Major forest produce — timber and firewood. The important varieties are teak (Tectona grandis), deodar (Cedrus deodar), sal (Shorea robusta), sissoo (Dalbergia sissoo), chir (Pinus roxburghii) and kail (Pinus wallichiana).

(ii) Minor forest produce — the commercially important items under this are bamboos, canes, gums, resins dyes, tans, lac, fibres, floss and medicinal plant material.

Government is the largest timber producing agency in the country. Sale is by auction and in standing form.

Teak is by far the most important species which occurs over an area of 8.9 million hectares. More than 50 per cent of total area under teak is in Madhya Pradesh. The next are the States of Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Kerala and Gujarat.

Sal ranks next to teak in its utility and value. Sal forests cover an area of 11.6 million hectares and are distributed in Assam, Bihar, Madhya Pradesh, Orissa, Tripura, Uttar Pradesh and West Bengal.

Rosewood which is valued for its grain and colour, is mostly obtained from Kerala, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Andhra Pradesh and Maharashtra.

Cedrus deodara (Deodara) is by far the most important coniferous species highly valued as a constructional timber.

Pinus roxburghii (Chir pine) ranks as the next which is used for constructional purposes and the trees are tapped for resin. Abies pindrow (Fir) and Picea smithiana (Spruce) represent the valuable long fibre resource for pulp and paper industry.

The annual yield of timber and fuel wood is mainly derived from exploitable forest area which is 46 million hectares, i.e., about 60 per cent of total forest area in the country. During 1966 to 1972, about 8,600 kms. of forest roads were constructed at a cost of Rs. 64 million, thus improving the accessibility of the forests. Forests in the plains are mostly well connected by a net-work of roads but the road density in the hills is fairly low.

The total production of wood from the forests in the country is estimated at 22.8 million cu.m. of which 9.1 million cu.m. constitute industrial wood (1971). Fuelwood production is 13.7 million cu.m. including wood for charcoal. This represents an increase of about 15 per cent over the production figures of 1966.

There are about 3,000 saw mills in the country. Their capacities range from 10 tonnes to 200 tonnes per day. There is an increasing tendency of opening departmental saw mills in the various forest departments of the country to obtain rational utilisation of forest produce. Some of the saw mills have introduced their own seasoning kilns.

The bulk of the timber supply is used for railway sleepers, constructional requirements, furniture plywood (especially tea chests), matches, etc. Intake of wooden sleepers by the railways showed a decrease from 0·239 mill. cu. m. in 1966 to 0·196 mill. cu.m. in 1970. On the other hand, production of pulp and paper board, newsprint, plywood, fibre board and particle board has increased from 697,000 tonnes in 1966 to 1,014,000 tonnes in 1972.

Exports : Myrobalans are exported in the form of full nuts, crushed nuts and extract. The exports of nuts — crushed and full — declined sharply. In 1971-72 the exports were 6,872 tonnes, in 1972-73 the figures came down to 638 tonnes and picked up substantially in 1973-74 (upto February 1974) to 4,471 tonnes.

Exports of Myrobalan fruit extract in 1971-72 was 207 tonnes, in 1972-73 it rose to 306 tonnes. However in 1973-74 (upto February 1974) it again fell to 133 tonnes.

The average export prices for nuts decreased from Rs. 828 per tonne in 1971-72 to Rs. 716 per tonne in 1973-74. The price of fruit extract rose from Rs. 2,311 per tonne in 1971-72 to Rs. 2,691 per tonne in 1973-74.

Imports: The import of forest products have gone up from Rs. 217 million in 1966 to Rs. 439 million in 1972. The bulk of imports relate to paper and paper products including newsprint.

Timber Extractions (Andaman & Nicobar Islands): A quantity of 61,498 cubic metres of timber was extracted from the virgin forests of south, middle and north Andamans from April to October, 1973. The bulk of the timber was supplied to wood-based industries for manufacture of plywood, match splints etc. During the same period 8,558 cubic metres of logs were supplied to the local plywood consumers and 5,139 cubic metres of sawn timber were supplied to the Government Departments and the public.

Preservation of wild life: Wild Life Protection Act, 1972 which governs the wild life conservation and protection of endangered species both inside and outside forest area, has been adopted by most of the States and all the Union territories.

Trade in wild life and its products has been brought under the purview of the Act, and further restrictions have been imposed on the export trade of a number of animals, birds and their products. The export of rare and endangered species has been totally banned and a number of other products have been brought under quota system to regulate the export. Plans have also been drawn up for development of Wild Life sanctuaries in the country.

Project Tiger: The Project Tiger was launched on 1st April, 1973, at the Corbett National Park (U.P.). The Project aims at ensuring the maintenance of natural population of tigers and their prey range and other animals associated with them for ecological, scientific, aesthetic and natural values. The Project covers a total area of 13,017 sq. kms. in nine reserves of nine States. It is proposed to eliminate all the disturbing factors at least from a core area of 300 sq. kms. in each of the nine reserves. Assistance from the World Wide Life Fund is expected to be received during 1974-75 for the implementation of Project Tiger.

Wild Life Societies: The following are some of the more important societies concerned with conservation in India: (1) Bombay Natural History Society, Hornbill House, Shahid Bhagat Singh Rd., Bombay 400001; (2) Wild Life Preservation Society of India, 7, Ashley Hall, Dehra Dun, 248001; (3) World Wild Life Fund Indian National Appeal, Hornbill House, Shahid Bhagat Singh Road, Bombay 400001; (4) Peermade Wild Life Preservation Society, Stagbrook Estate, Peermade P.O., Kerala; (5) Nilgiri Wild Life Association, Ootacamund 643001; (6) Gujarat Natural History Society, 57, Pritamnagar, Ellis Bridge, Ahmedabad 380001; (7) Birdwatchers' Field Club of India, 32-A, Juhu Lane, Andheri, Bombay 400058; (8) High Range Game Association, Munnar P.O. Kerala; (9) Assam Valley Wild Life Society, Pratapgarh, TE, P.O. Sootea, Darang, Assam; (10) The Bihar Natural History Society, Patna 800001.

FISHERIES

Extent of Resources: India has a long coast line of 6,535 kms. and inland cultivable water areas of about 1·6 million hectares which offer a huge potential for fisheries development. The major sea resources comprise pelagic stocks of the sardine group, the mackerel, the tuna and other scombroids and a number of smaller but valuable items like the pomfrets, solefish and the carangids, the perches, polynemids and sciacmids.

India occupies the seventh place in the field of fisheries production in the world. Marine fisheries account for about 60 per cent of the total production in the country, the remaining 40 per cent contributed by inland fisheries. The potential yield of fisheries from inland resources has been estimated at over 10 million tonnes per year. However, the daily per capita availbility of fish in India has been estimated at as low a figure as 7·5 gms. as compared with a daily per capita availability of 137 grams in Japan.

A ten-fold increase in fish production is considered necessary to meet adequately the increasing demand for fish in the country.

Growth since Independence: From an estimated catch of 0·7 tonnes in 1947, it increased to 1·64 million tonnes in 1972 of which 0·97 million tonnes was marine fish. During about the same period (1947–71) the world catch rose from an estimated 18 million tonnes to 69·4 million tonnes. During 1973–74, the total fish production in India amounted to 2·32 million tonnes. Production of marine and inland fish being 1·54 and 0·78 million tonnes respectively. Production during 1974–75 is expected to be of the following order.

Development Programmes:

Marine : In the field of marine fisheries, special emphasis has been laid on the mechanisation of fishing boats, the number of these boats in March, 1974, being 9,164 as against only 13 at the commencement of the First Five Year Plan in 1951–52.

For the popularisation of deep sea fishing, about 100 large fishing vessels are likely to be available on the eve of the Fifth Plan. A subsidy upto 27·5 per cent of the value of corresponding imported vessels has been offered to encourage the production and use of indigenous vessels.

Inland Fisheries : Development of inland fisheries is particularly significant for the rural economy of States such as West Bengal, Bihar and Orissa. In the case of inland fisheries, emphasis has been laid on increased fish seed production, rearing of fry and fingerlings in nurseries and culturing them in large sweet water lakes. Spawn production and fingerlings production are expected to have reached the level of 1,888 million and 483 million respectively during 1973–74. The total nursery area now available for spawn rearing is estimated at 923 hectares.

Fifth Plan : In the Fifth Plan, a special boost will be given to the fishery sector to meet protein requirements, develop the export potential and improve the socio-economic conditions of the fishermen. It is envisaged to achieve a production target of 3·08 million tonnes of fish production by 1978–79. An outlay of Rs. 1,605·10 million is tentatively proposed for the development of fisheries in the Fifth Plan as against an estimated expenditure of Rs. 570 million in the Fourth Plan. For the Fifth Plan period 1978–79, targets of different fishery programmes are :

Items	Unit	Targets
Mechanised boats in operation	Nos.	13,300
Large fishing vessels	Nos.	300
Refrigerated/insulated Rail Vans	Nos.	53
Spawn	Million	4,257
Fry & fingerlings	Million	1,215
Nursery area	Hectares	1,780

Exports : Against an export of 38,903 tonnes in 1972–73 valued at Rs. 597·20 million, the export of marine products during 1973–74 was to be 52,279 tonnes valued at Rs. 895·1 million.

For augmenting the exports of sea foods, the Govt. of India has set up a Marine Products Export Development Authority at Mattanchery, Kerala.

Main Buyers : The main buyers of Indian marine products are United States, Japan, Australia and West European countries like France, Belgium, Italy, United Kingdom, West Germany, Netherlands and Denmark. Of all the marine products, shrimps constitute the principal item of export—nearly 90 per cent in frozen, canned and dried forms.

EDUCATION

Number of Universities rose from 47 in 1960 to 101 in 1973 with an enrolment of 3·86 million during the same period. Number of colleges increased from 1,542 in 1960–61 to 3,604 in 1970–71.

Number of Illiterates in 1971 was 386 million as against 388 million in 1961. However, the percentage of literacy according to 1971 census rose to 29 per cent from 24 per cent in 1961. (See also Chapter on Population)

Of every 100 children enrolled only about 40 reach Class V and only about 25 reach Class VIII. The rest drop out at some stage beginning roughly from age nine.

SUBJECTS OF STUDY

(Derived with permission from ' Directory to Subjects of Study at Indian Universities ' published in the annua Commonwealth Universities Yearbook by the Association of Commonwealth Universities, London and University Grants Commission, New Delhi.)

This directory contains a list of selected subjects which may be studied at universities in India, some in the departments or constituent colleges of universities themselves, some in colleges affiliated to universities, and others in both. The list is not exhaustive but it does cover most of the main subjects in which facilities for study or research are available. Many of the universities which provide courses for bachelor's or master's degrees in a subject also provide facilities for research in aspects of it which may lead to a doctorate.

Subjects marked† may, depending on the university, either (a) form a greater or lesser part of the course for a bachelor's degree, or (b) be studied for a master's degree, or (c) both.

Universities marked * in the article provide instructions upto the post-graduate level; 'm' and 'd' under the Medicine list indicate Master's Degree (including MD) and Government Diploma.

RESEARCH

Expenditure: In 1952-53 the country spent Rs. 122 million on research and development. By 1971-72 it had gone up to Rs. 2,150 million.

India's per capita expenditure on research and development compared to other countries (1960-61 figures): India — Rs. 4; United States — Rs. 400; United Kingdom — Rs. 160 and the Soviet Union — Rs. 100.

Fifth Plan: The allocation proposed is Rs. 25,000 million.

Manpower: The stock of qualified science and engineering graduates is nearly 1·2 million. The availability of technical manpower for a population of 550 million is nearly 1 : 450 compared to Japan's 1: 440 with a population of only 104·7 million.

The number of persons employed in research and development establishments in India increased from 20,724 in 1958-59 to 103,767 in 1971-72.

There are 30 research establishments which include national laboratories, institutes, organisations, regional laboratories, two science museums and two information centres. In addition, there are constituent technical divisions at the Headquarters, viz., the Scientific and Technical Personnel Division, the Research Co-ordination and Industrial Liaison Division, the Research Survey and Planning Division, the Patent Unit, the Process Evaluation Cell, the Grant-in-Aid Unit, the Science Reporter unit and the Public Relations unit.

National Register maintained by the Division of Scientific and Technical Personnel, CSIR, is a clearing house of information regarding availability and utilisation of Indian scientists, engineers, technologists, medical personnel and social scientists in India and abroad.

NATIONAL LABORATORIES/INSTITUTES

Aeronautical Laboratory, National, P.O. Bag No. 4, Kodihalli, Bangalore 560017—Scientific investigations into the problems of flight and their practical application to design, construction and operation of aircrafts in India.

Botanic Gardens, National, Rana Pratap Marg, Lucknow 226000—Collection and large-scale cultivation of economic and medicinal plants of industrial importance.

Building Research Institute, Central, Roorkee, Uttar Pradesh—Engineering and structural aspects of building and human comforts in relation to buildings.

Chemical Laboratory, National, Pashan, Pune—Fundamental and applied research covering the whole field of chemistry for which other specialised institutes have not been set up. The National Collection of Type Cultures is housed in the Laboratory.

Drug Research Institute, Central, Chattar Manzil Palace, P.O. Box 173, Lucknow 226000—All aspects of drug research including evaluation & standardisation of crude drugs, discovery of substitutes for pharmacopoeial drugs and plants, pharmaceutical and synthetic chemicals, bio-chemistry and biophysics, infection, immunisation, pharmacology, chemotherapy & experimental medicine.

Electro-Chemical Research Institute, Central, Karaikudi 623003, Tamil Nadu—Research on different aspects of electro-chemistry, including electro-metallurgy, electro-deposition and allied problems. The institute has two testing centres at Madras and Ramanathapuram.

Electronics Engineering Research Institute, Central, Pilani-Rajasthan—Design and construction of electronic equipments and components and test equipments.

Experimental Medicine, Indian Institute of, 4, Raja Subodh Mullick Rd., Calcutta-700032—Research in various aspects of biochemistry as applied to medicine, bacteriology, etc.

Food Technological Research Institute, Central, Chaluvamba Mansion, V. V. Mohalla P.O., Mysore 570002—Food processing and conservation and all aspects of fruit technology. Regional Fruit and Vegetable Preservation Stations at Trichur, Nagpur, Bombay, Lucknow, Mangalore, Simla, Jammu-Tawi and Cuddapah.

Fuel Research Institute, Central, Jealogra, Dhanbad, 826001, Bihar—Fundamental and applied research on fuels—Solid, liquid and gaseous, Physical and chemical surveys of coals are done by seven coal survey stations.

Geophysical Research Institute, National, Hyderabad 500007——Gravitational, magnetic, electrical and seismic surveys.

Glass and Ceramic Research Institute, Central, Jadavpur University P.O., Calcutta-700032—Applied research on glass, pottery, refractories, vitreous enamels and mica ; evaluation and utilization of indigenous raw materials, import substitution, development of new processes and products, improvement in quality of industrial products, standardisation, etc. ; Undertakes investigation and projects sponsored by industry and operates pilot plants for the production of optical glass and radiation shielding windows.

Leather Research Institute, Central, Adyar, Madras 600020—Fundamental and applied aspects of leather technology. The institute has five extension centres at Calcutta, Rajkot, Jullundur, Kanpur and Bombay.

Mechanical Engineering Research Institute, Central, Mahatma Gandhi Ave., Durgapur 713209, W. Bengal—It maintains Mechanical Engineering Research and Development Centres at Ludhiana, Pune and Madras.

Medicinal Plants Organisation, Central Indian, National Botanic Gardens Campus, Lucknow 226001—Development and cultivation of medicinal plants. It has two zonal centres located at Bangalore and Haldwani (U.P.), and four drug farms and factories in Jammu and Kashmir.

Metallurgical Laboratory, National, Jamshedpur 831007, Bihar—Fundamental and applied metallurgical research. It maintains four Regional Foundry Research Stations in Punjab, Tamil Nadu and West Bengal.

Mining Research Station, Central, Barwa Rd., P.O. Box 50, Dhanbad 826001, Bihar—Research in methods of mining, safety in mines and mine machinery.

National Environmental Engineering Research Institute (NEERI), Nehru Marg, Nagpur 440003. Formerly known as Central Public Health Engineering Research Inst. It has field centres at Sewage Farm Rd., Ahmedabad and Dr. Annie Besant Rd., Worli, Bombay.

Oceanography, National Institute of, Miramar, Panaji, Goa, Research on various aspects of physical, biological, geological and chemical oceanography including prospecting for petroleum and minerals in sea bed. The Institute maintains Indian Biological Centre and the Indian Ocean Physical Oceanographic Centre at Ernakulam. The International Biological Programme also functions at I.O.P.O. Centre, Ernakulam.

Petroleum, Indian Institute of, Mokhampur, Dehra Dun 248001—Research in petroleum refining and processing of natural gas, petro-chemicals, etc., and the training of personnel.

Physical Laboratory, National, Hillside Rd., New Delhi 110012—Research in fundamental and applied physics with facilities for testing.

Research Laboratory, Regional, Bhubaneswar 751004, Orissa—Bringing projects of potential local application to the attention of local industries and providing assistance in testing of their products.

Research Laboratory, Regional, Hyderabad 500009—General research & testing facilities.

Research Laboratory, Regional, Canal Rd., Jammu-Tawi 180001, Jammu & Kashmir—General research and research specially directed to medicinal plants of the Himalayas (Kashmir region).

Research Laboratory, Regional, Jorhat 785006, Assam—Research relating to more efficient utilisation and conservation of important national resources of Assam and surrounding areas.

Road Research Institute, Central, Mathura Rd., New Delhi 110020—Research and testing of road materials and road surfaces.

Salt & Marine Chemical Research Institute, Central, Waghawadi Rd., Bhavnagar 364002, Gujarat—Research in economic production of salts and by-products and development of new methods and technique for the recovery, production and utilization of various marine and allied chemicals.

Scientific Instruments Organisation, Central, Sector 30, Chandigarh 160020—Promotion and development of scientific instruments for teaching, research and industry with service centres in New Delhi and Madras.

Structural Engineering Research Centre, Roorkee, Uttar Pradesh—Research in specialised design and development work of buildings, bridges and other structures.

Toxicology Research Centre, Industrial, Chattar Manzil Palace, Post Box 80, Lucknow 226001 — To study effects of industrial toxins on skin, blood, gastro-intestinal tract, central nervous system, bones, etc.

SCIENCE MUSEUMS

Industrial & Technological Museum, Birla, 19*A Gurusaday Rd., Calcutta* 700019.

INFORMATION CENTRES

Publications and Information Directorate, Hillside Rd., Delhi 110012—It disseminates scientific and technical information through publication of encyclopaedias, journals and reports; and imparts training in publication and production work to personnel from information division of the national laboratories.

Documentation Centre, Indian National Scientific, Hillside Rd., Delhi 110012—Established with technical assistance from UNESCO, provides a complete range of documentation services to individuals and institutions all over the country.

INDIAN COUNCIL OF AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH, Krishi Bhavan, New Delhi 110001.

ICAR functions as a part of the Ministry of Agriculture. There are 24 research establishments which include institutes, laboratories and stations. Some of these have their own regional fields stations. In addition, nine Soil Conservation Research, Demonstration and Training Centres and the All India Soil and Land Use Survey Scheme have been transferred to the Council.

Agricultural Research Institute, Indian, Pusa, New Delhi 110012—The centre of origin of many new findings relevant to increasing productivity of our economic plants. Apart from its leading role in bringing about the Wheat Revolution, its research includes the widely accepted technique of relay cropping, new technology for dry areas, and research in upgrading protein quality cereals. Since 1958, about 1,200 students have taken M.Sc. and Ph.D. degrees from the Institute.

Agricultural Research Statistics, Institute of Library Ave., New Delhi 110012.

Cotton Technological Research Laboratory, Matunga Bombay.

Dairy Research Institute, National, Karnal 132001, Haryana. Regional Stations : Eastern — at Kalyan, West Bengal ; Southern — at P.O. Adugodi, Hosur Rd., Bangalore 560030 ; Western — at Aarey Milk Colony, Bombay 400065.

Grassland and Fodder Research Institute, Indian, Jhansi 284001, Uttar Pradesh.

Horticultural Research, Institute of, No. 255, Upper Palace Orchards, Bangalore 560006.

Inland Fisheries Research Institute, Central, Barrackpore, West Bengal.

Jute Agricultural Research Institute, Barrackpore, West Bengal.

Jute Technological Research Laboratories, Calcutta.

Lac Research Institute, Indian, Namkum, Ranchi, Bihar.

Marine Fisheries Research Institute, Central, Cochin, Kerala.

Plantation Crops Research Institute, Central, P.O. Krishnapuram 690533, Kerala State.

Potato Research Institute, Central, Simla 171001, Himachal Pradesh.

Rice Research Institute, Central, Cuttack 753006, Orissa.

Sheep and Wool Research Institute, Central, Avikanagar, Rajasthan.

Soil Salinity Research Institute, Central, Karnal, Haryana.

Sugarcane Breeding Institute, Coimbatore, Tamil Nadu.

Sugarcane Research, Indian Institue of, Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh.

Tobacco Research Institute, Central, Rajahmundry' Andhra Pradesh.

Tuber Crops Research Institute, Central, 'Vardhini', Vazhuthacaud, Trivandrum 695010.

Veterinary Research Institute, Indian, Izatnagar, Uttar Pradesh.

INDIAN COUNCIL OF MEDICAL RESEARCH, Ansari Nagar, New Delhi 110016.

The ICMR is an autonomous organisation which initiates, developes and co-ordinates bio-medical research in the country. It maintains seven permanent and several semi-permanent research institutes. These institutions and units have been marked with an asterisk in the list of other important medical research bodies mentioned below.

Anatomy : Institute of Anatomy, Madras Medical College, Park Town, Madras 600003.

Health, Preventive Medicine : (1)†All India Institute of Hygiene and Public Health, 110, Chittaranjan Ave., Calcutta 700012. (2) Chemical Examiners' Laboratory, Madras 600003. (3) Public Health Laboratory, Red Cross Rd., Trivandrum 695001, Kerala. (4) Government Analyst's Laboratory, Red Cross Rd., Trivandrum 695001, Kerala.

Indian Systems of Medicine : (1) Institute for Ayurvedic Studies and Research, Dhanwantri Mandir, P.O. Bag 513, Jamnagar 361001, Gujarat. (2)† Institute of Research in Indigenous System of Medicine, Approach Rd., Jogindernagar, Himachal Pradesh.

Infectious Diseases : (1) Cholera Research Centre,* 3 Ishaque Rd. (Kyd St.), Calcutta 700016. (2) Institute of Venereology, Government General Hospital, Madras 600003. (3)† National Institute of Communicable Diseases, 22, Alipore Rd., Delhi 110006.

Leprosy : (1)† Central Leprosy Teaching and Research Institute, P.O. Box 1, Chingleput 603001, Tamil Nadu. (2) Leprosy Investigation and Treatment Centre, Zaheerabad, Medak District, Andhra Pradesh. (3) Schieffelin Leprosy Research Sanatorium, Karigiri, Via Katpadi, North Arcot District, Tamil Nadu.

Medical Education and Research : (1)† All India Institute of Medical Sciences, Ansari Nagar, New Delhi 110016. (2)† All India Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, Haji Ali Park, Clerk Rd., Bombay 400034. (3)† Central Research Institute, Kasauli, Himachal Pradesh. (4) Haffkine Institute, Parel, Bombay 400012. (5) Indian Institute of Experimental Medicine, 4 Raja Subodh Mullick Rd., Calcutta 700032. (6) Institute of History of Medicine and Medical Research, 2/A-3, Asaf Ali Rd., New Delhi 110001. (7) Institute of Post-graduate Medical Education and Research, 244, Lower Circular Rd., Calcutta 700020. (8)† Jawaharlal Nehru Institute of Post-graduate Medical Education and Research, Pondicherry 605006. (9)† *National Institute of Health Administration and Education, E-*16, Greater Kailash, New Delhi 110048. (10) Post-graduate Institute of Indian Medicine, Varanasi 221005, Uttar Pradesh. (11) Post-graduate Institute of Medical Education and Research, Sector 12, Chandigarh 160001. (12) Sheth K. M. School of Postgraduate Medicine and Research, Ellis Bridge, Ahmedabad 380006.

Mental Health : (1)† All India Institute of Mental Health, P.O. Bag 15, Shantinagar P.O., Bangalore 560027. (2) Hospital for Mental Diseases and Post-graduate Training Centre, Kante, Ranchi 834001, Bihar.

Nutrition: National Institute of Nutrition, Jamai-Osmania, Hyderabad-*500007, Andhra Pradesh.

Occupational Health : (1) Industrial Toxicology Research Centre, Chattar Manzil Palace, Post Box 80, Lucknow, 226001, Uttar Pradesh. (2)* National Institute of Occupational Health, Opp. New Mental Hospital, Ahmedabad 380016, Gujarat.

Ophthalmology : (1) M. U. Institute of Ophthalmology, Gandhi Eye Hospital, Aligarh 202001, Uttar Pradesh. (2) Nehru Institute of Ophthalmology, Eye Hospital, Sitapur 261001, Uttar Pradesh.

Paediatrics : (1) B. M. Institute, Balghar, Godavari Centre for Family Relations, Navrangpura, Near Nehru Bridge, Ahmedabad 380009, Gujarat. (2) Institute of Child Health, 11, Dr. Biresh Guha Rd., Calcutta 700017.

Pathology :* Indian Registry of Pathology, C/o Department of Pathology, Safdarjung Hospital, P.O. Box 3039, New Delhi 110003.

Physiology : (1)* Blood Group Reference Centre, Seth G. S. Medical College, Bombay 400012. (2) Defence Institute of Physiology and Allied Sciences, Cantonment, New Delhi 110010.

Radiotherapy : (1) Barnard Institute of Radiology, Madras Medical College, Madras 600003. (2) Institute of Nuclear Medicine and Allied Sciences, Probyn Rd., Delhi 110006.

Reproduction: (1)* Institute for Research in Reproduction, Jehangir Merwanji St., Parel, Bombay 400012.

Serology : (1)† B. C. G. Vaccine Laboratory, Guindy, Madras 600032. (2) Government Vaccine Institute and Pasteur Institute, Namkum P.O., Ranchi 834010, Bihar. (3) King Institute of Preventive Medicine, Guindy, Madras 600032. (4) State Vaccine Institute, Patwadanagar, Nainital, 263001, Uttar Pradesh.

Tuberculosis : (1) Government Chest Institute and Tuberculosis Demonstration and Training Centre, Spur Tank Rd., Chetput, Madras 600013. (2)† National Tuberculosis Institute, 8, Bellary Rd., Bangalore 560003. (3)* Tuberculosis Chemotherapy Centre, Chetput, Madras 600013. (4)† Vallabhbhai Patel Chest Institute, University of Delhi, Delhi 100007.

Virus Infections : (1)* Entero-viruses Research Unit, C/o Haffkine Institute, Parel, Bombay 400012. (2)* Virus Research Centre, 20-A, Wellesley Rd., Pune 410101, Maharashtra.

Voice and Speech : †All India Institute of Speech and Hearing, Maharaja College Centenary Hall, Mysore 570005.

ATOMIC ENERGY

HISTORY AND DEVELOPMENT

AN Atomic Energy Commission was set up on August 10, 1948, under the terms of Atomic Energy Act passed in 1948, with Dr. H. J. Bhabha as its Chairman. The Commission's main aims were :

(a) Prospecting for atomic minerals ;

(b) Development of such minerals on an industrial scale ;

(c) Research work connected with the release of atomic energy for peaceful purposes ;

(d) Training of technical personnel to this end ;

(e) And to foster fundamental research in nuclear sciences in its own laboratories, universities, and other institutions in India.

However, it was not until August 3, 1954 that the Government of India launched a full-fledged atomic energy programme and the Department of Atomic Energy was created.

Rare minerals section, which formed the nucleus of the present Atomic Minerals Division, was taken over from the geological survey of India in 1949. The Indian Rare Earths Limited was registered as a company on August 18, 1950 and its rare earths plant at Alwaye, Kerala, went into production in August, 1952.

AEC decided to build India's first research reactor (of the swimming pool type) APSARA, in March 1955 and it reached criticality on August 4, 1956. APSARA and the Atomic Energy Establishment at Trombay, near Bombay were formally inaugurated by the Prime Minister, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, on January 20, 1957. In the meantime work was taken up on a 40 MW research reactor, CIRUS with Canadian assistance under the Colombo Plan. CIRUS attained criticality on July 10, 1960 and was first operated at full power on October 16, 1963. India's third research reactor, ZERLINA, was designed, engineered and built entirely by Indian personnel. It attained criticality on January 14, 1961.

A Radio Isotope Division was started at Trombay in April 1957. It produced first samples of radio isotopes in February 1958. A decision to set up a Uranium Metal Plant and a Fuel Element Fabrication Facility also at Trombay was taken in May 1956 and the first ingot of nuclear pure uranium metal was produced on January 30, 1959. Plans to build India's first atomic power station at Tarapur were announced in 1960. By 1961 the construction of a Plutonium Plant at Trombay had started.

The responsibility for expansion of medical facilities and research in cancer and several other diseases with the help of radio isotopes etc. at Tata Memorial Hospital and Indian Cancer Research Centre was taken over by the Department, in February 1962. On August 9 in the same year, the Nangal Heavy Water Plant went into production. A new Atomic Energy Act came into force in September 1962. The decision to build a second atomic power station at Rana Pratap Sagar (Kota), and the third one at Kalpakkam, Tamil Nadu was also taken during this year. In December, 1963, an agreement was signed with Canada regarding the Rajasthan Atomic Power Station. In August, 1964 the Plutonium plant was completed and in May of the same year, a contract was signed with the International General Electric Company of United States regarding Tarapur Station. The year 1964 marked the end of phase II (extending between 1956-1964) which saw the development of know-how and technology for the country's nuclear power programme.

The Indian Rare Earths Limited took over the operations of the atomic minerals sand industry in January, 1965 and in June of the same year the Atomic Energy Commission decided to set up a Nuclear Fuel Complex at Hyderabad to make the country self-sufficient in fuel elements required for future power reactors. In April, 1966, the construction of a Food Irradiation and Processing Laboratory commenced at Trombay with a view to use atomic energy for the preservation of foods of economic importance. The Atomic Energy Establishment at Trombay was renamed as 'Bhabha Atomic Research Centre' (BARC) in memory of the late Dr. Bhabha on January 12, 1967. The Electronics Corporation of India Ltd., was established at Hyderabad in April of the same year. Another industrial unit under the Department, the Uranium Corporation of India Limited, was formed in October 1967 with the responsibility for the development of the uranium mine and mill at Jaduguda, Bihar. Both the mine and the mill were commissioned during the next year. In November 1968, the Atomic Energy Commission decided to set up the second heavy water plant at Kota in Rajasthan.

It was decided that research and development regarding plutonium-based reactors will be conducted at the Reactor Research Centre to be set up at Kalpakkam in Tamil Nadu. An agreement between the Department of Atomic Energy and the Commissariat A l' Energie Atomique (CEA), France, regarding the 15 MWe Fast Breeder Test Reactor which will form a part of the Reactor Research Centre was signed on April 11, 1969. Both the reactors of the Tarapur Atomic Power Station reached criticality by the end of February, 1969 and the plant commenced commercial production of nuclear power on October 3, 1969. The Tarapur Atomic Power Station was dedicated to the nation by the Prime Minister on January 19, 1970. Contracts were signed with the French Consortium GELPRA in September 1969 and April 1971 for the setting up of two further heavy water plants at Vadodara in Gujarat and Tuticorin in Tamil Nadu respectively. Some of the units of the Nuclear Fuel Complex at Hyderabad were also commissioned during 1971. With an aim to develop the application of atomic energy in agriculture, a Nuclear Agricultural Laboratory was inaugurated by the Prime Minister in New Delhi on November 2, 1971. The Zero Energy Fast Reactor Purnima entirely designed, engineered and constructed by BARC scientists attained criticality on May 22, 1972. The first unit of the Rajasthan Atomic Power Station reached criticality in August of the same year. The decision to set up the country's fourth nuclear power station at Narora in Uttar Pradesh was also announced in 1972.

The first unit of the Rajasthan Atomic Power Station went into commercial operation in Dec. 1973. Construction work on the Narora project was initiated in Jan. 1974. ISOMED, the radiation sterilisation plant for medical production, was also commissioned during Jan. 1974.

Nuclear Explosion : The country conducted its first peaceful underground nuclear explosion at Pokhran in the Rajasthan desert on May 18, 1974.

Future Programme : Commissioning by 1985 of 2700 MWe nuclear power ; design and construction of prototype and commercial fast breeder reactors ; augmentation of heavy water production ; development of gas centrifuge and other technologies for uranium enrichment ; and all round strengthening of support facilities. This includes development of the Narwapahar uranium mines and facilities for extraction of uranium from low-grade ores, creation of adequate facilities for reprocessing irradiated fuel and for recovery of valuable by-products, and widespread application of isotopes in industry, for food preservation, medicine, agriculture and research.

Administrative set-up : The development and control of atomic energy in India is regulated by the Atomic Energy Act (Act No. 33 of 1962) and the Department of Atomic Energy handles all business of the Government of India relating to atomic energy and functions of the Central Government under the Act.

The Atomic Energy Commission is responsible for (a) formulating the policy of the Department of Atomic Energy, (b) preparing the budget of the Department for each financial year and getting it approved by the Government, and (c) implementing Government's policy in all matters concerning atomic energy.

The scientific and technical work of the Department is carried out by the Atomic Minerals Division and the Bhabha Atomic Research Centre at Trombay near Bombay and the Reactor Research Centre, Kalpakkam, Tamil Nadu.

Atomic Minerals Division : The Atomic Minerals Division of the Department of Atomic Energy has been carrying out exploration for minerals prescribed under the Atomic Energy Act in different parts of India. One of the results of this effort has been the discovery of a number of uranium deposits in the Thrust Belt in Singhbhum district, Bihar. Of these the uranium deposit at Jaduguda is already being mined by the Uranium Corporation of India Limited, a public sector undertaking of the Department of Atomic Energy. The mill attached to the mine treats 1,000 tonnes of ore per day. The other important deposits being developed underground are those of Narwapahar and Bhatin, while a third deposit which promises to be a large-sized one and which has been recently discovered and is currently under investigation is that at Turamdih. A number of comparatively smaller deposits occur at Bagjata and Kanyaluka. The occurrences of uranium in the mountainous terrain of Himachal Pradesh and Uttar Pradesh as well as indication of uranium in Madhya Pradesh are under investigation. A few deposits are also known in Rajasthan but they are comparatively small. Significant uranium values have also been found in certain parts of the phosphorite deposit at Mussoorie.

The present overall indicated and inferred reserves of uranium are estimated at about 63,500 short tons (57,727 tonnes) of uranium oxide in addition to about 12,600 short tons (11,455 tonnes) of uranium oxide estimated to be present in monazite in coastal and inland placer sand deposits in India.

Some of the beach sand deposits of Kerala, Tamil Nadu and Orissa as well as inland placer deposits of Bihar and West Bengal contain monazite, ilmenite, leucoxene, rutile, sillimanite, kyanite etc. The reasonably assured resources of monazite are of the order of 3·8 million tonnes estimated to contain about 0·343 million tonnes of thorium oxide.

The estimated reserves of ilmenite in the country are placed at 133·76 million tonnes. Some of the important beach deposits in Kerala and Tamil Nadu are being exploited for ilmenite and other associated minerals.

Bhabha Atomic Research Centre, Trombay : The Bhabha Atomic Research Centre (BARC), is India's principal centre for research in and development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

The centre with a staff of nearly 10,998, composed of 2,544 Scientific, 4,480 technical, 1,287 administrative and 1,908 general maintenance and auxiliary staff is the largest single scientific establishment in the country.

Every year about 150 science and engineering graduates are recruited and given intensive training at the centre for one year prior to being absorbed in the various projects of the Atomic Energy Department.

RESEARCH REACTORS

Apsara : The first nuclear research reactor in Asia, outside the USSR, attained criticality on August 4, 1956. It is an enriched uranium light water moderated and cooled pool type reactor. The reactor is designed for a maximum power level of 1 mw.

A number of experimental facilities have been provided in the reactor which has proved to be extremely useful for fundamental and applied research in basic sciences and engineering, radioisotope production and training of personnel.

Cirus : (formerly known as CIR) is India's second research reactor, built as a joint Indo-Canadian project under the Colombo Plan. The reactor attained criticality on July 10, 1960.

Cirus is a natural uranium heavy water moderated and light water cooled high flux research reactor with a terminal power of 40,000 kw. The reactor is used for basic and applied research in physics, chemistry, biology, metallurgy, reactor technology and for the production of large quantities of high activity radioisotopes. It is also used for the training of personnel for future reactor programmes.

Zerlina : is India's third research reactor. It is a zero energy reactor for lattice investigations and new assembly studies. The reactor attained criticality on January 14, 1961 with a natural uranium — heavy water loading. The reactor is being extensively used for physics experiments and studies of uranium — heavy water lattices.

R-5 Project : A 100 MW thermal reactor using natural uranium and heavy water is to be built.

Purnima: is the country's first experimental fast reactor. It uses plutonium oxide as fuel. It attained criticality on May 22, 1972.

Besides being used for the training of personnel in the operation of plutonium fuelled fast reactors, experiments will be carried out with this facility to measure certain nuclear parameters which will enable scientists to design and develop the core of the pulsed Fast Reactor to be constructed near Kalpakkam, Tamil Nadu, as a part of the Reactor Research Centre.

The natural uranium fuel elements for Cirus and Zerlina and the plutonium oxide fuel elements for Purnima are fabricated in Trombay.

Fuel Element Fabrication Facility : This facility went into operation in June 1959. It now fully meets the fuel element requirements of both Cirus and Zerlina. The present capacity of this plant is about 30 to 40 tonnes of fuel elements per year. The nuclear grade uranium is produced in the uranium metal plant at Trombay.

A good deal of development work has been carried out in the existing facility for the fabrication of power reactor fuel elements, which consist of sintered uranium oxide pellets clad in zircaloy.

A beginning has also been made in the development and production of thorium oxide and thorium metal fuel elements in the facilities at BARC.

Plutonium Plant : The plutonium plant went into operation at Trombay in 1964, for processing the fuel elements irradiated at Cirus. It is being modified and expanded to process the spent fuels from the R-5 reactor also. The plant basically meant for the separation and recovery of plutonium and fission products from irradiated uranium, has given the necessary data and experience on the basis of which a bigger fuel reprocessing plant is being built at Tarapur. This is expected to be completed by the end of 1975.

A pilot-plant has also been designed, built and being successfully operated at Trombay for reprocessing thorium oxide and metal fuel elements irradiated at Cirus to recover uranium-233, the future nuclear fuel.

Electronic Instruments and Components : Electronics is vital to the development of nuclear energy. Reliable instrumentation is essential for the safe operation of reactors, remote sensing and assessment of highly radioactive materials, and identification of isotopes. The Electronics Division of BARC is designing and fabricating nuclear and other instrumentation required for the Indian atomic energy programme. The control systems for the research reactors Apsara and Zerlina were fabricated by this group. It has designed equipment for contamination and area monitoring, and health equipment for Cirus, fuel reprocessing plant and the radiological laboratories at Trombay. The Division has also fabricated and supplied instruments for the environmental laboratory at Tarapur. Besides, it has supplied a number of nuclear instruments for universities, and other institutions using radiation sources, and radioisotopes.

Isotope Laboratory : A large number of radiopharmaceuticals, biochemicals and labelled organic and inorganic compounds are being produced in this laboratory. Iridium-192 radiography units and gamma irradiators containing cobalt-60 are now being manufactured and supplied to various hospitals and industrial units. At present some 350 radioactive products are made available for a wide variety of uses in India, and some are exported abroad. The sale value of radioisotopes, equipment and services rendered totalled Rs. 5·60 million including Rs. 0·23 million in exports during the year 1973-74.

Food Technology : Radiation provides an effective means for food preservation through control of food-borne spoilage organisms, eradication of pests in stored grains and by retarding physiological processes such as ripening and sprouting. The programmes of research at Trombay in this field are aimed at developing procedures for preservation of foods of economic importance using gamma radiation. Promising observations relate to (i) radiation disinfestation of stored grains, (ii) inhibition of sprouting in onions and potatoes, (iii) delayed ripening of mangoes and bananas, and (iv) extension of shelf-life of sea foods.

Radiation has also been used to induce mutations. Several mutants of economic importance have been obtained in rice and groundnut, and these have been tried in various parts of the country and have given excellent results.

For carrying out research in food technology, Trombay has a 5.66 hectares cultivable area for experimental crops, a 2.42 hectare field with the gamma source, controlled growth chambers and a glass house.

Health and Safety : The Department of Atomic Energy is responsible for country-wide radiation safety. The work on health and safety aspects of all installations carrying out atomic energy operations is managed by BARC in accordance with the requirements of the Atomic Energy Act, 1962. This is achieved by posting safety staff for supervision and advice, along with operational staff to cover both radiation and industrial aspects of safety at all installations. Through a country-wide net work of stations, measurements of fall-outs from nuclear tests are also being made. Samples of milk, food, rain water etc. collected from all over the country are being analysed for their radioactivity.

The Division of Radiological Protection is conducting a country-wide film badge service for persons working with radiation sources. The service now covers nearly 1,975 institutions and some 32,000 radiation workers. The Directorate also conducts a one year post-graduate course in radiological physics. It does research and development in fields such as hospital physics, radiation dosimetry and instrumentation, radiation applications and radiation bio-physics. The Division is responsible for the formulation and promulgation under the Atomic Energy Act of various rules and regulations relating to radiation safety.

Central Workshops : A manufacturing facility for the production of specialised equipments and apparatus for the country's atomic energy programme, which cannot be readily undertaken by the commercial under-takings in India, have been set up at Trombay. The workshops are fabricating equipment for the Rajasthan Atomic Power Project and other projects, resulting in savings in cost and foreign exchange. The workshops also undertake the fabrication of the two-stage "Centaure" rockets for the Indian Space Research Organisation.

Other Facilities : The facilities at BARC include a 400 channel analyser for the analysis of nuclear data, a 5·5 Mev. Van de Graaff accelerator, a H-400 Honeywell computer system, a large size Russian Computer BESM-6. A 224 cm Variable Energy Cyclotron is being set up near Calcutta by BARC as a national facility. The Technical Physics Division at BARC designs and fabricates vacuum equipment, mass spectrometers, electron beam and sintering furnaces for handling nuclear materials and different types of solid state radiation detectors. A Seismic Station has also been set up at Gauribidanur, near Bangalore to record earthquakes and to detect nuclear explosions in the atmosphere as well as underground.

INDUSTRIAL OPERATIONS

Electronics Corporation of India Ltd., Hyderabad : Formed in April 1967, the corporation took over the activities of the Electronics Production Unit of the Bhabha Atomic Research Centre with a view to producing on a commercial scale a variety of nuclear instruments, control equipment, electronic components etc. developed at BARC. The company has successfully developed a fully transistorised closed circuit TV system and is marketing a commercial TV set developed by it. The company earned a net profit of Rs. 11·34 million in 1972-73.

Rare Earths Plant, Alwaye and Thorium Plant, Trombay : See under "Government Industrial Undertakings".

Uranium Corporation of India Ltd. : This company formed in October, 1967, has its registered office in Jaduguda, Bihar. It is responsible for developing the uranium mine and for the operation of the uranium mill at Jaduguda. The mill at present treats about 1,000 tonnes of ore per day. During 1972-73 it earned a net profit of Rs. 1·72 million.

Mineral Sand Industry : Indian Rare Earths Ltd. is currently operating two plants, one at Manavalakurichi, Tamil Nadu and another at Chavara, Kerala for the separation of ilmenite, monazite, rutile, zircon, leucoxene, garnet and sillimanite.

Heavy Water Plants: The first heavy water plant at Nangal is producing 14·1 tonnes per annum of nuclear grade heavy water since August, 1962. A second plant with a capacity of 100 tonnes of heavy water per year is being built at Kota, Rajasthan. Three other plants, one, at Vadodara with a capacity of 67 tonnes per year, another at Tuticorin with a capacity of 71 tonnes per year and a third at Talcher, Orissa with a capacity of 63 tonnes per year are under construction. All the plants are expected to be commissioned by mid 1976.

Nuclear Fuel Complex, Hyderabad: Based on the development work carried out at BARC, a nuclear fuel complex has been set up at Hyderabad for the fabrication of fuel elements for nuclear power reactors under construction and being planned. This facility covers the entire range of operations from raw material concentrates to finished fuel element assemblies and other reactor fuel components. The complex consists of a uranium oxide plant, a zirconium plant, a ceramic fuel fabrication plant and a special materials plant. A stainless steel seamless tube plant and a titanium pilot plant are also being set up.

NUCLEAR POWER

The 420 MWe nuclear power station at Tarapur is being operated as a commercial undertaking since Oct. 3, 1969. The station consists of two reactors of the boiling water type, and was built by the General Electric Company of U.S.A. under a turn-key contract. Nuclear power began to flow from the station when it became operational at 8-15 p.m. on April 1, 1969. By February, 28, 1974, the station had generated over 7,583 million units of electricity.

Two other atomic power stations are under construction in the country. The Rajasthan Atomic Power station (being built with Canadian assistance) at Rana Pratap Sagar near Kota will have a capacity of 430 MWe. The first unit of this station attained criticality on August 11, 1972. It is now operating at a power level of about 150 MWe. It commenced commercial operation on Dec. 16, 1973.

The other station being built at Kalpakkam near Madras will have a capacity of 470 MWe. The Kalpakkam station is being built entirely by Indians with about 80 per cent indigenous content. A Reactor Research Centre is being set up near the Madras Atomic Power Station. It will carry out studies in fast reactor technology. It will also have as an experimental facility a pulsed fast reactor.

The construction of the Fourth nuclear power station at Narora in U.P. was inaugurated by the Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi, on Jan., 13, 1974. It will have two atomic reactors of 235 m.w. each and will deliver 440 m.w. electricity to the northern power grid when completed.

Nuclear Research Establishments: The Tata Institute of Fundamental Research is the National Centre for advanced study and fundamental research in nuclear science and mathematics and consists of a school of physics and a school of mathematics.

The Institute is the largest centre for cosmic ray research in India. Its school of mathematics is internationally reputed and recognised. Its areas of research activity include molecular biology, microwave engineering, solid state electronics and computer technology, besides fundamental research in nuclear physics, geophysics, chemical physics and solid state physics. It houses, as a national facility, an advanced and modern computer CDC 3600-160A. It also has a one MeV Cascade Generator. A large radiotelescope is also in operation at Ootacamund for lunar occultation studies of radio sources.

Another important institution conducting research in nuclear physics is the Saha Institute of Nuclear Physics, Calcutta.

A high altitude research laboratory is functioning at an altitude of 2,700 metres at Gulmarg in Kashmir.

Two other units under the administrative control of the Department are the Radiation Medicine Centre and the Tata Memorial Centre in Bombay.

Considerable fundamental research in nuclear sciences is also being conducted at various universities and research institutions all over India with financial assistance from the Department of Atomic Energy.

August — Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) set up.

1954

January — AEC details to set up Atomic Energy Establishment, Trombay. August — Department of Atomic Energy created.

1955

1956

April — Formal agreement for CIRUS signed in New Delhi. May — Decision to set up Uranium Metal Plant and Fuel Element Fabrication Facility Project (Faggots) taken. August — Apsarabecomes critical.

1957

January — Atomic Energy Establishment at Trombay inaugurated by the then Prime Minister, Shri Jawaharlal Nehru.

1958

August — Planning Commission approves the building of India's first atomic power station at Tarapur.

1959

1960

February — First lot of ten fuel elements produced at Fuel Element Fabrication Facility. March — AEC decides to build an Uranium Mill at Jaduguda. May — Erection of ZERLINA begins. July — CIRUS reaches criticality. August — Site for the first atomic power station (Tarapur) announced.

1961

January — ZERLINA reaches critically. March — Construction of Plutonium Plant begins.

1962

August — Decision to build second atomic power station at Rana Pratap Sagar taken. Heavy Water Plant at Nangal goes into production. September — Atomic Energy Act 1962 comes into force. December — Kalpakkam selected as site for third atomic power station.

1963

August — Indo-US bilateral agreement regarding Tarapur Atomic Power Station.

1964

February — Plutonium Plant completed. May — Signing of contract with International General Electric Company regarding Tarapur Station. August — First irradiated fuel rod from CIRUS charged into the Plutonium Plant. October — Work starts on the construction of the Tarapur Atomic Power Station.

1965

January — Formal inauguration of the Plutonium Plant by the then Prime Minister, Mr. Lal Bahadur Shastri. June — AEC decides to set up the Nuclear Fuel Complex at Hyderabad. December — Agreement between India and Canada regarding the second unit of the Rajasthan Atomic Power Station.

1966

April — Construction of the Food Irradiation and Processing Laboratory (FIPLY) at BARC begins.

1967

January — Atomic Energy Establishment Trombay renamed Bhabha Atomic Research Centre. April — Electronics Corporation of India Limited established. October — Uranium Corporation of India Ltd., formed.

1968

May — Uranium Mill at Jaduguda commissioned for commercial production. November — Uranium Mine at Jaduguda commissioned. AEC decides to set up a Heavy Water plant at Kota, Rajasthan.

1969

February — Both the reactors of Tarapur Atomic Power Station become critical. April — Agreement between DAE and Commissariat a l' Energie Atomique (CEA). France regarding the Fast Breeder Test Reactor at Kalpakkam, Tamil Nadu. June — Variable Energy Cyclotron (VEC) Project starts. August & September — Two agreements with the French consortium, GELPRA. for the Vadodara Heavy Water Plant. October — Work commences on the Vadodara Plant. Tarapur Atomic Power Station attains full commercial operation.

1970

January — Tarapur Atomic Power Station dedicated to the nation by the Prime Minister, Shrimati Indira Gandhi. August — Work on Kota Heavy Water Plant begins. September — Uranium 233 successfully separated from irradiated thorium for the first time at Trombay.

1971

April — Contract signed with the French consortium, GELPRA, for the Tuticorin Heavy Water Plant. May — Work commences on Tuticorin Plant. Zirconium Oxide Plant at Nuclear Fuel Complex, Hyderabad, commissioned. Sanction given by the Government of India for the second unit of the Madras Atomic Power Station. September — Zirconium Sponage Plant at NFC commissioned. October — Radiation Protection Regulations promulgated. November — Nuclear Agricultural Laboratory inaugurated in New Delhi by Shrimati Indira Gandhi.

1972

April — AEC decides to set up the fifth Heavy Water Plant at Talcher, Orissa. May — Zero Energy Fast Reactor at Trombay goes operational. August — First reactor of Rajasthan Atomic Power Plant attains criticality.

1973

December — First Unit of Rajasthan Atomic Power Station goes into commercial production.

1974

January — Construction work for Narora Nuclear Power Station is inaugurated. Plant for radiation sterilisation of medical products commissioned. May — First peaceful underground nuclear explosion conducted in Rajasthan desert.

SPACE RESEARCH

THE Indian Space Programme started around the year 1962 when the Indian National Committee for Space Research (INCOSPAR) was formed by the Department of Atomic Energy of the Government of India. In 1969 the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) was created by the Department of Atomic Energy for the purpose of planning, managing and executing the nation's growing activities in Space Science, Space Technology and Space Applications.

The Government of India established a Space Commission in June, 1972, to advise the Government on all policy matters regarding the nation's space activities and simultaneously, a Department of Space was also set up for the financial, inter-departmental, inter-ministerial and international support to the space programmes undertaken by ISRO.

The Space Commission, the Department of Space and the Indian Space Research Organisation have their Headquarters in Bangalore. Professor S. Dhawan is the Secretary to the Government of India in the Department of Space and the Chairman of the Space Commission and the Indian Space Research Organisation.

A complex of establishments of the Indian Space Research Organisation has grown near Trivandrum, which is engaged in the development of sophisticated space technology. Named after the late Dr. Vikram Sarabhai, the Vikram Sarabhai Space Centre (VSSC) near Trivandrum includes the Space Science and Technology Centre, the Thumba Equatorial Rocket Launching Station, the Rocket Propellant Plant, the Rocket Fabrication Facility and the Propellant Fuel Complex.

The Thumba Equatorial Rocket Launching Station is a United Nations sponsored rocket range, used to launch rockets for conducting experiments using the sounding rockets with the objective of improving the understanding of the equatorial ionosphere, electrojet, properties of the neutral upper atmosphere and the X-ray omissions from galactic X-ray sources.

The Space Science and Technology Centre is engaged in research and development work in the field of propellants, sounding rockets, satellite launching vehicles, control and guidance systems, on-board and ground electronics to support rockets and satellite missions.

The Rocket Propellant Plant and the Rocket Fabrication Facility have been commissioned for the production of solid propellant blocks and various kinds of rockets respectively. The Propellant Fuel Complex will produce some of the special materials required for the processing of propellants.

The Satellite Launching Station is being built up in Sriharikota near Nellore District of Andhra Pradesh. On the Sriharikota island, in addition to the launching complex all supporting establishments for the satellite launching station are being set up. Some of them include the test and evaluation facilities planned for the production of solid propellants and the static test and evaluation complex for making static tests of rocket motors at sea level and at simulated high altitudes.

The Space Applications Centre, Ahmedabad, is engaged in various areas of work in space applications.

The centre has undertaken work on satellite communications, remote sensing of earth resources and weather studies by meteorological satellites. The main project of this centre is the Satellite Instructional Television Experiment, a collaborative India-USA experiment which aims at demonstrating the use of satellite television for national development. This project is expected to be followed up by a domestic satellite system for nationwide television and tele-communication.

The fabrication work of the Indian Scientific Satellite is in progress in Bangalore where a 300 kg satellite is being constructed. This wholly Indian designed and fabricated satellite is expected to be launched by the end of 1974 from the territory of the Soviet Union with the help of a Soviet launch vehicle.

This satellite, in addition to the satellite systems will carry three scientific experiments for the investigation in the field of Aeronomy, X-ray Astronomy and Cosmic rays.

SOCIAL WELFARE IN INDIA

Among Tribes: To study the problems that affect tribals and to train personnel to work among them the Government of India has set up nine research institutes. These are:

Tribal Cultural Research & Training Institute, Hyderabad, Andhra Pradesh; Tribal Research Institute, Shillong, Assam; Tribal Research Institute, Ranchi, Bihar; Tribal Research & Training Centre, Gujarat Vidyapeeth, Ahmedabad, Gujarat; Tribal Research & Development Institute, Bhopal, Madhya Pradesh; The Tribal Research Institute, Pune, Maharashtra; Tribal Research Bureau, Bhubaneswar, Orissa; The Tribal Research & Training Institute, Udaipur, Rajasthan; Cultural Research Institute, Calcutta, West Bengal.

The Central Social Welfare Board (Jeevan Deep Bldg., Parliament St., New Delhi 110001): Was set up by the Government of India in August, 1953—to evaluate and sponsor its welfare programmes. Since April 1, 1969, it has been converted to a charitable company.

Chairman of Board: Shrimati Sarojini Vardappan.

The Central Bureau of Correctional Services (Block 1, Wing 7, Ground Floor, R. K. Puram, New Delhi-110022): (i) Collects and collates all India crime statistics; (ii) formulates policies for crime prevention; (iii) promotes research studies, surveys, experiments and training.

The Association for Social Health in India (4-Deendayal Upadhyaya Marg, New Delhi-110001); Set up to eradicate prostitution and other evils related to it.

Social Welfare and Rehabilitation Directorate (Jamnagar House Hutments, New Delhi-110011): Set up to tackle the problems of destitute and deserted women of Delhi and war widows.

Widows: There are 83,340,000 women in the age group 20–24. As many as 300,000 of them become widows each year according to government of India estimates. The government expects to spend Rs. 300 million during the Fourth Plan period to give them relief and assistance.

Destitute Children: According to the 1961 census there were 171,095,000 children in the age group 0–14. By 1974 this figure is expected to become 231,639,000. Planning Commission estimates show 0·5 per cent of these children to be destitutes. This means there are 1·15 million destitute children in the country of whom only 192,000 will be covered for State assistance and relief during the Fifth Plan.

Funds for Research: Funds for research in social work are available from the Indian Council of Social Science Research, New Delhi, the Dept. of Social Security and the University Grants Commission, as well as other foreign bodies such as the Social Rehabilitation Service of the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare, U.S.A.

SCHOOLS OF SOCIAL WORK

The Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Sion-Trombay Rd., Deonar, Bombay-400088; The Delhi School of Social Work, University of Delhi, University Rd., Delhi-110007; The Madras School of Social Work, Casa Major Rd., Egmore, Madras-600008; Faculty of Social Work, M. FAMILY PLANNING IN INDIA

INDIA was the first country to adopt an official policy favouring family planning in 1951. During the period of the first two Plans (1951-61), the emphasis in India was mainly on research in the field of motivation, communication, demography, physiology of reproduction and on the extension of Central and State organisations for providing clinic services. There was, therefore, very little progress in the adoption of family planning. In 1962-63 the programme was reorganised and a new "Extension Approach" was adopted. The programme is, at present, treated as an integral part of overall socio-economic development and welfare activity and not merely as an isolated birth control scheme.

Administration: A full-fledged Department of Family Planning was created in April, 1966, in the Ministry of Health and Family Planning. The department is headed by the Secretary of the Ministry and has administrative and technical wings headed by an Additional Secretary and a Commissioner respectively. There is a Family Planning Cabinet Committee presided over by the Finance Minister and the State Family Planning Cabinet Committees headed by the Chief Ministers to ensure expeditious policy clearance and better co-ordination among different administrative wings. The Central Family Planning Council is the supreme policy-making body. The Union Minister of Health presides over the Council, while all State Health Ministers and Secretaries are its members. Family Planning Councils also function at the State level.

[§] This Unit carries educational work on leprosy at Srirangam, Lalgudi, Kulittalai, Pudukottai and Ariyalur.

Camps : During the year 1971-72, mass vasectomy camps were organised on a large scale in India. The total number of camps organised during the year were 52 and 761,138 sterilisation operations were performed in the camps. In the year 1972-73 mass vasectomy camps were held in 210 districts in which two million sterilisations were performed. The policy of organising mass vasectomy camps has since been discontinued since it was feared that it could be counter-productive.

Integrated Approach : Since 1973-74 a new approach which involves integration of health, family planning, maternity and child health (MCH) activities has been adopted and multi-purpose workers are being trained to perform all the integrated tasks.

Some Associations : Voluntary organisations have been recognised to be important in the field of family planning. Some of these are : the Family Planning Association of India, Indian Medical Association of India, Central Bharat Sevak Samaj, Indian Red Cross Society, Trained Nurses Association of India, Bharatiya Gramin Mahila Sangh, Indian Council of Social Welfare, the Christian Medical Association, the Rotary Clubs, the Lions Clubs, and the Junior Chambers of Commerce etc. Many of these voluntary organisations are represented on the Central as well as on the State family planning councils.

Research : Research in demography, bio-medicine and communication is supported by the Government through suitable grants.

A high-powered committee called the Committee on Socio Economic Studies on Family Planning has been constituted to go into different aspects of the family planning programme. This committee will advise and co-ordinate research on economic, sociological, educational, psychological, communicational and demographic aspects of population growth and family planning. The Committee will also review the progress of the research work done in this field and make recommendations for development of research in these fields. It will also review the working of the research centres dealing with population studies.

The International Institute for Population Studies, Deonar, Bombay 400088 : (till recently known as Demographic Training and Research Centre) is a regional centre for the training of demographers and population experts from India and other ECAFE countries. It is supported by the United Nations and the Government of India. Apart from teaching responsibilities, the Institute has undertaken meaningful researches having a direct bearing on family planning policies.

Demographic Centres: The National Institute of Family Planning, New Delhi, is responsible for undertaking family planning researches. In addition, there are at present nine demographic research centres located at : Institute of Economic Research, Dharwar ; Department of Economics, Lucknow University, Lucknow ; Department of Statistics, Government of Kerala, Trivandrum : Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics, Poona ; Department of Statistics, M.S. University, Vadodara ; Indian Statistical Institute, Calcutta ; Institute of Economic Growth, Delhi ; Department of Statistics, University of Patna, Patna ; and Institute of Social and Economic Change Bangalore.

Researches on family planning communication action is being undertaken at the Institute of Rural Health and Family Planning, Gandhigram ; Planning Research and Action Institute, Lucknow ; Department of Statistics, Kerala University, Trivandrum ; and Indian Statistical Institute, Calcutta.

India Population Projects: Since 1973, two five-year experimental projects on family planning have been initiated. The first project covers six districts of Uttar Pradesh and the second five districts of Karnataka. These projects will be run with assistance from the International Development Association to the extent of 21·2 million dollars in the form of a loan, and 10·6 million dollar grant from the Swedish International Development Authority. The emphasis in these projects is on the implementation of a maternity-based family planning programme both in urban and rural areas. An attempt will also be made to assess the effect of supplementary nutrition on the acceptance of family planning in one district each in the two States and to develop a better system of management, information and evaluation. The implementation of the field programme has been divided into three broad categories, namely, an urban programme in the cities of Lucknow and Bangalore; an optional programme on the existing pattern in four districts of Uttar Pradesh and three districts of Karnataka; and an intensive rural programme in two districts of each of the States. A population centre is attached to each of these projects. The main function of the Centre is to carry out experimental and innovative studies in the field of family planning and to experiment with new management techniques.

Research in Reproductive Biology and Fertility Control is carried out at the Central Drug Research Institute, Lucknow; All India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi; Rajasthan University; National Institute of Family Planning, New Delhi; the Indian Institute of Sciences, Bangalore; Institute for Research in Reproduction, Bombay. The Indian Council of Medical Research provides Technical advice and co-ordination of the work in the field of medical and bio-medical research.

Training: The training of family planning instructors and key staff is undertaken by five training institutes, the National Institute of Family Planning, New Delhi; the Institute of Rural Health and Family Planning, Gandhigram; the All India Institute of Hygiene and Public Health, Calcutta; the Family Planning Training and Research Centre, Bombay; and the Central Health Education Bureau, New Delhi. Forty-six Regional Family Planning Training Centres at the State level have been sanctioned, out of which 44 are functioning at present. Each State has a Central Family Planning Field Unit which undertakes ad hoc training programmes. In order to overcome the acute shortage of Auxiliary Nurse Midwives in some States, the Family Planning Department opened 25 new ANM training schools in 1970-71, ten in Bihar, ten in Uttar Pradesh and five in Orissa.

Oral Contraceptives: The Technical Committee on Family Planning recommended in June 1971, that oral contraceptives may be tried both in urban and rural areas under some restricted conditions as an adjunct to the IUCD programme. Out of the 456 projects approved so far, 317 have been commissioned. Nine preparations for use as oral contraceptive pills have been approved by the Indian Council of Medical Research.

Progress: Since the inception of the programme 4·778 million IUCDs and 14·30 million sterilisations have been performed. The rate of IUCD insertions per 1,000 population was 8·3 and that of sterilization was 24·8. Over 120 million pieces of condoms are at present being distributed through the commercial and free distribution channels. It has been estimated that about 15·48 million couples are currently being protected as a result of the family planning programme which comes to 15·0 per cent of the reproductive couples. Corresponding percentages for sterilizations, IUCD and conventional contraceptives are 11·4, 1·3 and 2·3 respectively.

The impact of the family planning programme on the birth rate has been to reduce it from 41·7 in 1961 to 36·5 in 1972-73. This reduction has been estimated on the basis of the calculation of the number of births averted by the family planning performance. The birth rate thus estimated compares very well with the estimate of the birth rate of 37·2 per thousand population in 1971 from the Sample Registration Scheme of the Registrar General of India. It has been estimated that a total of 14·7 million births have been averted till Sept. 1973 as a result of the family planning programme in India.

District-wise Performance: A district-wise study of family planning performance in India for the period 1967-70 indicated that though the progress of family planning had not been uniform in all the stages and though some States like Punjab, Haryana, Maharashtra, Kerala, Tamil Nadu and Orissa had done better than the other States, all the districts in the better performing States had not done well, nor had all the districts in poor performing States done poorly.

Religion and Family Planning: The religion-wise distribution of sterilisation and IUCD insertions based on a 10 per cent sample of studies conducted during July 1967 — June 1968 indicates that the proportion of Muslim acceptors of sterilization and IUCD are more or less the same as the proportion of Muslims in the general population. The details are as follows:

Religion	All India Sterilized persons	IUCD acceptors	Distribution in 1971 Census
Hindu	87·0	84·6	82·7

Others	2·7	3·2	1·6
Total	100·0	100·0	100·0

New Legislations : The Medical Terminations of Pregnancy Act was passed in 1972 and is designed to substantially liberalise legal provisions to resort to abortion in cases where contraceptive fail to prevent conception. From April till Dec. 1973, 27,645 pregnancies were terminated. The Government also proposes to raise the legal minimum age of female marriage from 16 to 18 years. This measure, when brought into force, is likely to promote the trend to fertility decline. The Govt. has also taken preliminary steps to introduce population education in schools and colleges.

PUBLIC HEALTH

(For the addresses of the Research Institutes mentioned in this chapter please refer to 'Research' chapter)

HEALTH programmes are primarily the responsibility of the State Governments. The Centre is, however, directly responsible even for the State subjects in the Union Territories.

(ii) The figures for 1961-65, 1966-70 and 1971-75 are estimates based on the revised projections made by the Expert Committee appointed by the Government of India.

The Central Health Service covers all medical and public health posts under the Central Government and the Union Territories other than those under the Ministries of Railways and Defence. This service came into being with effect from January 1, 1965.

Cancer : About 425,000 people die every year from cancer in India. There are 50 general hospitals in the country where facilities for cancer treatment are available in the form of surgery, radium etc. The State-wise break-up is: Andhra Pradesh 2, Assam 4, Bihar 1, Delhi 2, Gujarat 3, Karnataka 4, Kerala 3, Maharashtra 3, Orissa 2, Punjab (including Haryana) 5, Rajasthan 4, Tamil Nadu 8, Uttar Pradesh 4, and West Bengal 4. During the Fifth Plan it is proposed to strengthen the treatment facilities by providing radio-therapy units at medical college hospitals and important district hospitals with Cobalt beam.

Research is conducted at the Cancer Research Institute, Parel, Bombay; the Cancer Institute, 110, Mount Road, Madras 600018; the Chittaranjan National Cancer Research Centre, Calcutta; Radium Institute and Cancer Hospital, Hyderabad; J. K. Institute of Radiology and Cancer Research, Kanpur; International Cancer Centre, Neyoor (Tamil Nadu) and S. N. Medical College, Agra. Field research stations for clinical facilities have also been established at Chandernagore, Hooghly, West Bengal and Madras. The Indian Council of Medical Research has started a study of cancer on cervix at the Lady Hardings Medical College and Safdarjang Hospital in New Delhi.

Cholera : Because of the continued incidence and epidemic outbursts of this disease, India has acquired the name of "the home of Cholera". The endemic areas are in the seven States of Andhra Pradesh, Bihar, Maharashtra, Karnataka, Orissa, Tamil Nadu and West Bengal. In 1972 there were 20,916 cases and 2,849 deaths. Till Nov. 1973 the member of cases were 34,972 and deaths 4,009.

An outlay of Rs. 20 million was made under the Fourth Plan. Priority is being given for provision of safe water supply and proper drainage under the National Water Supply and Sanitation Programme to the endemic areas. Preventive and surveillance measures are also being carried out. During the Fifth Plan, it is proposed to establish 54 Cholera Combat teams, one in each endemic district.

Research studies on the various aspects of cholera are being carried out at the Cholera Research Centre, Calcutta in collaboration with the WHO; the School of Tropical Medicine, Calcutta in collaboration with the Johns Hopkins University, U.S.A.; the Central Drug Research Institute, Lucknow; the Haffkine Institute, Bombay; the Central Research Institute, Kasauli, Himachal Pradesh and at the National Institute of Communicable Diseases, Delhi.

Filaria : The National Filaria Control Programme has been in operation since 1955-56. The programme consists of (i) anti-mosquito and anti-larval measures, (ii) establishment of filaria clinics for the detection and treatment of positive micro-filaria cases, (iii) provision of underground drainage in hyper-endemic cities and towns and (vi) establishment of Bureaux of Filaria at State level for prevention of filarious conditions. But, the present activities of the programme are confined only to recurrent anti-larval measures with mosquito larvicidal oil, undertaken by the Filaria Control Units.

In 1973, 136 Filaria Control Units and 12 Headquarter Bureaux were functioning in 15 States/Union Territories endemic for filariasis. These units are protecting a population of 13 million.

The headquarters of the programme is located at the National Institute of Communicable Diseases, Delhi. Training in filariology is being imparted at the Regional Filaria Training and Research Centres located each at Calicut (Kerala), Rajamundry (Andhra Pradesh) and Varanasi (Uttar Pradesh). These Centres are also responsible for the field evaluation of the programme, and researches on various aspects of filariasis.

Goitre : Endemic goitre is a nutritional deficiency disease and is prevalent in the southern slopes of the Himalayas covering a distance of 2,414 kms. About 40 million people live on this goitre belt which consists of northern parts of Jammu and Kashmir. Punjab, Haryana, Himachal Pradesh, Bihar, West Bengal, Nagaland, Arunachal Pradesh and Manipur. The persons affected with goitre are estimated to be about 8 to 10 million.

The National Goitre Control Programme was initiated in the Second Plan and has been continued in the Third, Fourth and Fifth Plans. Under the Plans, iodised salt is manufactured at three iodisation units — one each at Sambhar Lake, in Rajasthan; Kharaghoda in Gujarat; and Calcutta. It is supplied to the public at the same rate at which ordinary salt is sold.

During 1973-74, two Centre Goitre Survey Teams conducted surveys in the districts of Deoria (U.P.) and Aurangabad (Maharashtra). 83,389 tonnes of iodised salt was supplied to endemic States upto Oct. 1973.

Leprosy : It has been estimated that 372 million people in India are exposed to leprosy. Estimate of the actual cases of leprosy is about 3·1 million of which only 20 per cent cases are of the infectious type. Out of the 372 million people at risk, about 98 million have been covered and out of 3·1 million cases slightly over one million cases have been recorded and put under treatment.

Under the National Leprosy Control Programme 245 Leprosy Control Units and 1,496 Survey, Eradication and Treatment Centres have been established in the country for provision of medical facilities to leprosy patients on the domiciliary ambulatory method upto 1973-74.

The Central Leprosy Teaching and Research Institute, Chingleput (Tamil Nadu) undertakes research in the various problems concerning leprosy and promotes field studies for the application of the results of the research to control the spread of leprosy. It also functions as a centre for offering technical advice and guidance for the promotion of anti-leprosy work on sound lines. Training courses for medical officers, para-medical workers, physiotherapy technicians, laboratory technicians etc. are conducted in this Institute.

Assistance to the programme is received from the WHO and the UNICEF in the form of personnel, fellowships, transport, equipment, drugs, teaching aids and stipends for trainees.

Private organisations also take active part in controlling leprosy. These include the Leprosy Mission, Hind Kushta Nivaran Sangh (the Indian Leprosy Association), Gandhi Memorial Leprosy Foundation (for addresses refer to the chapter on 'Institutions for the Handicapped') and 3 R'Society, C/o Tata Dept. of Plastic Surgery, Balaram Bldg., J. J. Group of Hospitals, Bombay 400008.

The Reconstructive Surgery Programme is receiving increasing attention of the Government of India and leprosy patients with deformities of hands, feet and face get facilities of corrective surgery now in about 30 hospitals in India.

Malaria : India with 1,091,561 malaria cases (1972) is the worst affected country according to World Health Organisation. During 1973-74, there were 1,498,961 cases upto the end of December. The National Malaria Eradication Programme which was started in 1958-59 has entered the 16th year of its operation during 1973-74. There are at present 393·25 NMEP units functioning in the country covering a population of 535 million. The remaining 20 million population reside in areas which were never malaria endemic.

The incidence of the disease which used to be 75 million cases per year in 1952 i.e., 200,000 cases in a million population has been reduced to about 0·6 million cases in 1971 i.e., about 1,300 cases in a million population. The malaria mortality which was estimated in 1952 to be 0·75 million deaths or 2,000 deaths in a million population has become an extreme rarity.

The programme is being implemented by the Union Government with the active participation of the State Governments as well as with the assistance of the World Health Organisation. The National Institute for Communicable Diseases is responsible for research and field investigations and for the training of unit medical officers and district health officers in methods of malaria eradication. Other categories of health personnel are trained by the regional co-ordinating organisations established at Bangalore, Vadodara, Bhubaneswar, Hyderabad, Lucknow and Shillong. With a view to controlling inter-country transmission of malaria, the first Bangla Desh, Burma and India Malaria Eradication Coordination Conference was held in Rangoon in Jan.-Feb., 1973. Likewise unit Officers of India and Burma met in Imphal in Nov. 1973.

Mental Diseases : At present there are 38 mental hospitals with accommodation for about 25,000 patients. About 1 million Indians suffer from mental sickness (1971).

The incidence of mental illness is on the increase because of increased stresses and strains of modern life. It is proposed to establish 50 psychiatric clinics in the medical colleges during the Fifth Plan. The following is a list of mental hospitals in India :

Andhra Pradesh : Government Mental Hospital, Waltair; Hospital for Mental Diseases, Hyderabad. Assam : Mental Hospital, Tezpur. Bihar : Hospital for Mental Diseases, Ranchi; Ranchi Manasika Arogya Shala, Ranchi. Delhi : Mental Hospital, Delhi. Goa : Mental Hospital, Panaji, Goa. Gujarat : Mental Hospital, Ahmedabad; Mental Hospital, Vadodara; Mental Hospital, Bhavnagar; Mental Hospital, Bhuj; Mental Hospital, Jamnagar. Jammu and Kashmir: Mental Hospital, Srinagar. Karnataka : Government Mental Hospital, Bangalore; Government Mental Hospital, Dharwar. Kerala : Mental Hospital, Trivandrum; Mental Hospital, Trichur; Mental Hospital, Calicut. Madhya Pradesh: Mental Hospital, Indore; Mental Hospital, Gwalior. Maharashtra : Mental Hospital, Thana; Mental Hospital, Ratnagiri; Central Mental Hospital, Yeravada; Mental Hospital, Nagpur; Private Hospital, Miraj. Orissa : Orissa Red Cross Mental Health Institute, Cuttack. Punjab : Mental Hospital, Amritsar. Rajasthan : Mental Hospital, Jaipur; Mental Hospital, Jodhpur. Tamil Nadu : Government Mental Hospital, Madras. Uttar Pradesh : Mental Hospital, Varanasi; Mental Hospital, Agra; Mental Hospital, Bareilly; Nur Manzil Psychiatric Centre, Lucknow. West Bengal : Mental Observation Ward, Calcutta; Lumbini Park Mental Hospital, 24-Parganas; Bangya Unmad Ashram, Calcutta; Mental Hospital, Calcutta; Bodhi Peet Mental Hospital, Calcutta; Mental Hospital, Mankundu, Hooghly.

There are at present 51 institutions (25 Government and 26 private) for the Mentally retarded and the Mentally handicapped. The major centres are in : Chandigarh (1), Uttar Pradesh (5), Karnataka (2), Maharashtra (19), Tamil Nadu (1), Madhya Pradesh (1), Kerala (1), Gujarat (3), Delhi (7), Bihar (2) and Andhra Pradesh (2).

The All-India Institute of Mental Health, Bangalore was established in September, 1954, for imparting post-graduate training and research in mental health and other disciplines of neuro-sciences.

This is an autonomous organisation financed by the Government of India and conducts the following post-graduate courses : (i) M.D. degree in Psychological Medicine; (ii) M.Ch. degree in Neurosurgery; (iii) D.M. degree in Neurology; (iv) Diploma in Psychological Medicine (DPM); (v) Diploma in Medical and Social Psychology (DM & SP); (vi) Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology; and (vii) Diploma in Psychiatric Social Work (DPSW). The Institute is affiliated to the Bangalore University for post-graduate courses. Post-certificate course in Psychiatric Nursing (DPN) is also conducted at the Institute. This diploma is recognised by the Government of India and the Indian Nursing Council.

Smallpox : As a result of the intense campaign, the number of smallpox cases and deaths declined considerably during 1968 to 1971. But since then there has been a rise in the incidence. 27,407 cases were recorded in 1972, an increase of 68 per cent over the total in 1971. In 1973, 79,904 smallpox cases and 14,001 deaths were reported. About 94 per cent of the cases are reported from four States namely Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, West Bengal and Bihar.

1967	83,943	26,225
1973	77,904	14,001

For many States, the increase reflects more effective surveillance activities and the discovery of many cases which previously would not have been reported. In addition, since April the reporting system itself has been steadily improved. Smallpox is now principally confined to 66 of India's 358 districts. About 76 per cent cases have been reported from these districts which are located in four States. The principal foci are in north-central and north-east India in the States of West Bengal, Uttar Pradesh, Bihar and Madhya Pradesh. A separate focus is present in Jammu and Kashmir where major epidemics are now occurring following introduction of the disease in spring of 1972 from other parts of India. The maximum cases of smallpox have been registered in the months April and May followed by March, February, January and December. Minimum cases have been registered in the month of October followed by September, August, July and June.

During 1972-73, 26·96 million primary and 90·47 million re-vaccinations were performed. During 1973-74, 958 million primary and 33·74 million re-vaccinations have been done till Sept. 1973. During the Fifth Plan period, the annual target will be 5 per cent of the population for primary and 20 per cent for re-vaccination.

Trachoma : Trachoma infection is highly endemic in the States of Punjab including Haryana (79·1 per cent), Rajasthan (74·3 per cent), Uttar Pradesh (68·1 per cent), and Gujarat (56·0 per cent). The States of Madhya Pradesh (41·3 per cent), Bihar (35·0 per cent), Assam (25·2 per cent) and Karnataka (22·6 per cent) are considered to be moderately endemic areas where the prevalence is more than 20 per cent but less than 50 per cent. The low endemic areas where the prevalence is noted to be under 20 per cent are the States of Jammu and Kashmir (16·8 per cent), Maharashtra (11·3 per cent), Kerala (8·7 per cent), Andhra Pradesh (5·3 per cent), Tamil Nadu (4·6 per cent), Orissa (2·7 per cent) and West Bengal (0·5 per cent).

About 4·5 million persons are estimated to be blind in India in comparison to the total world estimate of about 15 million. Trachoma and associated infections constitute the most important cause of preventible blindness.

The National Trachoma Control Programme was undertaken in 1963. The programme is being implemented in Punjab, Haryana, Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh and Gujarat and on a limited scale in Madhya Pradesh, Bihar, Karnataka and Jammu & Kashmir.

Of the 329·3 million population at risk in 3,576 blocks/Primary Health Centres in the Country, 110·66 million population in 1,314 blocks/Primary Health Centres have been covered under the programme. Additional 72·03 million population in 801 blocks/PHCs. is proposed to be covered during 1973-75.

Influenza : An Influenza Centre was opened in 1950 at the Pasteur Institute, Coonoor, Tamil Nadu, to undertake study of and research in problems relating to influenza. The centre co-operates with the World Influenza Centre, London and other influenza centres organized by the WHO in different parts of the world.

Diabetes : The urban population in the country is more prone to diabetes than its counterparts in rural areas. On a rough estimate at the end of 1972 about 5·5 million people were suffering from diabetes in India. Of them, urban area's share was 3·3 million.

Tuberculosis : There are at present 547 TB clinics in the country including 278 upgraded District T.B. Centres. Approximately, 39,500 T.B. beds have been established. There are 15 TB Demonstration and Training Centres.

According to World Health Organisation about two million infectious cases of tuberculosis (1972) have been reported in India. It is estimated that the number of active cases is nearly 8 million. About 3,000 towns and urban areas and 600,000 villages are affected by tuberculosis. The Government of India proposes to have one BCG team in every district. The 300 BCG teams currently functioning in various States and Union Territories have vaccinated some 155 million people and tuberculin tests have been done on another 251·5 million.

The National Tuberculosis Institute of India, established by the Government of India in 1959 is responsible for formulating and continuous evaluation of India's National Tuberculosis Programme. It carries out applied research in Tuberculosis Epidemiology, Bacteriology and BCG Vaccination, Sociological Studies as well as operation Research. This institute also arranges for the training of tuberculosis programme workers. There are two more research institutions at Madanapalle, Andhra Pradesh and Tamil Nadu. Training is also imparted at other institutions, such as Vallabhbhai Patel Chest Institute, Delhi.

Anti-TB drugs are being procured and supplied by the Government of India to voluntary organisations which operate TB clinics and supply such drugs free of charge to TB patients under their care. A target of 75 district T.B. Centres and 3,500 isolated beds have been fixed for the Fifth Plan.

Venereal Diseases : India has an estimated 20 million people suffering from V.D.; which comes to nearly 20 per cent of the reproductive age group population. About 5 per cent of the total population suffers from syphilis and an equal percentage from gonorrhoea. Yaws is prevalent in a few districts of Andhra Pradesh, Orissa, Madhya Pradesh and Maharashtra.

V. D. control schemes are sponsored by the Union Government, which gives all the money needed to the States and Union Territories. In India, only 39 V. D. clinics exist, whilst some hospitals have special wards for V. D. patients. A mobile V.D. Unit at Safdarjang Hospital, N. Delhi has started functioning since July 1973. Sufficient quantity of VDRL antigen is produced in the country.

Training facilities are available in the V. D. Training Centre, Safdarjang Hospital, New Delhi and the Institute of Venereology, Government General Hospital, Madras. Apart from these institutions, few colleges have a venereological department.

Air Pollution : The atmospheric pollution in cities like Delhi, Calcutta, Bombay and Kanpur has increased between 50 and 100 per cent since 1957. This affects the health of the people. The Central Public Health Engineering Research Institute, Nagpur is studying the effects of air pollution in Bombay. A national network of sampling for air quality has been set up in nine cities (viz. Delhi, Calcutta, Madras, Kanpur, Bombay, Ahmedabad, Hyderabad, Jaipur and Nagpur).

The Union Government has set up an expert committee to study the general problem of air pollution in the country and to suggest ways and means including a draft legislation to control them. Government of India has decided to set up many stations to measure air pollution in all major cities. A beginning would be made with 10 of them being located in schools or colleges of Delhi with the help of teachers.

National Water Supply and Sanitation Programme: This programme was launched in 1954. During the three plan periods and three annual Plans, about 418,700 new wells were constructed and 304,000 new hand-operated tube wells were bored. In addition about 554,000 old wells were renovated.

The Fourth Plan outlay for the national water supply and sanitation programme was placed at Rs. 4,105·3 million for the States and Union Territories. The Plan envisages the following priorities for execution of water supply and sanitation programme : (i) Completion of schemes under execution; (ii) Schemes for controlling water borne and filth borne diseases in endemic areas; (iii) Schemes in drought and scarcity areas; and (iv) Schemes to push up economic prosperity.

The programme also provides for the training of public health engineering personnel. The training programme is being implemented at the Victoria Jubilee Technical Institute, Matunga, Bombay 400019, the All India Institute of Hygiene and Public Health, Calcutta, the Engineering College, Guindy, Tamil Nadu and the Engineering College, Roorkee, Uttar Pradesh. The Central Public Health Engineering Organisation (C/o Min. of Health and Fly. Plng.) has been set up for helping State Governments in the preparation and execution of their schemes and for giving technical advice and guidance. Similar organisations have also been established in most of the States.

HEALTH EDUCATION: The Central Health Education Bureau at Temple Lane, Kotla Road, New Delhi 110001, established in November 1956, co-ordinates and promotes health education in the country through Health Education Bureau established in 15 States and 5 Union Territories.

The Bureau conducts a one-year Diploma in Health Education under the auspices of the University of Delhi and conducts in-service training programmes for health and family planning education personnel. It conducts behavioural research on health aspects and develops health education curricula for different age-groups and teacher training. The Bureau organises exhibitions, maintains a film library and produces education and publicity materials for National Health Programmes.

Publications : The Central Health Education Bureau publishes monthly journals Swasth Hindi (English) and Arogya Sandesh (Hindi) for general readers and Director General of Health Services Chronicle for medical personnel. It also produces health education material — folders, pamphlets, posters, filmstrips, etc.

FOOD AND NUTRITION: Several measures are being taken to meet the nutritional deficiency of certain vulnerable groups such as industrial workers, expectant and nursing mothers and school children. Skim milk powder supplied by UNICEF and other organisations is distributed to children and expectant and nursing mothers. Mid-day meals are provided to about 13·1 million primary school children. Other schemes being implemented are protein supplement to the diet of the vulnerable groups, opening of canteens in industrial concerns and offices and manufacture and popularisation of cheap and nutritious food.

Malnutrition is one of the major factors responsible for high mortality and morbidity in India. Nutrition divisions have been established in Health-Dept. of 16 States and Union Territories to tackle the problem of malnutrition. These divisions assess the incidence of nutritional deficiencies among various groups, conduct nutrition education campaigns and supervise supplementary feeding programmes.

Quality control over Food articles is exercised under the Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1954. A Food Squad was established under the Act to check adulteration of food stuffs. Out of 201 samples drawn by the squad in 1973, 71 were found adulterated.

The Central Food Laboratory, Calcutta, acting as an appellate laboratory under the Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, imparts training facilities to the analysts and inspectors of various States and local bodies.

INDIGENOUS SYSTEMS OF MEDICINE : The Central Council for Research in Indian Medicine and Homoeopathy at E25, Defence Colony, New Delhi 110003, constituted in the year 1969-70 is responsible for initiating, guiding and co-ordinating scientific research in different aspects, fundamental and applied, of Ayurveda, Siddha and Homoeopathy systems of Medicine and also for Yoga. The Central Council of Indian Medicine, New Delhi is responsible for ensuring uniform standards of education and the registration of practitioners of Indian System of medicines.

MEDICAL EDUCATION: At the commencement of the Fourth Plan there were 93 medical colleges in the country. At present 100 medical colleges with over 12,500 annual admission capacity are functioning in the country. The doctor : population ratio improved from 1 : 6,100 in 1961 to 1 : 4,730 in 1972-73 and to 1 : 4,300 in 1973-74.

Training of Nurses : In the year 1960-61 there were about 27,000 trained nurses in the country. In 1972-73 this figure stood at 87,357. It is expected that by the end of the Fifth Plan there will be 100,000 nurses in the country.

The number of training institutions for nursing personnel and of students under training at the end of 1972-73 were as follows :

The figures within brackets indicate the number of students: Nurses 260 (18,551); Midwives 234 (4,257); Auxiliary Nurse-Midwives 322 (12,133); Health Visitors 19 (1,281).

Dental Education : There are now 15 Dental Institutions all affiliated to Universities, training students for the degree of Bachelor of Dental Surgery (B.D.S.), having facilities for about 600 admissions. (Refer to the chapter on Education for the list of dental institutions.)

Pharmacy: The Pharmacy Act, 1948, regulates the education and professional aspects of pharmacy. The Drugs Act, 1940, regulates the import, manufacture, dispensing and sale of drugs and cosmetics. The poisonous and dangerous drugs are also controlled under separate enactments.

A person has to register himself to practice pharmacy. A licence is required for sale, distribution, dispensing and compounding of drugs and medicines.

Medical Research : (Refer to " Research " chapter.)

STATUTORY COUNCILS

Medical Council of India : Established under the Indian Medical Council Act of 1956, this Council is responsible for the maintenance of the Indian Medical Register, and uniform standards of medical education and for recognition of medical qualifications in the country. The total number of doctors on the Medical Register upto 31st December 1973 is 175,615.

Dental Council of India : This council was established under the Dentists Act of 1948 for the regulation of the profession of dentistry. It maintains uniform standards of dental education in the country. It also maintains a register of qualified dentists. The number of dentists on the register of the council as on April 1973 was 5,692.

Pharmacy Council of India : was constituted under the Pharmacy Act, 1948 to regulate the minimum educational standards for qualification as a pharmacist. By December, 1973, the Council had approved diploma courses in pharmacy of 41 centres having annual admissions of 2,099 and degree course in pharmacy at 12 centres having annual admissions of 401 which conform to the prescribed standards. The list of Pharmacy institutions is given under the Chapter on Education. The Council has also approved 299 institutions having capacity of 1,431 student pharmacists for practical training.

The registration of pharmacists is the responsibility of the State Governments State Pharmacy Councils. By December, 1973 there were about 93,000 registered pharmacists of which about 8,000 had obtained the required academic qualifications.

Indian Nursing Council : This Council established under the Indian Nursing Act, 1947, is responsible for laying down uniform standards of nursing education and for recognition of qualifications and other work relating to these matters such as inspection of schools and maintenance of Nurses' Register.

Address : All above councils are housed in the Medical Council Building, Temple Lane, Kotla Road, New Delhi 110001.

Census : Most of the population data in India are available from the Indian Censuses. The first synchronous Census of India was taken in 1881, and since then a census has been taken every tenth year. The last of the series is the Census of 1971 which gives the population count as of the sunrise of 1st April 1971. The previous censuses gave the population count as of the sunrise of 1st March, but the mid-term General Election of 1971 made it necessary to shift the census date by one month. The enumeration, therefore, started from 10th March and ended on 31st March, 1971. The households were revisited by the enumerators between 1st April to 3rd April 1971 to bring the picture up-to-date as on the sunrise of 1st April, 1971.

Size: The 1971 Census of India enumerated 547,949,809 persons comprising 283,936,614 males and 264,013,195 females. The present census count fell short by about 13 million from the projected population of 560 million (1st March 1971). Compared to the world's population, India's population constitutes nearly 15 per cent.

Growth : India's population which was 238 million in 1901 increased to 279 million in 1931 and to 548 million in 1971.

The rate of growth of India's population was slow till 1921 and since then it has tended to increase at a faster rate. During the 1911-21 decade the population decreased due to natural calamities and epidemics. In 1931 the population increased by 11·0 per cent from the previous Census. During the decade 1961-71 the population increased by 24·8 per cent which is the highest increase observed so far.

Year	Persons	Per cent Decade Variation
1901	238,396,327
1921	251,321,213	(—) 0·31
1941	318,660,580	14·22
1951	361,088,090	13·31

Future Growth : The recent increase in India's growth rate is due to a fall in death rate and not due to any increase in birth rate. Death rate has declined by nearly fifty per cent during the past 70 years. Reliable figures of birth and death rates are not available in India because of the deficiency of the registration data. Efforts are being made by the Registrar-General of India to improve the quality of the registration data and a scheme called the Sample Registration System has been launched in different parts of India. The object of the scheme is to have sample areas, both urban and rural, in different States and to obtain reliable birth and death data in those areas. Most reliable estimates, however, point out that the birth rate in India in 1961 was around 43 and death rate around 21 per 1,000 population. The sample registration system has estimated that birth rate in 1972 was 36·6 and the death-rate 16·6. The birth rate in the rural areas was 3·84 and in the urban areas, 30·5, whereas, the death rate was 18·9 and 10·2 respectively. It is estimated that the death rate might decline still further and reach the low level of 10 per 1,000 population by 1980 or so. Birth rate would, therefore, be the crucial factor in determining the future growth of India's population.

State-wise Growth Rate: The decennial growth rate of 1961-71 shows that the highest rate was observed in the Union Territory of Chandigarh followed by Andaman and Nicobar Islands and Delhi. In case of States the highest rate was observed in Nagaland followed by Assam and Haryana. The differential growth rate is due to differences in birth and death rates and in internal migration rates.

Age Structure: One of the consequences of high birth rate is that India has a very 'young' population. Nearly 42 per cent of India's population is below the age of 15 years and only 12 per cent of the population is aged 50 years and over.

Rural-Urban : A very large proportion of India's population lives in rural areas, and urban population has grown from about 9 per cent in 1881 to about 20 per cent in 1971. Leaving aside the Union Territories, the most urbanised State in India is Maharashtra, in which about 31 per cent of the population lives in urban areas. Assam, Himachal Pradesh, Nagaland and Orissa States have less than 10 per cent urban population.

A little more than 52 per cent of the urban population of India lives in towns having a population of 100,000 and more. The corresponding figure for 1961 was 48·37 per cent. The growth of population in towns of large size is generally greater than in medium and small towns. In case of Class V towns (population size between 5,000 to 9,999), however, the population decreased during the decade 1961-71. As per 1971 Census, there are only 9 cities which have population of one million and above and these are Calcutta, Greater Bombay, Delhi, Madras, Hyderabad, Ahmedabad, Bangalore, Kanpur and Pune.

Sex Ratio : There are more males than females in India. In 1961 the sex ratio was 941 females per 1,000 males and in 1971 it decreased to 930 females per 1,000 males. Differential mortality by sex may be attributed to this disparity in sex ratio. Only in Kerala and Dadra & Nagar Haveli the sex ratio is favourable to females and in other places it is favourable to males. In West Bengal, Uttar Pradesh, Jammu & Kashmir, Haryana, Punjab, Nagaland, Assam, Delhi, Chandigarh, Himachal Pradesh and Andaman & Nicobar Islands the sex ratio is lower than 900 females per 1,000 males.

Literacy : Literacy which is defined as capacity to read and write with understanding in any language was as low as 6 per cent in 1891 and only 8 per cent in 1931. In 1971 it had increased to 29 per cent. Male literacy was found to be nearly 39 per cent and female literacy was found to be about 19 per cent. Rural areas have lower literacy rate than urban areas. Proportion of literates in the population of 5 years and more in age is 33·8 per cent, it being 43·4 per cent among males and 21·5 per cent among females.

Religion : According to the 1971 Census 82·7 per cent of India's population belonged to the Hindu religion and about 11·2 per cent to the Muslim religion. The percentage of the Christians and the Sikhs was 2·6 and 1·9 respectively. (Table at the end of chapter.)

Age at Widowhood: It was found in the 1911 Census that 17 per cent of the females were widows. This percentage declined to 15·5 in 1931 and to 11 in 1961. The mean age at widowhood of those who are widowed by age 45 was found to be 34 years in the 1951–61 decade and 34·8 years in the 1961–71 decade.

Fertility : The fertility of Indian women is high and between 6 and 7 children are born to a couple who remain married throughout the reproductive period. This average number is, however, reduced to 4 or 5 when all ever-married women, that is, those who are widowed, divorced or separated are considered.

The pattern of age-specific fertility among females between the ages 15-44 shows that highest fertility exists among females in the ages between 25 to 29 years. The fertility curve shows a low but significant rate in the ages 15-19 years, a sharp rise in the age group 20-24 years with the peak being reached between 25-29 years. The rate then tends to decline and the decline is very sharp after age 35.

Of the children born in a year roughly 55 per cent are of first-three order births and 45 per cent are of the fourth and higher orders. About 20·5 per cent are first order births, 18·1 per cent second order, 16·4 per cent third order, 14·5 per cent fourth order, 11·6 per cent fifth order and 18·9 per cent sixth and higher order births.

There is some evidence to indicate that fertility of those women who are educated above Matriculation and also of those who marry after the age of 19 is lower than of those who are less educated or marry earlier.

Occupational Category: According to the 1971 Census, roughly 33 per cent of the population of India is in the working force. About 53 per cent of the males and 12 per cent of the females are workers. Slightly larger proportion of the rural population is in working force. The work participation rate by residence shows that 33·8 per cent of the rural population (53·5 per cent male and 13·1 per cent female) is in working force whereas 29·3 per cent of the urban population (48·8 per cent male and 6·6 per cent female) is in working force. The maximum participation rate is in ago groups 25 to 59, it being around 95 per cent among males and around 20 per cent among females.

The work participation rate of 1971 cannot be compared with that of any of the earlier censuses because of change in definition. In the 1961 Census 43 per cent of the total population was recorded as workers. According to the Registrar-General of India, the concept of worker at the 1961 Census tended to inflate workers as persons who were basically non-workers like housewives, students, etc., were included in the category of workers even though their participation was very marginal.

Among the workers as given in the 1971 Census, nearly 43 per cent are cultivators, 26 per cent agricultural labourers and nearly 31 per cent are engaged in other occupations. In the rural areas nearly 52 per cent of the workers are cultivators, 31 per cent are agricultural labourers and 17 per cent are engaged in other occupations. In urban areas nearly 5 per cent of the workers are cultivators, 6 per cent agricultural labourers and 89 per cent are engaged in other occupations.

Assam is primarily an agricultural state. Agriculture sustains about 72 per cent of its population but only one third of its area is cropped.

The State is divided into the plains of Brahmaputra valley and the hill divisions. The plains are covered by most fertile alluvial soils which are suitable for growing rice, wheat, sugarcane, cotton, banana, tobacco etc. The hilly areas are suitable for cultivation of fruit crops. Assam is also known for its colourful orchards which have a good export potential.

Rice is the most important foodgrain grown in the State and accounts for more than 72 per cent of the total gross area under crops. Other important crops are pulses, sugarcane, oilseeds, potato and jute. (For further details see chapter on "Agriculture.")

Land ceiling : 50 bighas (7·5 hectares) per family.

Commercial Crops : Tea with 7 per cent and jute with 5 per cent of the total sown area form the two largest commercial crops.

Forests : The forest area covers about 47,900 sq. kms. or nearly 39 per cent of State's total area.

It can broadly be classified into four categories, viz. reserved forests (16,800 sq. kms.), protected forests (300 sq. kms.), unclassed forests (24,400 sq. kms.) and private forests. The forests yield cane, thatch, bamboo, agrawood, keitha and medicinal plants.

Fisheries : The main sources of fish production are the rivers and their tributaries. Fish landing from inland fisheries during 1973-74 was 32,000 tonnes.

A bicycle factory, a spun silk mill, two cotton spinning mills, some re-rolling and fabrication units, a mixed fertiliser plant, a hardboard factory, refineries at Gauhati and Digboi, jute mill at Silghat, a sugar mill at Baruabamungaon (a co-operative enterprise) and fruit processing plant.

Later, two major projects, viz., Noonmati Refinery (Third Plan) and Namrup Fertiliser plant (spilled over to annual ad hoc plans) both in the Central sector and a third, the Gas Distribution Project (the Assam Gas Company) in the State Government sector were established. The Noonmati Refinery has led to the establishment of India Carbon Products Ltd. During the Third Plan the State Government took over from the private sector the implementation of the Chirra Cement Project which started production in 1966.

The new industries which are being set up in the Central sector are a refinery, paper mills at Nowgong and Cachar districts, a petro-chemical complex at Bongaigaon. A power tiller factory, a cigarette factory, and a cement factory at Bokajan (Mikir Hills).

Other industrial establishments include (1) Asoka Paper Mills Ltd. at Jogighopa, (2) Assam Alkali Allied and Chemicals Ltd., Jogighopa and Assam Petro-Chemicals Ltd., Namrup.

Steps have been taken by the State Government for setting up a sugar mill at Cachar at a cost of Rs. 26·00 million.

Tea industry plays an important role in the State's economy contributing nearly 11 per cent towards the State income.

Industrial Estates : Have been established at Gauhati, Nalbari, Dhekiajuli, Tinsukia, Jorhat, Badarpur, Nowgong and Sibsagar.

@ Area included in Mikir Hills.

Production : Trends of output of selected industries during 1972 are as follows :

Tea (million kgs.) 240·00; Sugar (million kgs.): 10·70; Matches (million gross boxes): 5·2; Fertiliser (1971): 89,000 tonnes; Commercial Plywood: 4·0 million sq. metres.

GENERAL

Minerals : Bihar ranks first in the field of mineral resources and mineral production in India. It shares about 29.62 per cent of total produced amounting to Rs. 1,331 million. Almost the entire production of copper ore (98 pre cent), kyanite (86.0 per cent) and apatite (66.0 per cent) in the country is from Chota Nagpur region of this State. It accounts for 37.2 per cent of the bauxite, 34.5 per cent of fire clay, 46.0 per cent of coal, 32.6 per cent of China clay (crude) and 16.0 per cent of iron in India.

There are 21 coal fields in the State of which the best metallurgical coal lies in Jharia field estimated to be of 3,017 million tonnes. All these coalfields were nationalised by the Government of India in 1972.

The mica belt which has a large supply of high quality block mica extends for about 145 kms. in length with the width of 25 kms. starting from Nawadah in the west running upto Bhagalpur district in the east through Giridih, Hazaribagh and Monghyr districts.

The sole producer of copper is Singhbhum district. This belt extends for about 130 kms. from Duarpuram in the west to Bahragora in the east.

Bauxite and aluminium are located in Ranchi and Palamau districts. Apatite and kyanite are located in Singhbhum.

Chota Nagpur also contains rich deposits of atomic minerals such as chromite, manganese, asbestos, barytes, dolomite, feldspar, quartz, graphite, ochre, uranium, phosphorites, soap stones etc.

There are numerous hot springs throughout the State in which rich mineral water is found.

Banking : No. of branch offices of the banks (urban & rural) 541 ; Population per branch (a) Urban (1970) : 20,500 ; (b) Rural (1970) : 412,000 ; Per capita deposit : Rs. 41.00 ; Per capita credit : Rs. 14.02.

Important Rivers : The Ganga, the Gandak, the Kosi, Kamla, the Sone, the Barakar, the Damodar, the Koel, the Baghmati and the Subarnarekha.

CHANDIGARH

(Union Territory)

AREA: 114·48 sq. kms. Population : 256,979. Density : 2,254 per sq. kms. Sex Ratio : 749 females per 1,000 males. Literacy : 61·24 per cent.

Area of Chandigarh City : 31·67 sq. kms. Population of Chandigarh City : 233,004. Sex Ratio : 755 females to 1,000 males.

Early in 1948 it was decided to build a new capital for the Punjab at a sight about 388 kms. north of Delhi. This afforded an ideal opportunity to town planners and architects. A team of experts planned the city under the overall guidance and direction of Charles Edouard Jeannert, the French architect popularly known as 'le Corbousier' (meaning 'A man with a crow's eye').

The city was inaugurated as the capital of the Punjab by President Dr. Rajendra Prasad on October 7, 1953.

FORMATION

On November 1, 1966 the Punjab was divided into three units, Punjab, Haryana and Chandigarh. Punjab and Haryana are separate States, while Chandigarh remains a Union Territory. Following is the text of the official announcement of the Central Cabinet on June 9, 1966: "Chandigarh Capital Project, which does not form part of either of the two regions (Punjab and Haryana) shall be constituted into a Union Territory. The Central Government will also acquire powers to give directions to the Governments of the two States to regulate land use in the surrounding areas declared as "controlled areas". Chandigarh will continue to be the capital of both the States of Punjab and Haryana". On November 1, 1966 the Union Territory of Chandigarh came into being in accordance with the Constitution (18th Amendment) Act providing for the linguistic re-organisation of the Punjab.

Subsequent to this the Central Cabinet announced a decision on January 29, 1970 providing for the transfer of the capital project area of Chandigarh to the Punjab within the next five years. Pending the construction of a new capital by Haryana, Chandigarh will remain a Union Territory.

Administration : Union Territory of Chandigarh is administered by a Chief Commissioner who is vested with powers of the State Government in respect of laws in force in the Territory and with financial powers analogous to those exercised by the other administrators of Union Territories. It has one member in the Lok Sabha.

There are six cotton textile mills in Haryana located at Bhiwani, Hissar, Faridabad and Rohtak. Three sugar factories at Karnal, Panipat and Kaithal are being added to the existing ones at Rohtak, Panipat and Yamunanagar. There are two paper mills at Faridabad and Yamuna Nagar and two cement factories at Surajpur and Dadri.

There is a shoe factory, five large-scale cycle assembling and cycle component units and eight rerolling mills, besides more than 4,800 units engaged in the manufacture of agricultural implements, machine tools, electric goods, bolts and nuts and other goods. There are four tractor manufacturing units, one motor cycle manufacturing unit, and one automobile tyres and tube factory. Haryana State Industrial Development Corporation has received letters of intent for a steel billet and a cigarette plant and has already set up a brewery and a tannery. A factory to manufacture small cars is under progress. In all there are 2,013 small industrial units and 306 joint stock companies.

State Boundaries : The State is bound by Jammu and Kashmir in the north, by Punjab in the west and south-west, by Haryana in the south, Uttar Pradesh in the south-east and by Tibet in the east.

State Language : Hindi.

AGRICULTURE : The main agricultural wealth of the State consists of fruits such as apple, apricot, peach and vegetables like seed potato, ginger, tomato, peas etc. Salt is another important item, while forests yield, timber, firewood and charcoal. Seed potatoes is the chief cash crop. During 1972-73 an estimated 94,800 tonnes of potato had been produced over an area of 18,500 hectares. Forests supply the largest quantities of coniferous timber in northern India. Estimated revenue for 1973-74 being Rs. 72·70 million. (See Chapter on "Agriculture" for details.)

Irrigation and Power Projects : The State's hydel power potential constitutes about 20 per cent of the aggregate hydro power resources of the country. The rivers Sutlej and Beas provide about 80 per cent of the total hydel power resources of the State. Almost all the hydro-electric projects in the State lend themselves to easy execution and expeditious completion. (For details see chapter on "Irrigation and Power".)

INDUSTRIES : The two major industrial ventures— the Rs. 300 million newsprint factory in the private sector and Rs. 80 million cement plant in the public sector — are to be set up soon. It is expected that the newsprint factory when commissioned will produce 200 tonnes of newsprint a day and will give employment to 10,000 persons. The cement factory will have a capacity of 600 tonnes daily.

At present two main units, the Bilaspur turpentine and rosin factory and Nahan foundry and rosin factories are producing turpentine oil, rosin, varnish, mono-block pumps, electric metres, sugarcane crushers and several other agricultural implements. During the last four years, as many as 576 industrial units, big and small, have been set up.

The number of small-scale industrial units increased rapidly with the integration of new areas in 1966. At present, there are 4,000 such units in the State.

(b) Regional : Kashmiri, Dogri, Balti, Dardi, Pahari and Ladakhi.

AGRICU[illegible]URE : Agriculture is the main occupation of the people. More than 80 per cent of the population depends on it. Paddy, wheat and maize are the main crops except in Ladakh where gram is grown. Besides, jawar and bajra are also grown in some parts of the Jammu region.

The production of food grains in 1973-74 was one million tonnes and of fruits 0·154 million tonnes.

Land Ceiling : 9·21 hectares.

Net Area Irrigated (1973-74): ·280 million hectares.

See chapter on "Agriculture" for more details.

Forest Development : The State is rich in forests. A rich variety of pine, fir, birch, hazel, wild oak, maple and beech grow there.

These forests are a regular haunt of lovers of sport and adventure who can find ibex, musk deer, wolf, fox, red bear, black bear, barasingha, pig etc. A variety of winged game such as duck, goose, chakor, monal pheasant, partridge and snipe is found in low forest, on swamps and banks of the lakes.

The State has a forest area of over 21,080 sq. kms. Of this 7,477 sq. kms. are available for timber exploitation and the rest function chiefly as protective forests.

Foodgrains imported (1972-74) : Rice 0·475 million quintals; Wheat 0·641 million quintals.

Foodgrains exported: 1,700 tonnes.

Per capita availability of food-grains: 2·40 quintals.

Animal Husbandry : A chain of 7 intensive sheep development projects have been started in the State. So far 75,000 sheep of exotic varieties have been evolved.

Dairying : During the Fifth Plan period the Department proposes to spend about Rs. 150.00 million on various schemes and raise the milk production by 214,000 tonnes by the end of 1973-74 and per capita consumption to 124 grams.

Poultry : Great stress is being laid in State on poultry development. During the Third Five Year Plan, a couple of poultry development schemes were implemented. Two Central poultry farms one at Belicharana at Jammu and the other at Srinagar were also set up with about 400 layers as the basic stock. The number of layers in Belicharana has increased from 500 in 1967-68 to 2,000 in 1968-69. For the Fourth Plan the target for the two Central Farms has been fixed at 4,000 layers each. During the Fourth Plan Rs. 6·0 million have been provided to be spent on the scheme.

Fisheries Production : About 65,190 quintals during 1973-74.

Minerals : Thorough investigation of the State's mineral resources is yet to be made. The minerals now being exploited are china clay, quartz, lime shell and the mineral sands consisting of ilmenite, rutile, monazite, zircon and sillimanite.

Recent geological surveys have shown the presence of high quality of iron ore and bauxite in northern Kerala.

LAKSHADWEEP

THE Lakshadweep group of coral islands lying between 8° and 12° north latitude and 71° and 74° east longitude in the Arabian sea, 320 km. off the west coast of Kerala constitute the smallest Union Territory.

The islands were constituted into a Union Territory on 1st Nov., 1956 with an Administrator.

Headquarters : Kavaratti island. Area : 3·6 sq. kms.; Total Area of the Territory : 32 sq. kms.; Total Population : 31,810 (Males: 16,078; Females: 15,732); Decennial population growth rate 1961-71: 31·95 per cent; Density : 994 per sq. km.; Sex ratio : 978 females for 1,000 males; Literacy : 43·66 per cent.

Total No. of Islands : Inhabited: 10; Uninhabited: 17.

Island	Area sq. kms.	Population
Minicoy	4·4	5,342
Kalpeni	2·3	3,152
Androth	4·8	5,425
Agatti	2·7	3,155
Kavaratti	3·6	4,420
Amini	2·6	4,542
Kadmat	3·1	2,416
Kiltan	1·6	2,046
Chetlat	1·0	1,200
Bitra	0·1	112
Total	32·0*	31,810

* Includes area of uninhabited islands.

Administration : The head of the administration is the Administrator, appointed by the Union President.

The Collector-cum-Development Commissioner is in overall charge of the developmental activities and law and order.

The entire Territory has been divided into 4 tahsils, each under a Tahsildar, with headquarters at Minicoy, Andrath, Kavaratti and Amini islands.

Judicial Administration : The District and Sessions judge, Calicut, Kerala has jurisdiction over the islands.

AGRICULTURE : It is mainly confined to coconut cultivation. The total production of coconuts in the island during 1973-74 was 20·5 million. The total area under coconut cultivation is about 2,855 hectares.

Fruit plants like banana, papaya, guava, sopota and some citrus varieties and drum-stick plants are cultivated as inter-crops. Vegetables such as chillies, tomato, brinjal, sweet potatoes are also grown.

Livestock and Animal Husbandry : At present there is one dairy unit at Kavaratti with a strength of 32 cows, 28 calves and 2 bulls.

Poultry : There are five poultry units one each at Kavaratti, Androth, Minicoy, Kadmat and Kalpeni.

Fisheries : Mechanised boats were introduced for fishing in the islands. Hundred boats were issued to fishermen on a subsidised hire purchase system. The Territory has now its own workshops at Kavaratti, Minicoy, Kadmat, Agatti and Androth and a boat building yard at Kavaratti.

A small unit for canning tuna fish was opened at Agatti island in 1963 and also a bigger one at Minicoy in 1969. An ice factory and a cold storage were also constructed at Minicoy.

Electricity : 9 out of the 10 inhabited islands have been electrified. Bitra will be electrified in the Fifth Plan period. The total installed capacity of the power houses is 841·12 kw.

* Figures relate to 1971. Figures for 1972 are not available.

INDUSTRIES : There are no major industries in the Territory. Coir making, oil extracting, hand loom, mat weaving, hosiery knitting and canning are some of the small industries.

One handicrafts co-operative society has been started at Kavaratti. Besides, one handicraft training centre has also been opened there.

It is proposed to start one book binding unit and a small printing press at Kalpeni during 1973-74.

EDUCATION : There are 42 schools including 6 high schools with 8,092 (including 3,300 girls) students and 359 teachers. To encourage education of girls, separate section in free schools have been opened exclusively for them. On July 15, 1972, the first college (Jawaharlal Nehru College) was inaugurated. This college is affiliated to Calicut University, Kerala.

PUBLIC HEALTH : There are at present 7 primary health centres and 2 hospitals at Kavaratti and Minicoy. One of the achievements of the Medical Department during the last decade was the control of the spread of communicable diseases like leprosy and filaria. All the leprosy cases have now been isolated in separate colonies where free medical aid is provided. At present there are 3 such colonies. There are health inspectors in all the islands and medical aid is free. Acute cases are brought out to the mainland and given free treatment. The present total bed-strength of all the hospitals and primary centres is 120 which comes to 4 per 1,000 population.

COMMUNICATIONS : Two motor vessels, one owned by the Administration and the other by the Shipping Corporation of India ply between the islands and the mainland. The motor vessel of the Administration, M. V. 'Laccadives' was launched in 1966. Since 1970 the Shipping Corporation of India has started running an all-weather ship, M. V. 'Amindivi', for the Administration.

Two motor launches, M. L. 'Laccadives' and M. L. 'Bitra', owned by the Administration, maintain inter-island services.

There are 10 post offices, 9 wireless stations and 3 telephone exchanges in the Territory. The opening of wireless stations and post offices in all the nine major islands now enable continuous communication between the mainland and the islands. A radio-telephone service between Kavaratti and mainland was established in 1972.

Nandan Coal-mine Project: This project, situated at the western-end of the Damua group of mines in Pench Valley was inaugurated on July 2, 1974. It envisages an outlay of Rs. 70·5 million and is expected to provide employment to 18,000 people and produce 80,000 tonnes of coal per year.

MANIPUR STATE

CAPITAL: Imphal. Area: 17·48 sq. kms.; Population 100,366.

Area of the State: 22,356 sq. kms.; Population of the State: 1,072,753; Density: 48 per sq. km.; Sex Ratio: 980 females per 1,000 males; Literacy: 22·90 per cent.

Districts: Manipur has been reorganised into six districts, viz. Manipur Central (Area : 2,230 sq. kms.; Population : 724,537); Manipur East (Area : 4,409 sq. kms.; Population : 62,229); Manipur North (Area : 3,417 sq. kms.; Population : 104,175); Manipur West (Area : 4,344 sq. kms.; Population : 44,975); Manipur South (Area : 4,581 sq. kms.; Population : 98,114); and Tengnoupal (Area : 3,375 sq. kms.; Population 33,723).

Major City: Imphal.

State Boundaries: Manipur is bound in the north by Nagaland, in the south by Mizoram, in the east by Upper Burma and in the west by Cachar district of Assam.

State Languages: Manipuri and English are official languages of the State, though a number of different dialects are spoken. Hindi is becoming gradually prevalent.

AGRICULTURE: The principal crops of Manipur are paddy and maize. There has been a remarkable development in the field of agriculture after the end of the Fourth Plan and a considerable hectareage of land has been brought under Japanese method of cultivation, double-cropping, etc., by introducing improved seeds and green manuring. 150 minor irrigation schemes are being taken up in the valley areas to increase food production. Gross irrigated area covers about 39,000 hectares. The production of foodgrains increased from 225,000 tonnes in 1970-71 to 248,720 in 1971-72.

Forests: Manipur forests are rich in bamboo, cane, teak, jurjan, pine and varieties of timber. Out of a total area of 22,356 sq. kms. forests occupy an area of about 14,365 sq. kms. Bamboo and canes are available in abundance in the South-western hill ranges, especially in the Jiri and Barak river drainage area, and it is estimated that about 2,585 sq. kms. are at present under bamboo and cane, yielding on an average 300,000 tonnes annually.

Fisheries: More than 75 per cent of the population consume fish. The total annual consumption is estimated to be 13,935 quintals, while the total yield is about 9,400 quintals. There are 303 fishing units registered with the Fishery Department, Manipur.

Major Power Projects: The Loktak project started in 1970 is the biggest centrally sponsored project in Manipur. The construction of Loktak Hydel Tunnel was inaugurated on Oct. 25, 1971, which provides for commissioning the first 70 mw. unit by March 1975. So far 214 villages have been electrified.

INDUSTRIES: Handloom is the biggest industry in Manipur. There are more than 200,000 registered looms in the State and 241 weavers' co-operative societies.

One handicraft design centre, one doll and toys production centre, and two bamboo and cane training centres have been established.

Khadi and Village Industries: There are 32 hand pounding co-operative societies including one at the apex level, 7 pottery co-operative societies, 3 gur and khandsari co-operative societies, 6 khadi institutions and co-operatives, 7 bee-keeping co-operative societies, 3 hide flaying and leather co-operative societies, 4 non-edible oil and soap making co-operative societies, 44 edible oil crushing co-operative societies including one at the apex level and one match making co-operative society.

Small Industries: The small industries in the States are carpentry, blacksmithy, embroidery, brick making, tailoring and goldsmithy.

An Industrial Advisory Board to accelerate the development of small-scale industries has been set up and the jurisdiction of Assam Financial Corporation has been extended to Manipur, in order to enable private entrepreneurs to establish small industries in the private sector. The administration is considering the establishment of a small paper mill.

The Government of Manipur has taken up in hand the establishment of an industrial estate at Takyelpat, 5 kms. from Imphal with a view to creating basic overheads and conditions for the growth of industries.

Most of the industries are concentrated in the central district of Manipur.

Sericulture: For revitalising the old sericulture industry demonstration centres, silk farms and muga silk production centres were opened. Grants and loans are given for the development of sericulture.

Labour: The followings are the number of workers engaged in different fields, the first being males and the second females respectively :

Total No. of Workers: 245,435 ; 125,428 ; Cultivators : 167,038 ; 125,428 ; Agricultural Labourers 8,662 ; 4,863 ; Other Workers : 69,735; 39,123.

PUBLIC HEALTH (1972-73): A medical college has been established in 1972. Besides this, there are 25 hospitals including Primary Health Centres and 105 dispensaries including Primary Health Sub-centres.

COMMUNICATIONS : Manipur has no railway line and the only surface communication connecting Manipur with the rest of India is the Imphal-Dimapur road, the length of which is 215 kms. A national highway also passes through the State. A second road is now being improved for regular vehicular traffic which will link Cachar district of Assam with Manipur. There are five principal private operators of motor transport in the co-operative sector, besides the Manipur State Transport Organisation.

Two land routes from Burma pass through the State. There are air services at regular intervals between Imphal-Silchar, Imphal-Calcutta and Imphal-Gauhati.

GENERAL : With the passing of the North-Eastern Areas (Re-organisation) Bill on 21-12-71, Manipur became a full-fledged State which was till then a Union territory. The State was formally inaugurated by the Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi on 21-1-72.

Climate: Varied temperatures. The valleys are hot and the hills are cold. Average rainfall is 162·5 cms.

Important rivers : The Iril, the Thoubal, the Imphal, the Barak, the Nambul, the Leimakhong and the Khuga.

Lakes : The Loktak lake is the biggest with an area of 207 sq. kms. The other important lakes are Waithou, Ushoipokpi, Ikop, Laidokan and Pumlen.

Minerals : Geological mapping and mineral investigation conducted by the Geological Survey of India indicated availability of high quality of limestone at different places in the State in sufficient quantities to start a small cement plant.

Tribes : Main population consists of the Meiteis inhabiting the valley with some 29 tribes and sub-tribes known by the generic name of Kukis and Nagas.

MEGHALAYA STATE

CAPITAL : Shillong.* Area : 12·36 sq. kms.; Population : 122,752.

Area of the State : 22,500 sq. kms.; Population of the State: 1,011,699. Density: 44·96 per sq. km.; Sex Ratio: 954 females per 1,000 males. Literacy : 29·48 per cent.

Jaintia Hills	Jowai	3,900	113,875
Garo Hills	Tura	8,078·21	406,615

Major Cities with their Population : Tura : 15,489; Jowai : 8,929.

State Boundaries : Bound by Bangladesh in the south and west, Goalpara, Kamrup districts of Assam in the north and United Mikir and North Cachar Hill districts of Assam in the east.

State Language : English is being used for all official purposes at the State Level. The State has not enacted any legislation on official language. The principal languages spoken are Khasi, Jaintia and Garo.

AGRICULTURE : The principal crops of Meghalaya are potato, tezpatta, rice, maize, arecanut and fresh fruits in Khasi and Jaintia Hills and oil seeds, jute, cotton, mesta and tobacco in Garo Hills. Most of the foodgrains have to be imported into the State.

Irrigation and Power Projects : Lift irrigation gets priority under the minor irrigation schemes. The State had installed 100 pump sets and the rural electrification scheme electrified 94 villages up to March 31, 1971. For further details see chapter on "Irrigation and Power".

INDUSTRIES : In the organised sector, the main industrial unit in the State is the Cement Factory at Cherrapunji. There are 216 small industrial units in the State out of which 143 are in Khasi Hills, 13 in Jaintia Hills and 60 in Garo Hills.

The State Govt. has set up an Industrial Development Corporation to promote, establish, undertake and implement industrial programmes having prospect of development in the region and also help the industries in the private sector. It also looks after the small-scale industries. The State has decided to take the following steps in the industrialisation : (1) to give grant-in-aid and industrial loans to private sector; (2) establishment of industrial estates—one in each district; (3) starting multi-purpose service workshop at Jaintia Hills; (4) setting up of industrial township at Burnihat in order to provide facilities of power, transport and machineries to intending industrialists in the State and (5) to survey the possibility of starting a paper mill in the Garo Hills and a newsprint mill in Khasi Hills.

Cottage Industries : The cottage industries in the State are of traditional nature. These are bee-keeping, carpentry, black-smithy, sericulture and weaving, etc.

The State Government conducts training centres at Shillong, Jowai and Tura and finances the aluminae of the above centres, to start businesses of their own.

EDUCATION : Educational Institutions : No. of Colleges : 14; Technical School : 1; High Schools : 124; Middle English Schools : 309; Senior Basic Training Schools : 4; Lower Primary Schools : 2,382. No. of Pupils : 132,918 (Boys : 70,231, Girls : 62,687).

GENERAL : The hill State of Meghalaya was created under the Assam Reorganisation (Meghalaya) Act, 1969 of Parliament passed on December 24, 1969. It was inaugurated by Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi on April 2, 1970 as an autonomous State and subsequently was made a full-fledged State on January 21, 1972.

The population of Meghalaya predominantly consists of the Khasi, Jaintia and Garo tribals.

Cherrapunji, one of the urban centres of the State, claims to have the world's highest rainfall of 18,870 mms.

Rivers : The Bogapani, the Jadukata, the Kupli, the Digru, the Jinjiram and the Simsang.

Minerals : Meghalaya is rich in mineral resources. The mineral wealth of Khasi and Jaintia Hills districts include coal, sillimanite, limestone, unworked lithomarge, white clay and corundum. This area produces one-fifth of the State's output of coal and 95 per cent of India's total output of sillimanite.

The Garo Hills district is a potential mineralised area of the State. There are deposits of coal, limestone, fireclay and light coloured sandstone, which are virtually untapped. Plans have been made to exploit them but transport difficulties have so far been unsurmountable.

MIZORAM

CAPITAL : Aizawl. Area of the Territory : 21,090 sq. kms. ; Population : 332,390 ; Density : per sq. km. 15.76 ; Sex Ratio : 1,018 males per 1,000 females ; Literacy : 53·70 per cent. (Male : 59·47 per cent, female : 42·50 per cent.)

COMMUNICATIONS

Communications have been a great problem in the Territory. Motorable roads exist between Aizawl, Silchar, Lunglei, Demagiri, Champhai and Saiha.

Length of roads : 1,157·315 kms. ; Black topped 801·10 kms.

Post Offices : (a) With telegraphic facilities : 2 ; (b) without telegraph facilities : 128.

GENERAL

On December 21, 1971, the Lok Sabha passed the Constitution (Twenty-seventh Amendment) Bill providing for a legislature and council of ministers for the Union Territory of Mizoram (former Mizo Hills district of Assam). The Bill provides special safeguards for the minority tribal groups. Mizoram was inaugurated by the Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi on January 21, 1972.

Rivers : Tlawng (Dhaleshwari), Tuiruang, Tuirial, Kaladan, Karnafuli, Tuvai and Tiau.

Lakes : Palak, Tamdil and Rengdil.

The People: The word Mizo means highlander, Mi means person and Zo means Hills. The Mizos include a variety of tribes — the Lushais, Pawis, Paithes, Raltes, Phangis, Hmars, Kukis, Maras and Riangs and their home is in the Mizo Hills and some regions of Manipur, Tripura, Burma and East Bengal. Other Tribes in the region are the Chakmas and Tipras.

Among the Lushais the percentage of literacy is 86. The British missionaries introduced Christianity and scripted the Mizo language in Roman alphabet.

Press : 25 newspapers out of which 11 dailies, 5 weeklies, one fortnightly and 7 monthlies, are brought out regularly. Of these 18 are published from Aizawl, 4 from Lunglei and the balance from Chhintuipui.

State Boundaries: The State is bound by Assam in the west, Arunachal Pradesh in the north, Burma in the east and Manipur in the south.

State Languages: In 1967 Nagaland Legislative Assembly passed a resolution adopting English as the official language of the State for administration and education. However, as the different tribes have different dialects, the common language used amongst them is Nagamese and English.

Main crop, production and area sown are given under the chapter on "Agriculture".

The major crop is rice which accounts for 80 per cent of the total output of foodgrain. There is also cultivation of cotton, jute, mesta, sugar-cane, tobacco, potato and sweet potato.

Average food production is 79,890 tonnes in a year.

Fisheries: Average annual catch from inland fisheries is 50 tonnes.

There are 1,369 small and cottage industries at present.

Forest-Based Industries: Under the forest department a seasoning and treating plant has been set up at Dimapur at a cost of Rs. one million. It is expected to add a few saw mills and a joinery mill (for the manufacture of doors windows, floor and ceiling boards, wall frames etc.) and a waste board mill for the manufacture of hard-board from saw-dust.

Labour: Cultivators: 203,341; Agricultural labourers: 3,797; Livestock, Fishery, Forestry, Hunting, Orchards and allied Industries: 1,061. Mining and Quarrying: 76; House-hold Industry: 788; Other than House-hold Industry: 2,087; Construction: 3,277; Trade and Commerce: 4,725; Transport, Communication & Storage: 2,388; Other services: 38,474; Non-workers: 254,335; Total workers: 262,114.

EDUCATION

No. of Government Institutions: Lower Primary Schools 926; M. E. Schools 200; High Schools 62; Colleges 4; Training Institutes for Teachers 3; Polytechnical School 1; Adult Literacy Centres 15.

Private Institutions: M.E. Schools: 34; High Schools: 13; Colleges: Two.

PUBLIC HEALTH

General Hospitals: 28; T. B. Hospitals: 2; Primary Health Centres: 10; Sub-centres (under Primary Health Centres): 41; School Health Service: 3; Health Education Programme: 1; Blood Transfusion: 1; Malaria Eradication Programme: 1; Small-pox Eradication Programme: 1; B.C.G. Teams: 3; T.B. Clinics: 3; S.E.T. (Leprosy): 10; V.D. Clinics: 2; Beds in Hospitals: 1,058.

At present one medical unit covers an average of 176·12 sq. kms. and one hospital bed is available for every 515 persons.

COMMUNICATIONS

The railway covers only 8·04 kms. in the whole State and the main railway station is Dimapur, which is the gateway to Nagaland.

Roads: State highways 646 kms; Major District Roads: 712 kms; Other District Roads: 613 kms.; Village Roads: 1,607 kms.

GENERAL

Five Year Plan: Nagaland's Annual Plan for 1974-75 has been fixed at Rs. 140 million against Rs. 100 million in 1973-74. An allocation of Rs. 11.5 million has been made to meet the share capital for Nagaland' Pulp and Paper Mill which is nearing completion.

Rainfall: The rainfall in Kohima is 1,488.7 m.m.; in Tuensang 2,686.2 m.m. and in Mokokchung 730.59 m.m. respectively.

ORISSA STATE

CAPITAL: Bhubaneswar. Area: 65·03 sq. kms.; Population: 105,491.

Area of the State: 155,842 sq. kms.; Population of the State: 21,944,615. Density: 141 per sq. km.; Sex Ratio: 988 females per 1,000 males. Literacy: 26·18 per cent.

Name (Hqrs. in brackets), area (sq. kms.) and population respectively.

Balasore (Balasore): 6,394 — 1,830,504; Baudh Khondmals (Phulbani): 11,070 — 621,675; Balangir (Balangir): 8,903 — 1,2[illegible]657; Cuttack (Cuttack): 11,211 — 3,827,678; Dhonkanal [illegible]henkanal): 10,826 — 293,914; Ganjam (Chatrapur): 12,527 — 2,293,808; Kalahandi (Bhawanipatna): 11,835 — 1,163,869; Keonjhar (Keonjhar): 8,240 — 955,514; Koraput (Koraput): 27,020 — 2,043,281; Mayurbhanj (Baripada): 10,412 — 1,434,200; Puri (Puri): 10,159 — 2,340,859; Sambalpur (Sambalpur): 17,570 — 1,844,898; Sundargarh (Sundargarh): 9,675 — 1,030,758

No. of Villages : 51,639 — Inhabited : 46,992 ; uninhabited : 4,647 (1971). No. of Towns : 81.

State Boundaries : It is surrounded by the Bay of Bengal in the east, Madhya Pradesh in the west, Andhra Pradesh in the south, Bihar in the north, and West Bengal in the north-east. It lies between the parallels of 17°48′ and 22°34′ north latitudes and meridians of 81°24′ and 87°29′ east longitude.

AGRICULTURE : About 73 per cent of the working population of the State depends on agriculture. The Plans have not brought about any change in the agricultural situation. Farmers still suffer from poverty and are unable to implement scientific methods and fragmentation continues making the holdings uneconomic. Inadequate irrigation facilities, the net irrigated area being only 18-89 per cent of the net area sown during 1971-72, is also a set back. Paddy is the predominant crop covering 66 per cent of the total cropped area during 1972-73. The cash crops are sugar-cane, potato, groundnut, rape and mustard, til, castor jute, mesta, turmeric and tobacco. The total area under cash crops during 1972-73 was 412,000 hectares.

Land Reforms : The Orissa Land Reforms (Amendment) Act, 1973 (Presidents' Act 17 of 1973) was enforced with effect from 2nd October, 1973. The Orissa Land Reforms (Amendment) Ordinance 1974 was promulgated with effect from 13th April, 1974 which received the assent of the President on 11th July, 1974.

The most remarkable and vital provisions of this Amendment Act is that the ceiling has been fixed at 4·047 hectares, 6·07 hectares, 12·14 hectares and 18·21 hectares of Class-I, Class-II, Class-III and Class-IV lands instead of 8·094 hectares, 12·14 hectares, 24·28 hectares and 32·37 hectares respectively in the Original Act for a family of 5 members with an addition of 0·809 hectares for each member in excess of 5, subject to 7·284 hectares. Thus the minimum land ceiling has been fixed at 7·284 hectares 10·92 hectares, 21·85 hectares and 32·77 hectares respectively. Provision has also been made to settle 70 per cent of surplus lands vested in Government with persons belonging to Scheduled Castes or Scheduled Tribes.

ELECTRICITY: During 1972–73 : Electricity generated : 1,921·844 Mkw. ; Electricity consumed: 1,663·546 Mkw ; Installed capacity : 563·376 M.W. ; Percentage consumed by industries : 87·70 ; Per capita consumption : 75·81 ; No. of villages electrified upto 1973–74 : 9,637.

INDUSTRIES : The following large units are now in operation :

(a) Kalinga Iron works, Barbil ; (b) Hira Cement works, Bargarh ; (c) Hira Cable Works, Hirakud ; (d) Hirakud Industrial Works, Hirakud ; (e) Re-Rolling Mill, Hirakud ; (f) Tile Factory, Choudwar ; (g) Ferro-chrome Plant, Jaipur Road ; (h) East Coast Salt and Chemical Industries Ltd., Sunabeda.

A number of medium and large industries have been planned under the Fifth Five Year Plan. These include a Ferro Vanadium Plant in collaboration with the Central Government, an Automobile Tyre and Tubes Plant, a Nylon Filament Yarn Plant, a Calcium Carbide Plant, a Sponge Iron Unit, a Caustic Soda and Chrome Plant, a Dichromate Plant, a Carbonisation Plant, a Formed Coke and Pig Iron Plant and Soda Ash and Ammonium Chloride Plant, all proposed in the joint sector. It is also proposed to establish a Jute Mill in Dhanmandal in the district of Cuttack in near future.

Private entrepreneurs also are promoting a Paper Plant, Aluminium Ingot Plant and a Brewary Unit. A new corporation in the name of Industrial Promotion and Investment Corporation of Orissa Ltd. has been set up to promote and finance large and medium industries in the State. The Government of India are also actively considering setting up a Fertiliser Plant, a Nickel Project and a Sand Separation Plant to produce minerals from the rich sand of the Gopalpur Coast of the State.

The other industries are Textiles, Cement, Refrigerators, Paper, Glass, Sugar, Iron and Steel, Potteries, Spinning Mills, Tube Mill, Refractories, Chlorine and Caustic Soda, Heavy Structural and Transmission Towers, Aluminium Ingots, Aluminium Cables, Prestressed Concrete, Cast Iron Products including Spun-pipes, Heavy equipments, Ferro-silicon, Ferro-manganese and Fertiliser.

Ports : (See chapter on 'Ports')

GENERAL : Climate : It is essentially tropical. The maximum temperature hardly exceeds 43°C (110°F) and the minimum seldom goes below 18°C (65°F).

Temperature : From January the temperature rises through the months of February and March to a maximum in April, May and June and falls gradually until September. On the commencement of North-East monsoon in Oct., the temperature falls at fairly a rapid rate till December–January.

Rainfall : The rainfall in the region is determined by the south-west monsoon (June to September) and the north-east monsoon (October to December). The average rainfall of the Madras Division is 1,008·1 mm. with an average annual number of 53·5 rainy days, i.e. days on which 2·5 mm. or more of rain is recorded.

Soils : The three main types of soils found are red, black and alluvial. Red is however the predominant type. Along the coast line patches of arenaceous soils are also found.

Minerals : Salt, limestone, magnesite, gypsum, crude mica, bauxite, ilmenite, fireclay, lignite, iron ore etc.

Hills : The important hill ranges are the Western Ghats (Palani Hills in Madurai district and Annamalai in Coimbatore district form part of this range), the Eastern Ghats, Shevaroy Hills, Javadi Hills, the Kairayans and the Pachaimalai. The Palghat gap averaging 24 kms. is the only marked break in the Western Ghats.

Important Rivers : The Cauvery, the Ponnaiyar, Palar, the Vaigai and the Tambraparani, Cheyyar, Meyar, Bhavani, Amaraveti & Chittar.

Major Lakes : (Capacity more than 14,000 million litres) Chambarambakkam, Madurantakam and Red Hills lakes (Chingleput District) ; Veeranam Tank (South Arcot District) ; Kaveripuk (North Arcot District) ; Ramnad and Rasimangalam Tanks (Ramanathapuram District).

TRIPURA STATE

THE Union Territory of Tripura became a full-fledged State on January 21, 1972.

Capital : Agartala. Area : 15·78 sq. kms. ; Population : 59,625.

Area of State : 10,477 sq. kms. ; Population of State : 1,556,342. Density : 149 per sq. km.; Sex Ratio : 943 females per 1,000 males. Literacy : 30·98 per cent.

Districts	Area in sq. kms.	Population
North Tripura	3,541	405,009
West Tripura	3,359	751,605
South Tripura	3,577	399,728

No. of Tehsils : 44. No. of Towns : 6. No. of Villages : 4,727.

State Boundaries : The State is bounded in the north-west, west, south and south-east by Bangla Desh and in the north-east by Assam and Mizoram.

State Language : Bengali is predominantly spoken.

Over 60 per cent of the land area is forest and of the total reported area of 1·07 million hectares, only 0·24 million hectares or about 22 per cent is under crops. The principal products are paddy, jute and mesta, potatoes, oilseeds, sugar-cane and cotton. The State is, therefore, deficit in foodgrains and has to import about 30,000 tonnes to meet its requirements. (For production figures and other details please see Chapter on " Agriculture ".)

Power Development : The source of power in Tripura is from diesel stations located at Agartala, Ambasa, Khowai, Dharmanagar, Kailashahr, Udaipur and Bogafa. The aggregate installed capacity of the generating stations is 5,051 kW. but since the generators are old the aggregate capability is only 1,600 kW. Part of the shortfall is made up by purchasing power from Assam. Work is in progress on two grid substations at Dharmanagar and Agartala and on the Gomti Hydro-Electric Project after which Tripura will be able to draw more power from Assam.

Tea Industry : Tea plantations in Tripura cover an area of about 5,526 hectares and their annual production of processed tea is approximately 3·78 million kgs. The area under tea constitutes about 2·3 per cent of the total cultivated area in the State.

Industrial Estates : There are two industrial estates in the State. The industrial estate at Udaipur with one unit in blacksmithy and one unit in carpentry in public sector produced articles such as furniture and agricultural and tea garden implements worth about Rs. 28,800 during 1970-71. The industrial estate at Arundhatinagar produced articles worth Rs; 1,091,000 in the estate and articles worth Rs. 1,090,000 were sold during the year 1970-71.

The State has the second largest reserves of limestone in the country — about 7,800 million tonnes out of about 20,900 million tonnes. Limestone is found in Khajrahat in Mirzapur and Dehra Dun and Garhwal districts. Marble suitable for cement manufacture has been found in Lucknow, Barabanki, Unnao, Rae Bareli, Mirzapur and Dehra Dun districts. Copper, Cobalt and iron ore occur at Bundelkhand.

AGRICULTURE : Rice and Jute are the main crops produced in West Bengal. The area sown under rice is

* Calcutta district comprises of Calcutta city only.

5.07 million hectares and under jute is 0.419 million hectares; and the production is 5.71 and 2.955 million tonnes respectively (1972-73).

Land Ceiling: The ceiling for a family consisting of not more than 5 members is 5·001 hectares in irrigated areas and 7·006 hectares in non-irrigated areas. The retainable limit is increased by 0·502 hectare in irrigated and 0·697 hectare in non-irrigated area for each additional member in excess of 5, the maximum retainable area being 7·006 hectares in irrigated and 9·809 hectares in non-irrigated areas for a family consisting of 9 members or more. The ceiling for an adult unmarried person or the sole surviving member of a family is 2·502 hectares in irrigated and 3·503 hectares in non-irrigated areas.

Forests: Total forest area of West Bengal comprises of 13·4 per cent of the total geographical area of the State.

The types of timber found in the forests are: Shorea robusta, tactona grandis, michelia champaka, schima walliohi, Chukrasia tabularis, betula species, abies, densa, oaks, pinus, etc.

Irrigation: Area irrigated by Govt. canals under the minor, major and medium irrigation schemes of West Bengal was 0.810 and 0.765 million hectares in the year 1971-72 and 1972-73 respectively. (For details see Chapter on 'Irrigation & Power'.)

Power Production: Electricity generation in 1971-72 showed a slight rise over 1970-71. The total quantity of electricity generated in 1971-72 was 5,390 million kwh as against 5,339 million kwh in 1970-71. (For details see Chapter on 'Irrigation & Power'.)

INDUSTRIES: The State's industrial output is about 20 per cent and coal output about 30 per cent of the country's total.

The number of registered working factories increased from 5,612 in 1970 to 6,004 in 1971.

Production: The following are the names of some of the major industries and their production during 1972: Jute Textiles — 1·11 million tonnes; Cotton Yarn — 27·5 million kgs.; Cotton Cloth — 111·9 million metres; Pig Iron — 1·53 million tonnes; Steel Ingots — 1·39 million tonnes; Finished Steel (excluding unregistered re-rollers) — 0·94 million tonnes; Tea — 106·9 million kgs.; Sugar — 3·8 thousand tonnes; Paper & Paper Board — 131·3 million kgs.; Matches — 6·6 million gross boxes; Vanaspati—5·7 million quintals; Electric Fans — 1,221·9 thousand Nos.; Sewing Machines — 227·8 thousand Nos.

Small Scale Industries: The number of Small Scale Industrial Units which voluntarily registered with the Directorate of Cottage & Small Scale Industries rose to 36,139 in 1972-73 from 24,712 in 1971-72. Under the Rural Industries Project Programme, initiated by the Planning Commission, more than 2,000 small industrial units were opened in the State during 1973.

Housing: Number of houses constructed under different schemes and expenditure incurred upto 1973 respectively were : plantation labour housing : 2,718 ; Rs. 16.83 million ; low income group housing : 8,184 ; Rs. 9.71 million ; slum clearance : 5,316 ; Rs. 36.32 million.

HOUSING

BACKGROUND : A 1971 estimate revealed there were 93 million dwelling units in India to house 548 million people. These included 12 million dilapidated units which needed to be repaired before occupation.

The total requirement of housing units, in addition to the existing, was placed at 24·10 million — 5·50 million in urban areas and 18·60 million in rural areas. The annual increase in population demands another 2 million units every year whilst the rate of construction is only 1·30 million units including semi-pucca and thatched huts.

Shortage : According to another estimate made by the National Buildings Organisation, on the basis of 1961 position and projections thereafter, it was estimated that the housing shortage was approximately 21 million dwelling units — 18 million in rural areas and 3 million in urban areas.

Rate of Construction : The annual rate of construction is estimated at 1·15 million units — 0·50 million units in urban areas and 0·65 million units in rural areas.

House Sites : It is estimated there are 12 million landless labourers who do not possess any land on which to build a house.

The Problem : In the last decade there has been a large influx into urban areas. Six of the eight large urban agglomerations, each having more than a million population, recorded between 43 per cent and 54 per cent increase in population during 1961-71.

Towns with population of 100,000 recorded a 62 per cent increase during the same period. Whilst on an all India basis the urban population increased at the rate of 38 per cent.

Overcrowding: The influx into urban areas has caused an acute shortage of housing facilities, resulting in overcrowding.

The average number of persons per room in some growing cities of Maharashtra for the years 1961 and 1971 are given in the table on next page. The comparative figures for other cities of India are not available.

Cities	Average No. of persons per room 1961	1971
Gr. Bombay	3·72	3·99
Thana Ulhasnagar	2·89	3·07
Pune	2·95	3·21
Nasik	2·72	3·06
Aurangabad	3·05	2·90

Household Incomes: Family incomes, naturally, play a great part in a family's ability to acquire or afford a home. Incomes of families in urban areas are much higher than families in rural areas. For instance in Greater Bombay 56 per cent families have an income of less than Rs. 350 a month and 28 per cent less than Rs. 600 a month.

In the Asansol Industrieal area of West Bengal 80 per cent families earned less than Rs. 350 a month and 19 per cent less than Rs. 600.

Household Expenditure: It is observed that an increasing amount of a family's income goes towards the purchase of food alone. A low income family's inability to pay for shelter can be seen from the expenditure pattern of the various income groups compiled by the Town and Country Planning Organisation, New Delhi. The survey covers South Delhi and is deemed to be representative for all major urban areas of the country.

HOUSING SCHEMES: These schemes fall under two sectors — Central and State. Following are the details of some of the important schemes.

(a) Central Sector Schemes: Scheme for Provision of House-sites to Landless Workers in Rural Areas: The scheme provides for 100 per cent grant assistance to State Governments to develop house-sites and acquire land. The maximum size of a house-site to be allotted to a landless family is not to exceed 83.613 square mtrs. Upto 1973-74 about 1,399 projects were approved. These will provide 702,079 house-sites at a cost of Rs. 171·40 million. Of these projects 81,900 house-sites had been developed.

Subsidised Housing Scheme for Plantation Workers: This scheme was transferred from the State to the Central Sector in 1970. The Central Government provides 50 per cent loan and 37·5 per cent grant for construction of homes to be occupied by the plantation workers free of rent.

Up to the end of December, 1973, only 10,917 houses had been sanctioned and 2,879 houses completed since the scheme came into effect in 1956.

(b) State Sector Schemes: Under the various schemes in this sector 581,192 houses had been sanctioned and 433,774 completed up to December 31, 1973. The break-up is as follows :—

Integrated Subsidised Housing Scheme for Industrial Workers and Economically Weaker Sections of the Community: Projects for the construction of 238,381 houses at a cost of Rs. 1,009·30 million were sanctioned of which 179,986 were completed up to December, 1973.

Low Income Group Housing Scheme: The scheme provides for loan assistance up to 80 per cent of the approved cost of a house subject to a maximum of Rs. 14,500, to persons whose annual income does not exceed Rs. 7,200. Construction of 190,169 houses at a cost of Rs. 1,160·80 million had been sanctioned of which 148,149 houses were completed up to December, 1973.

Village Housing Projects Scheme: Under this scheme loans are granted to villagers for construction of a house to the extent of 80 per cent of the cost or a maximum of Rs. 4,000. Loans are also granted to improve the environmental hygiene of the village. Up to December, 1973, loans worth Rs. 165·60 million were sanctioned and 52,820 houses were completed. In addition 240·70 kms. of streets and 187·66 kms. of drains were completed at a cost of Rs. 218·70 million.

Middle Income Group Housing Scheme: Loans are given to individuals earning between Rs. 7,201 — Rs. 18,000 per annum. Loans are restricted to 80 per cent of the cost of construction subject to a maximum of Rs. 27,500. Up to December, 1973, loans for the construction of 39,844 houses were sanctioned of which 30,253 houses were constructed.

Rental Housing Scheme for State Government Employees: Construction of 27,800 houses were sanctioned and 22,566 were completed upto December, 1973.

Land Acquisition & Development Scheme: Financial assistance is given to States for large scale acquisition and development of land to make plots available at reasonable prices to house builders and providing civic amenities. About 25,654.26 hectares of land had been sanctioned for acquisition and development. Of this 10,958 hectares had been acquired and 5,898.7 hectares developed.

Slum Clearance/Improvement Scheme: The scheme was introduced into the the Central Sector in May, 1956 and transferred to the State sector on 1st April, 1969. Central assistance is now provided to State Governments. Under the scheme 706 projects were approved at a total cost of Rs. 200·40 million up to December, 1973.

(c) House Building Allowances to Central Government Employees: From April, 1973 to August, 1973, 4,450 applications for advances amounting to Rs. 104·41 million were approved. A total ban on these advances has been imposed by the Central Government since August, 1973.

Since the inception of this scheme in 1956 till August 1973, 28,927 applications amounting to Rs. 501·78 million were approved.

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY

INDIA has about one-half of world's buffaloes, one-fifth of world's cattle and one-sixth of world's goat population. Animal Husbandry has an important role in national economic life as a principal source of draught power for agricultural operations and transport, especially in the rural areas, and as a major source of supply of protective foods like milk, eggs, meat, etc. It contributes about 7.0 per cent to the net national product. The country also earns foreign exchange of about Rs. 700 million from the export of hides and skins, wool and certain other animal products.

Census — The last census was taken in 1972. Excluding Assam, Manipur and Tamil Nadu and the Union territory of Arunachal Pradesh for which information has not yet become available, livestock population (excluding poultry) in the rest of the country was 322.4 million. In 1966, the total livestock in the country was estimated at 343.9 million.

The break-up of the above figures for 1972 is: Cattle — 162.1 million; sheep — 34.7 million; goats — 62.3 million; Buffaloes — 54.8 million; Horses and ponies — 1.1 million; Pigs — 5.2 million; camels — 1.1 million and other livestock 1.1 million. Poultry makes up an additional 112.8 million.

Meat Production : There are 1,280 slaughter houses in the country and nearly 39.4 million animals are slaughtered annually. About 1.88 per cent of cattle, 1.76 per cent of buffaloes, 94.57 per cent of sheep and goats and 1.79 per cent of pigs are slaughtered.

The annual production of various meats in million tonnes amounts to: 0.23 goats; 0.17 sheep; 0.06 beef; 0.09 buffaloes; 0.03 pigs and 0.08 other meat (pork, gland etc.) Total production is 0.66 million tonnes valued at Rs. 1,200 million.

CATTLE : The best Indian cattle breeds are found in the Punjab, Rajasthan, Saurashtra, parts of Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh. In the eastern parts of the country and in the coastal areas, the animals are non-descript and are poor milk yielders. This inferior stock is found in Assam, West Bengal, Orissa and Kerala. The Indian breeds of cattle are classified as milch breeds, draught breeds and general utility breeds.

Milch Breeds : Sahiwal, Gir, Red Sindhi and Deoni are some of the outstanding breeds of this group. The Sahiwal yields between 2,725 and 3,175 kgs. of milk in a lactation period of 300 days. The average yield of Gir is 1,675 kgs. The average milk yield of Sindhi and Deoni varies from 1,135 to 1,725 kgs.

Draught : Cows of these breeds are poor milk yielders but the bullocks are excellent draught animals. About 42 per cent of the cattle in the country are draught animals. The Amritmahals and Hallikar (Karnataka) are the well-known draught breeds of India. Other important breeds are Malvi (Madhya Pradesh), Nagori (Rajasthan), Kenketha and Ponwar (Uttar Pradesh), Bahaur (Bihar), Bargur, Kongayam (Tamil Nadu) and Khillari (Maharashtra).

General Utility Breeds : These breeds are dual purpose animals. The cows are fairly good milk yielders and the bullocks are good for draught purposes. Hariana (Haryana and Delhi); Kankrej and Tharparker (Gujarat and Rajasthan), Ongole (Andhra Pradesh), etc., which give about 1,500 to 2,000 kgs. of milk in the lactation period are some of the well-known breeds of this type.

Cattle Breeding : The Intensive Cattle Development Projects (ICDPs), initiated during 1964–65 in the milk shed areas of major dairy plants for increasing milk production, have further intensified their activities. In addition to 55 ICDPs (including four in the Central Sector) already in operation, seven more projects one each at Warangal (Andhra Pradesh), Darbhanga (Bihar), Banaskantha (Gujarat), Ambala (Haryana), Sambalpur (Orissa) and West Dinajpur and Malda (West Bengal) were taken up during 1973–74.

Further, the coverage under the Key Village Scheme for development of cattle was further extended. In addition to 549 already functioning, 72 new Key Village Blocks were set during 1973–74.

Development work has made further progress at the Central Cattle Breeding Farms at Suratgarh (Rajasthan) for Tharparkar breed, Ankleshwar (Gujarat) for Surti buffaloes and Chiplima (Orissa) for Red Sindhi breed. Three more Central Cattle Breeding Farms are being set up at Alamadhi (Tamil Nadu) for Murrah buffaloes, Koraput (Orissa) for Jersey breed and at Andeshnagar (Himachal Pradesh) for Holstein Friesian breed.

The Central Jersey Cattle Breeding Farm at Hessarghatta (Bangalore) has been completed and from this farm, 209 Jersey bull-calves have been distributed so far to various States/Union Territories and private institutions for cattle development work.

The Central Frozen Semen Bank at Hessarghatta has commenced supplying frozen semen to the neighbouring States and also to Dhir Krishi Mandal Society, Vadodara.

For intensifying the cross breeding programme, import of exotic cattle is allowed for distribution to the State Farms, Agricultural Universities and Research Institutions. Under the Colombo Plan, 352 exotic cattle of Jersey and Friesian breeds were received from Australia and 42 exotic bulls from New Zealand and distributed to various States for their cross breeding programme. In addition, 750 exotic cattle of Jersey and Friesian breeds were purchased and imported from New Zealand, Denmark and the U.S.A. through the Indian Dairy Corporation.

With the assistance of the Food and Agriculture Organisation and Danish International Development Agency (DANIDA), 5 frozen semen stations, one each at Karnal (Haryana), Indore (Madhya Pradesh), Amritsar (Punjab), Lucknow (Uttar Pradesh) and Bangalore (Karnataka), are being set up. About .125 mill. doses of frozen semen will be supplied by the F.A.O. Bulk of assistance in the form of equipment will be available through DANIDA.

Under the Indo-Swiss Project, a brown Swiss herd has been set up at Munnar (Kerala) and Patiala (Punjab).

Central Regional Stations for Forage Production and demonstration have been set up at three Stations, viz., Hissar (Haryana), Kalyani (West Bengal) and Dhamrod (Gujarat). They produced over 460 quintals of seeds of improved varieties of different fodder crops for distribution to the State agencies for further multiplication and distribution as also demonstration in farmers' fields. It is proposed to start another Grassland and Fodder Development project with the assistance of UNDP Special Fund from April, 1974 for a period of 4 years.

Buffaloes : There are about seven indigenous standard breeds of buffaloes. They are the Murrah of Haryana, the Jaffarabadi (Saurashtra region), Surti (Kaira, Anand and Nadiad districts) and Mehsana (Mehsana district) of Gujarat, Nagpuri of Maharashtra, Nili-Ravi of Punjab and Bhadawari of Uttar Pradesh. The average yield of milk in a single lactation period (which varies from 250–300 days) is 1,360–2,270 kgs. in the case of Murrah, 1,655 kgs. in the case of Surti, 1,360–1,825 kgs. in the case of Mehsana and 1,585 kgs. in the case of Nili-Ravi.

Average Yield : The average annual yield of a buffalo is 504 kgs. as against 157 kgs. of the cow. Besides, buffalo milk is one and a half times richer in fat content and is thus more suited for butter and ghee production. A buffalo is far less expensive than a cow.

Sheep: India has a large sheep population of 40–42 million which is in the hands of poor farmers and nomadic shepherds. Most of the sheep are concentrated in the arid zones with low rainfall and poor agriculture where they form a major source of livelihood for the people. The productivity of most of the sheep-stock is low in terms of wool and mutton. The average annual yield of wool per sheep in India is only 700 grams as against 5–7 kilograms in the case of some of the exotic breed of sheep. As regards mutton, the average weight of sheep in the country varies from 25 to 30 kgs. The exotic sheep weigh as much as 3 times this figure.

Wool : India produces over 30 million kgs. of wool annually with 36 per cent of this coming from Rajasthan alone. The bulk of the wool produced is coarse and is used largely in the manufacture of carpets, druggets and coarse blankets. At present, wool worth Rs. 210 million (generally of superior quality) is being imported to feed the woollen textile industry.

Breeding : Sheep development involves cross-breeding of indigenous sheep using imported strains of merino type sheep such as Rambouillett stavrovol, etc., for improving wool quality and quantity. It also aims at improving both mutton and wool quality by cross-breeding with imported dual purpose sheep like Corriedale. This cross-breeding programme was initiated in 1970 and is being continued. Over 5,000 exotic sheep have so far been imported and located in different States.

At the Indo-Australian Central Sheep Breeding Farm, Hissar, during 1972–73, 60 Corriedale rams were received from Australia. The farm has already started issuing stud rams to various institutions for breeding trials.

The Centrally sponsored large sheep breeding farm have been set-up at Mamidipally (Andhra Pradesh), Challakeri (Karnataka) and Daksum (Jammu & Kashmir). Establishment of two more sheep breeding farms — one at Bhainsora (Uttar Pradesh) and another at Fatehpur (Rajasthan) have also been sanctioned.

A project for sheep shearing, wool grading and marketing has been taken up in 8 States with the assistance of UNDP.

During 1973–74, 1,222 Merino type sheep have been imported from the USSR for Gujarat, Jammu and Kashmir and Uttar Pradesh for further propogation and building up of foundation-stocks. It is programmed to import about 2,000 corriedale sheep during 1974–75 and 1975–76.

Goats : Goats constitute an important source of animal protein and account for 32 per cent of the country's total meat production. Besides meat, goats supply milk, skin, Mohair and Manure. Goats are found all over the country. In Rajasthan, their number exceeds 12,000 and in Uttar Pradesh, Bihar and Madhya Pradesh — they are within the range of 6 to 8 thousand.

The important breeds are the Himalayan goats found in Jammu and Kashmir, Himachal Pradesh, Punjab and Uttar Pradesh, which yield high quality hair.

The pashmina goat is a unique animal with quick movement and is found in large number in Himalayan and Tibetan plateau, Gilgit and parts of the Lahul and Spiti valleys. They yield good quality hair, meat and milk. The yield of hair varies from 21 to 50 grams per goat. The yield of milk per goat is estimated at 225 grams per day.

Jamunapari goat is a dual purpose animal capable of yielding both meat and milk of good quality. Nannies raised for milk production yield 363–544 kgs. of milk (fat content 3.5 per cent) in a lactation period of 250 days. In Uttar Pradesh, this breed is reported to give a maximum yield of 4.85 kgs. daily.

POULTRY: There are only 26 chickens per 100 persons in India as against 540 in Denmark and 373 in Canada. The annual laying capacity of an Indian hen is about 60 small eggs in a year as against 180 large eggs of the American (exotic) breeds like White Leghorn.

The production of eggs in the country has risen substantially from 5,300 million in 1968–69 to 7,703 million in 1973–74. However, the availability of eggs in India is estimated at only 12 per person per year as against 295 in U.S.A., 282 in Canada and 249 in West Germany. The annual per capita availability of poultry meat too is low, being estimated at 131 grams in India as compared with 13.18 kilograms in U.S.A. and 2.47 kilograms in a number of European countries.

Development : The development of poultry in India has received considerable attention during the last two decades. A modest beginning was made in the First Five Year Plan with the launching of a pilot project with 33 extension centres. During the Second Five Year Plan, a comprehensive All-India Poultry Development Project was launched under which 5 Regional Poultry Farms were established in different agro-climatic regions. These farms aimed at production and propagation, in the respective regions of acclimatised birds and training of officers and farmers. Through the assistance of TCM, a wide range of equipment and a consignment of 30,000 chicks of White Leghorn and Rhode Island Red breeds were imported to provide the necessary support to the project. Besides, 300 Poultry Extension-cum-Demonstration Centres were also established in different parts of the country to introduce modern poultry farming in rural areas.

In the Third Five Year Plan, seventy-seven Intensive projects closely linked with hatcheries, food mixing units, marketing centres and extension organisations were established and all the required inputs and services, including credit requirements were made available to the farmers. The Regional and State Poultry Farms were expanded. Two processing units, 68 feed mills and 18 marketing centres were also set up.

Many companies have come into existence to manufacture the entire range of equipment required for the poultry industry.

In the Fourth Plan, 28 Intensive Egg and Poultry Production-cum-Marketing Centres and 19 new Poultry Breeding Farms were expected to have been established.

The Government of India have launched a scientific poultry breeding programme at 29 central and State Government's poultry farms. To measure the genetic gains achieved from year to year as a result of this programme, the stocks developed at these farms are being tested at the Random Sample Laying Test Unit, at Hessarghatta, Bangalore. The performance of the stocks evolved at these farms have been highly commendable. The I.C.A.R. has also taken up two coordinated poultry breeding projects "Poultry for Eggs" and "Poultry for Meat". Some pure line stocks have already been imported from U.S.A., the Netherlands, Israel, Australia and Japan. These projects aim at development of in-bred lines for subsequent hybridisation. The Central farms are expected to produce about 2·3 million eggs and distribute about ·35 million high producing stock for breeding purposes to the State Poultry Farms and private poultry farmers.

Vaccine Imports : 10 million doses of Marek's Disease vaccine is being imported through the State Trading Corporation. This will be used for the protection of stocks both at the Government and commercial poultry farms in the country.

Plan Target : The target during the Fifth Plan is to achieve a production of 12,440 million eggs in 1979, thus visualising a growth rate of about 10 per cent per annum over the production achieved in 1973–74. Major contribution in this regard is expected from commercial farms. The population of improved hens is expected to grow to 60 million from the estimated 24 million by the end of the Fourth Five Year Plan.

Piggery : In India, a pig is an important source for the supply of protein rich meat. However, at present it contributes only 5 per cent to the country's total meat production. Seven bacon factories (one each in Andhra Pradesh, West Bengal, Bihar, Kerala, Maharashtra, Rajasthan and Uttar Pradesh have been established to provide marketing facilities to the farmers for the exotic pigs produced by them.

The model piggery at Gannavaram (Andhra Pradesh) continues to supply piggery stock of exotic pigs to other states, universities and other institutions for taking up pig breeding programme. Special efforts are being made to take up piggery programmes in the North-Eastern States where pork is a very popular item in the diet of the people. Efforts are also being made to import pigs from foreign countries to infuse new blood in the breeding stock available in the country. Only 20 foreign pigs were imported during 1973 as against 130 in 1968 and 179 in 1964.

DAIRY INDUSTRY

MILK and milk products contribute about Rs. 9,884 million to the national income. Of the 225 million cattle and buffaloes, only 77 million or 38 per cent are milch animals. Besides, the milk yield is low : 157 kgs. a year in the case of a cow and 504 kgs. a year in the case of a buffalo. The highest average daily milk production per animal in milk both for cows and buffaloes is in Punjab which is only 2.28 kgs. and 3.99 kgs. per day repectively. The average annual milk production per cow is 4,154 kgs. in USA, 3,950 in U.K. and 3,902 kgs. in Denmark.

Gross production of milk is 23.10 million tonnes of which 14.8 million tonnes is marketed, the balance is used for home consumption or feeding calves.

Per capita consumption : The per capita consumption of milk and milk products varies from state to state. The average works out to 5.5 oz.

The present per capita availability of milk in 1973-74 is estimated at around 108 grams (3.8 oz.) per head.

The total number of dairy plants in operation increased from 132 units in 1972-73 to 141 units in 1973-74, comprising 79 liquid milk plants, 12 milk product factories and 50 pilot milk schemes/rural dairy centres. Besides, 31 dairy products including some dairy schemes being developed into full-fledged unit were in different stages of implementation.

The average daily throughput of milk of all the dairy plants during 1973-74 was lower at 2.78 million litres as compared to 2.9 litres during the previous year.

Measures are being taken to increase the number of milk plants in operation to 110 by the end of 1974-75. Similarly, 22 milk product factories would be in operation in 1974-75.

Co-operatives are playing a significant role in dairy development in the country. About 35 plants are in the co-operative sector. In many States, co-operatives constitute a major source of supply of milk to the dairy plants. The pioneering work done by the Kaira District Co-operative Milk Producers' Union, Anand, is being emulated widely.

The average daily production of milk powder and infant food is about 85 tonnes. The following table indicates the licensed capacity and production of different milk products during 1972.

Products	Annual licensed capacity	Production during 1972
Milk powder ..	34,618	11,000
Infant Milk Food ..	34,887	19,856
Malted Milk ..	22,615	12,430
Condensed Milk ..	19,860	9,100

Butter and ghee production amounts to about 40 tonnes a day.

The Govt. of India have set up the Indian Dairy Cortion at Vadodara for stimulating Milk marketing and dairy development under the project known as Operation Flood which has been undertaken with the co-operation of the World Food Programme. Under this project, World Food Programme has agreed to supply, free of cost, during the five year period from 1970-71 to 1974-75, in a phased programme, 126,000 tonnes of dried skimmed milk powder and 42,000 tonnes of butter oil. The dried milk when reconstituted into liquid milk will generate funds worth about Rs. 954 million. These funds are to be used for increasing milk processing facilities in the public sector dairies from 1 million to 2.75 million litres per day and also for increasing milk production in eleven States and Union territories through measures like provision of ready mixed concentrates and green fodder, artificial insemination, veterinary services and medicines, calf rearing assistance, development of improved milch animals and organisation of rural procurement of milk.

During the period July, 1970 to May, 1973 the total quantity of skimmed milk powder and butter oil received by the Indian Dairy Corporation was 28,550 tonnes and 8,450 tonnes respectively. With the sale of these commodities the funds generated by the Indian Dairy Corporation have been Rs. 178 million and the expenditure has been about Rs. 140 million. By the end of the Fourth Plan the corresponding figure is expected to move to Rs. 360 million. According to the schedule laid down under the Project, the relevant figures should have been about Rs. 800 million. Thus, there has been a significant lag between the targets of Indian Dairy Corporation and its actual performance due to the delay in the expansion of 4 metropolitan dairies in respect of their recombining equipment. The Corporation is at present operating in 59 districts.

Animal Health Programme: 2451 veterinary hospitals and dispensaries have been established and 520 dispensaries upgraded. 64 checkposts and 60 vigilance units have been set up on important cattle routes at the inter-State and international borders, for the eradication of rinderpest. As a result of mass vaccination programme, the incidence of rinderpest has been considerably reduced, the total number of out-breaks in the country in 1973-74 being 80 as against 160 in the previous year. About 57 million vaccinations are likely to have been carried out during 1973-74 and the production of vaccine is likely to reach a level of 71 million doses.

With a view to checking the introduction of diseases in the country through imports of livestock and to ensure exports of disease-free livestock and livestock products, animal quarantine stations are proposed to be set up at Delhi, Calcutta, Madras and Bombay. The land required for setting up the stations at Delhi and Madras have been acquired. A new scheme for the establishment of the Central Foot and Mouth Disease Vaccine Laboratory at Bangalore has also been taken up.

Research and Education :

(1) The Indian Veterinary Research Institute, in Izatnagar (U.P.) and Punjabrao Krishi Vidyapeeth, Maharashtra are post graduate institutions for Veterinary Science.

(2) Central Sheep and Wool Research Institute, Malpura, Rajasthan.

(3) National Dairy Research Institute, Head Office at Karnal in Haryana.

There are 20 agricultural universities in the country with Department of Animal Husbandry.

METRIC SYSTEM

THE country adopted the metric system of weights and measures on 1st Oct. 1958. On that date the units of mass were introduced in selected areas, and the metric system generally in certain specified industries and Government departments. The law (the Standards of Weights and Measures Act, 1956) passed in December 1956, provides that the system should be adopted in the country within a period of 10 years, from the date of enactment. As a result, after December 1966, the metric system, as recognised by law, started functioning throughout the country.

Minor Airports (32): Akola, Balurghat, Bilaspur, Chakulia, Cooch-Behar, Cuddappah, Donakonda, Hadapsar (Gliderdrome, Pune), Hassan, Jabalpur, Jhansi, Jharsuguda, Jogbani, Kanpur (Civil), Khandwa, Kolhapur, Lalitpur, Malda, Mysore, Palanpur (Dessa), Panna, Pasighat, Rajahmundry, Ramnad, Raxaul, Rupsi, Santa, Shella, Sholapur, Tanjore, Vellore, Warangal.

Navigational Aids : The Civil Aviation Department has proposed a Rs. 450 million comprehensive scheme to modernise the communication and navigational facilities at the country's major airports during the Fifth Plan period. Under the scheme, major airports will be equipped with landing aids like ILS and precision navigational aids like VOR.

TRAINING CENTRES: The Civil Aviation Training Centre, Allahabad, comprising of an Aerodrome School and Communications School is the principal training centre in the country, where basic training and refresher courses are conducted for departmental officers. During the year 1973, 119 persons were trained in various catagories.

Facilities exist for training of glider instructors and winch operators at the Government Glider Centre, Pune. Facilities are available at the Fire Services Training School at 229, N. Subash Rd., Calcutta, for training of departmental candidates for courses in crash and fire rescue. Facilities for training foreign nationals are also available at Allahabad and other centres under various aid schemes.

FLYING CLUBS: There are 25 subsidised flying clubs with their headquarters at Amritsar, Hyderabad, Gauhati, Banasthali, Patna, Bombay, Coimbatore, New Delhi, Bangalore, Baroda, Lucknow, Hissar, Jamshedpur, Karnal, Trivandrum, Indore, Nagpur, Madras, Jullundur Cantt., Bhubaneshwar, Patiala, Jaipur, Behala (Calcutta), Raipur and Ludhiana.

GLIDING CLUBS: Besides the Government Centre at Pune, there are 13 subsidised gliding clubs/wings at Agra, Ahmedabad, Amritsar, New Delhi, Deolali, Hissar, Jaipur, Jullundur, Kanpur, Pilani, Raipur, Patiala and Patna.

Aeronautical Communication Services : On 31st December 1973, the Aeronautical Communication Service was operating and maintaining 92 Aeronautical Communication Stations, providing 260 aero mobile channels in the aeronautical mobile service, 274 radio and landline circuits in the aeronautical fixed telecommunications network and 194 radio navigation facilities.

RESEARCH & DEVELOPMENT DIRECTORATE:

Principal functions : (i) Airworthiness engineering including type-certification of Civil aircraft and aeronautical equipment ; approval of modifications to civil aircraft, etc. (ii) Research, evaluation and development, including investigations on operational problems like aircraft noise, atmospheric turbulence, evaluation of performance and economics of civil transport and other aircraft etc. (iii) Prototype development, including design and development of prototype light aircraft, gliders, sailplanes, winches etc. and (iv) Training of airworthiness engineering staff.

Achievements : Work on the MK. III prototype 'Revathi' executive-cum-trainer light aircraft begin ; Development of ninth Kartik KS. II glider (TC-49) completed ; Second prototype Mrigasheer HS. II advanced high performance sailplane completed ; Two Arjun IV glider launching winches completed ; Development testing of about 150 samples of aviation turbine fuel, about 60 samples of aviation gasoline and about 65 samples of water mathanol and 10 miscellaneous samples carried out ; 125 aircraft instruments bench-checked/serviced ; 122 welded specimens, 8 samples of indigenous cabin furnishing materials for aircraft, 6 samples of fibre-glass materials and 8 samples of indigenous glider launching winches tested.

ACCIDENTS : During the period 1 January to 31 December, 1973, there were 39 notifiable accidents in India involving 37 Indian and 2 foreign registered aicraft. Five of the accidents to Indian registered aircraft involved the death of 11 crew members and 48 passengers and one other person on the ground as a result of direct hit by the aircraft.

Of the 37 Indian registered aircraft involved in accidents 5 were engaged on scheduled passenger services, 13 on training flights, 12 on crop-spraying operations, 2 on practice flights, 1 each on leaflet dropping and local flying and 3 on private flights.

Out of the 37 accidents to Indian registered aircraft, 2 have been investigated by Courts of Inquiry, 1 by a Committee on Inquiry and 25 by the Department. The remaining 9 accidents to Indian registered aircraft and 1 accident to foreign registered aircraft are still under investigation.

Apart from this, the Air Safety Directorate investigated 145 precautionary landings, 3 forced landings, 16 airmiss incidents and 195 minor accidents/incidents during the period from 1 January to 31 December, 1973.

Non-Scheduled Air Transport : As on 31 December, 1972, there were 10 non-scheduled air transport operators who held permits for the operation of purely non-scheduled air transport services. These are :—Air Survey Company of India, Calcutta ; Bharat Commerce & Industries, Calcutta ; Jamair Company, Calcutta ; Cambatta Aviation, Bombay ; Kasturi & Sons, Madras ; J. K. Chemicals, Bombay (Safari Airways) ; Helicopter Services (P) Ltd., Bombay ; Pushpaka Aviation (P) Ltd., Madras ; Daver Aviation, Bombay (for joy rides only).

Scheduled Air Transport : Air India as the national flag carrier and Indian Airlines as the main domestic carrier are the two scheduled airlines. Both these companies came into being when air transport was nationalised under an Act of Parliament, Air Corporation Act, 1953.

AIR INDIA: Headquarters : Air India Building, 218, Backbay Reclamation, Nariman Point, Bombay 400020. Has 35 online and 101 offline sales offices and representations covering 29 countries.

Air India operates a daily 747 service to New York via London which is also served with two additional terminator services via Middle East and Europe. In addition there are two Moscow terminator and six Gulf terminator services. The airline also operates four services a week to Tokyo; two to Osaka; three to Nairobi; and four to Singapore, one of which is extended to Jakarta and two to Sydney via Perth. In addition twice weekly service is operated to Dacca and to Mauritius under Air India and Air-Mauritius flight numbers.

Fleet: Air India today has four Boeing 747-237Bs, four Boeing 707-437 intercontinental jets, three Boeing 707-337Bs and two Boeing 707-337Cs.

Board of Directors: J. R. D. Tata, Chairman; K. K. Unni, Managing Director; K. G. Appusamy & N. H. Dastur (Commercial), Dy. Managing Directors; Air Chief Marshal P. C. Lal; K. N. Mookerjee; N. Gole, Director of Personnel & Industrial Relations.

Holding Companies: Air India set up on September 9, 1971, a wholly-owned subsidiary company called Air India Charters Ltd. This company was formed to get back most of the ethnic traffic which was taken away by non-scheduled operators and by other airlines which consistently rebated fares on Air India's routes. This is a non-IATA charter company and is set up with a capital of Rs. 500,000. At present the company operates one flight a week to Amsterdam.

Another wholly subsidiary company called Hotel Corporation of India Ltd. came into being on July 8, 1971. Two 'Centaur" hotel projects are planned; work on one at Bombay Airport will be completed in early 1975, while the second is proposed to be at Juhu Beach, Bombay.

INDIAN AIRLINES: (Head Office: Airlines House, 113 Gurdwara Rakab Ganj Rd., New Delhi, 110001.): The fleet as on 31 August 1974 consisted of 6 Boeing 737's; 9 Caravelle SE-210; 9 Fokker Friendships and 15 HS-748 (Avros). The Airlines services are extended over the entire sub-continent, including Nepal, Burma and Sri Lanka. The operations of the Airlines have been divided into four regions: Delhi, Bombay, Calcutta and Madras.

Board of Directors: Air Chief Marshal P. C. Lal (DFC), Chairman; J. R. D. Tata; M. S. Sundara; K. N. Mookerjee; K. K. Unni; N. Khosla; Air Chief Marshal O. P. Mehra; V. Satya Murti; C. J. Lisely; Air Marshal Y. V. Malse; A. H. Mehta; P. C. Bhattacharya.

Executive Heads: Air Chief Marshal P. C. Lal, Chairman-cum-Managing Director; V. Satya Murthi, Dy. Managing Director (Finance & Administration); A. H. Mehta, *Dy. PORTS

THERE are nine major ports in India, 21 intermediate ports and 144 working minor ports. Tuticorin is being developed as a major port.

Technically a major part is one which is capable of taking in ocean-going steamers with a registered tonnage of 4,000 or more and berth them along the wharves.

The nine major ports are Bombay, Calcutta, Cochin, Kandla, Madras, Mormugao, New Mangalore, Paradeep and Visakhapatnam.

State-wise distribution of intermediate ports and the number of minor ports respectively are :

Karnataka : Karwar, Mangalore and 19 minor ports. Tamil Nadu : Cuddalore, Nagapattinam, Tuticorin and seven minor ports. Maharashtra : Ratnagiri, Redi, and 47 minor ports. Gujarat : Okha, Porbander, Bhavnagar, Navalakhi, Bedi, Veraval, Bharuch, Mandvi, Sikka, Surat, and 40 minor ports. Kerala : Alleppey, Kozhikode, and nine minor ports. Orissa : There is one minor port. Andhra Pradesh : Masulipatam, Kakinada and five minor ports. Pondicherry : There is one minor port of Pondicherry only. Andaman & Nicobar Islands : There are 15 minor ports.

All the major ports are administered by Port Trusts, which are statutory bodies.

The intermediate and minor ports are administered by State Governments.

The National Harbour Board : The Board advises the Central Government on matters of general policy relating to port management and development including the effects on industry, commerce, shipping, railways etc. so as to ensure integrated consideration of all important port matters.

LIGHTHOUSES : There are 293 lighthouses, 9 lightvessels, 156 lightbuoys, 300 lighted and unlighted buoys, 233 beacons, 12 fog signals, 7 M. F. radio beacons, 2 harbour radars, 2 Decca navigator chains, 299 land marks, 716 other marks, making a total of 1,965 aids to navigation strewn over the coastline of approximately 6,950 kms. including Andaman, Nicobar and Lakshadweep Islands.

Programme for the year 1974-75 : The programme includes; (i) the construction of lighthouses at Madras, Tuticorin, Beypore, Krishnapatnam, Pondicherry, Manacur, Cochin, Periyar, Cannanore, Mount Delly, Aguada, Kiltan, Kalpeni, Suhelipar, South Button Island, Middle Button Island, Strait Island, North Point, Pullo Millo Island, Hut Bay, Katchall East Bay, Luhara Point, Warsi Borsi, Umbergaon etc. ; (ii) carrying out field studies for the offshore lighthouse projects at Lushington shoal, Gururshoal, Bobbyshoal, Ranwarashoal and Perigal rocks ; (iii) establishment of Radio Beacons at Antervedi, Pondicherry, Cochin, Suratkal, Minicoy, Car-Nicobar and East Island; (iv) installation of optical equipment at Suhelipar, Karumbhar, Sao George, Port Cornwallis and Rutland Island Lighthouses; (v) establishment of a fog signal at Diu Head Lighthouse.

BOMBAY : The Port of Bombay owns landed estates extending over 761 hectares from Pilot Bunder to Wadala and the docks cover an area of 283 hectares. Sassoon Dock has a water area of 1½ hectares and limited facilities for five ships of 1,000 tonnes.

Besides the docks there are a number of "Bunders" or open wharves along the harbour front with a total quayage of about 12 kms.

Repair facilities for shipping are provided at two drydocks — Hughes and Mereweather.

The Port maintains its own railway system which serves the docks, ten local stations and a large number of sidings on the Port Trust estates. It also connects the main line railways.

Chairman : K. K. Uppal ; Secretary : J. J. Parakh.

The Planning Commission has approved Bombay's proposed satellite port at Nhava-Sheva for inclusion in the Fifth Plan.

CALCUTTA : There are two docks, known as Kidderpore Dock and Netaji Subhash Dock. The third and subsidiary deep water dock at Haldia meant for handling bulk carriers and bigger vessels is under construction. This is expected to be commissioned by early 1975. Over 85 per cent of project works have been executed. An oil jetty, a part of the Haldia Dock Complex is already in commission. There are five dry docks — two in Netaji Subhash Dock, and three in Kidderpore Dock I and II.

There are nine jetties on the Strand Bank in Calcutta of which only five are available for ocean-going steamers. Five river-side jetties are also available at Garden Reach for sea-going vessels. The Port can hold about 90 vessels in impounded docks, riverside jetties and river moorings.

There are petroleum wharves at Budge Budge about 22·53 kms. from Calcutta.

Anchorages are available at Saugor Road, Haldia, Kalpi, Diamond Harbour, Royapur, Uluberia, Budge Budge and Garden Reach of which Royapur, Uluberia, Budge Budge and Garden Reach are available only for outward bound deep-laden vessels or in emergency. The other anchorages are used by ships on passage to and from the Port.

Kidderpore Dock No. 2 has six coal berths.

The port can handle over 14 million tonnes of traffic annually.

The chief exports from Calcutta are coal, tea, sugar, gunnies, bone and bone-meal, bunker oil, iron and steel manufactures, lac, scrap, ores, mica and railway wagons. The principal imports are salt, foodgrains and flour, sulphur, tinplate, machinery, petroleum, iron and steel, metals other than iron and steel, lubricating oil, cement, soda, timber, fertilisers, bricks, chemicals, oils, railway material.

Chairman : P. C. Mittra ; Secretary : K. N. Ganguly.

COCHIN : The Port of Cochin is open for deep water traffic in the worst monsoons and provides a splendid anchorage at all times of the year. Any ship drawing upto 30 ft. draft can enter the port even in the roughest weather.

The Cochin Harbour Railway is connected with the broad gauge and metre gauge systems of the Southern Railway. Inside the Harbour there are 12 stream berths, 2 coal berths, 8 wharf berths, 1 boat train pier jetty with facilities for discharging and loading bunker oil, two tanker berths and an open berth. Facilities for handling container cargo are provided at Q-5 berth of Ernakulam Wharf.

The principal imports are foodgrains, mineral oils (crude), cashewnuts, zinc concentrate, chemicals and manure. The principal exports are coir and coir products, tea, rubber, cashew kernels, seafoods, coconuts, spices, and mineral oil products. The Fifth Plan for port development has an outlay of Rs. 447·50 million.

Chairman : A. K. K. Nambiar, I.A.S.

KANDLA : The major port of Kandla has now the following main facilities :—

A cargo jetty with : (a) 1,166 m. of quayage and designed depth of 9·8 m. of water alongside to accommodate five large size ships or six liberty type oceangoing vessels ; (b) Three single storeyed transit sheds, each 137 m. long and 43 m. wide, with a total storage capacity of about 15,000 tonnes of general cargo ; (c) Broad wharves served with three dual gauge (BG & MG) railway lines and roads ; (d) 21 electric quay cranes, the most modern type of 3 tonnes, 6 tonnes and 10 tonnes capacities ; (e) Spacious open stacking grounds served with railway and road sidings ; (f) Four double storeyed warehouses, each 152 m. long and 37 m. wide with storage capacity of 60,000 tonnes, with overbridge connections to the roofs of the transit sheds, and provided with modern cargo lifts, chutes and loading platforms ; (g) 'Grinnel' automatic sprinkler and fire alarm system has been provided in one warehouse as a measure for protection against fire, for the storage of cotton cargo in the warehouse ; dangerous cargo sheds of 320 tonnes capacity and a calcium carbide shed of 48 tonnes capacity ; 3 vegetable oil tanks with a total capacity of 650 tonnes ; 3 sheds for storage of 10,000 tonnes fertiliser ; (h) An R.C.C. Pier for handling P.O.L. and other liquid Chemical tankers ; (i) 26 vacuator pumps to discharge bulk foodgrains cargo from the tankers ; (j) Night navigation ; (k) 60 tonnes gantry crane in Bunder for heavy packages ; (l) Fishing jetty with 2 tonne crane with cold storage facilities.

The port is equipped with V. H. F. communication network for maintaining contact with pilot launches, survey launches and ships calling at the Port.

The port is connected to its hinterland by broad gauge rail connection via Jhund-Ahmedabad and metre gauge rail connection via Dessa-Palanpur. Also a national highway connects Kandla to Ahmedabad.

A Free Trade Zone has been established at Kandla.

The chief imports are mineral oil, vegetable oil, foodgrains, fertilisers, muriate of potash, sulphur, and machinery. Exports are salt, bone materials, tea, rice bran, engineering goods, oil cake, bentonite, sugar etc.

Chairman : Capt. D. V. Singh ; Secretary : Dr. R. P. Bhargava.

MADRAS : Berthing facilities : There are in all 19 berths and 3 moorings with depth ranging from 7·90 m. to 13·40 m. at the low tide. The alongside berths include an oil berth in the Bharathi Dock and four berths for handling iron ore in the inner Harbour.

Bharati Dock : This outer dock located on the northern side of the main harbour basin was commissioned on 4th February 1973 and is named after Subramanian Bharati. The Bharathi dock comprises an oil berth and ore berth both designed to cater to 100,000 DWT vessels.

The oil berth now catering to 77,000 DWT tankers consists of five marine loading arms, 3 for handling crude and 2 for refined products. The crude can be handled at 4,000 tonnes per hour and the refined products at 1,000 tonnes per hour. The oil berth is the deepest in the country as on date.

Works connected with the commissioning of a fully mechanised iron ore handling facility designed for receiving by rail, stockpiling, reclaiming, weighing, sampling and shiploading iron ore are in progress. The quantity to be handled per annum will be 5 million tonnes initially and 8 million tonnes ultimately. The work is expected to be completed by 1975.

Cargo handling equipment : Level luffing electric cranes of various capacities have been provided at each berth in addition to an adequate number of mobile cranes, forklifts, platform trucks, tractors, trailors etc. In addition a floating crane 'VAIGAI' of capacity 120 tonnes also helps the handling of heavy packages overside. Palletisation on an extensive scale is also among other factors helping to achieve quicker turn round of vessels. Pre-slinging method in cargo handling has also been introduced.

Storage and other facilities : There are 16 warehouses and 10 transit sheds providing covered accommodation of 78,000 sq. mtrs. and 47,000 sq. mtrs. respectively with rail road access. Bonding facilities and separate stacking area for hazardous goods are available. In addition, 200,000 sq. mtrs. of open area is also available for storage. There is a separate yard for stacking of iron ore intended for shipment.

Apart from this 3 storage tanks of 5, 8 and 10 thousand tonnes capacity with shore to ship and vice versa pumping facilities are available to handle commodities like mutton tallow, molasses, edible oils etc. There are also three storage tanks of 10,000 tonnes capacity each for storage of phosphoric acid.

All the alongside berths have fresh water connections for supply to shipping and adequate facilities exist for bunkering oil.

Types of cargo handled : The main imports are coal, foodgrains, mineral oils, fertilisers, phosphate, sulphur and phosphoric acid. Under general cargo, machinery, hardware, iron and steel, cotton, metals and timber form the major imports.

The principal exports are iron ore, barytes hides and skins, refined oil products, tobacco, oil cake scrap and twist and yarn.

Chairman : R. Balasubramanian, I.A.S. ; Gen. Manager : K. S. Ramakrishnan, I.A.S. ; Secretary : P. R. Narasimhan.

NEW MANGALORE : New Mangalore Port is situated at 9 kms north of the existing minor port of Mangalore. This port, conceived designed and executed by the Indian engineers is the 9th major port in the country and cost Rs. 330 million.

Communications : Mangalore is connected by a broad gauge railway line to Madras via Calicut and National Highway 17 connecting Bombay to Cape Comorin passes by the side of the new port.

Berthing facilities : Port of New Mangalore provides for 3 alongside berths to cater to (1) general cargo, (2) iron ore and manganese ore (3) raw material import for fertiliser factory, (4) one shallow draft berth for export of finished fertilisers and (5) an oil jetty for handling of naphtha and petroleum products. The dredged depth available at all the alongside berths including oil jetty will be 9·75 mtrs. The shallow draft berth has a draft of 6·35 mtrs.

The port has been well provided with cargo handling equipment, such as grabbing wharf cranes, electric level luffing cranes, mobile cranes — all of varying capacities — and storage facilities.

Other facilities : Fresh water supply, bunkering, well equipped workshops are available. Front and rear leading lights, fair way buoys and channel marking buoys are under procurement.

Estimated annual Traffic : The Port is expected to handle initially a traffic of about 0·751 million tonnes during 1974-75 and 2·294 million tonnes during the year 1978-79. Main items of traffic are POL, iron ore, manganese ore, fertilisers, tile, cement, foodgrain, salt, forest products, coffee and other general cargo.

Provision for a dredger for the Port, slipway, one additional tug have been made in the Fifth Five Year Plan.

Chief, Administrator & Conservator of the Port : H. K. Panditaradhya.

MORMUGAO : The Port of Mormugao is a major port of India providing modern facilities in handling both ore and general cargo traffic.

It is foremost among Indian ports in the export tonnage of ore and in the combined export tonnage of all items.

It held second position in total traffic tonnage handled during 1973-74.

During 1973-74, the Mormugao Port broke all its previous records in annual traffic by handling 14·34 million tonnes during the year, which was 1·49 million tonnes more than its own all-time record of traffic during the previous year of 12·85 million tonnes. The traffic in 1973-74 consisted of over 13·09 million tonnes of iron ore, 0·11 million tonnes of manganese ore, 89,565 tonnes of oil-cakes and 34,671 tonnes of sugar — all in exports, and 0·63 million tonnes of imports consisting of mineral oils, fertilisers and general cargo.

Development project of the port : A massive project costing over Rs. 600 million for developing the port facilities is now under execution and is scheduled to be completed in 1976

Chairman : R. J. Majithia, I.A.S. ; Secretary (Atg.) : M. J. Kurian.

PARADIP (ORISSA): Declared as a major port on 18th April, 1966 and opened to traffic from 1-11-1966, the Port handled traffic to the extent of 2·15, 1·90, 2·02 and 2·28 million tonnes during the years 1970-71, 1971-72, 1972-73 and 1973-74 respectively. The main traffic is export of iron ore.

VISAKHAPATNAM: Ships drawing upto 10·21 mtrs. and having a length upto 195 mtrs. can enter the harbour.

The inner harbour consists of a turning basin, six quay berths, two fully mechanised ore berths for export of iron ore, an oil wharf consisting of two berths, one mechanised fertiliser berth, three jetty berths and four mooring berths. It can accommodate 14 ships alongside and 4 in the moorings.

All the six quay berths with a quay length of 1,083 mtrs. are equipped with portal electric cranes, transit sheds, railway lines, road approaches etc.

A Dry Dock, 137·16 mtrs. long, 18·44 mtrs. wide and 5·63 mtrs. deep can take in ships of 122 mtrs. in length and 4·9 mtrs. draft.

A graving dry dock of M/s. Hindustan Shipyard Ltd., Visakhapatnam is available for dry docking of ships of upto 70,000 DWT.

There are 5 transit sheds capable of accommodating 36,450 tonnes of cargo. There are 2 storage sheds with a total capacity of 13,200 tonnes. For stacking mineral ores, a vast area of about 80,000 sq. mtrs. which can accommodate about 300,000 tonnes at a time, is also available. Open space measuring about 36,400 sq. mtrs. is available for the storage of pig iron, rock phosphate and sulphur.

The most important of the development works taken up in the IV Plan period is the construction of an outer harbour, at a cost of Rs. 720 million. After completion of the project, the Harbour can accommodate ore carriers upto 100,000 DWT. The capacity can be increased upto 200,000 DWT by undertaking additional works.

Chairman : B. K. Rao, Secretary : Y. Parthasarathi.

GUJARAT PORTS: There are in all 41 ports in Gujarat State of which Kandla is a major port, Diu and Daman are centrally administered ports while 11 intermediate and 27 minor ports are under the administrative control of State Government.

PORT DEVELOPMENT: Provision of Rs. 3,520 million has been made in the Fifth Plan for development of major and minor ports.

RAILWAYS

HISTORY : First railway (consisting of 14 four-wheeled teak coaches carrying 400 passengers) in India ran over a distance of 33·6 kms. from Bombay to Thana on 16th April, 1853. Development of rail communications, however, took place after 1858. Upto the revolt in 1857, railway was practically unknown, except for a few miles around Bombay, Calcutta and Madras.

The revolt highlighted the need for proper communications. Thus by 1871 a general system connecting the different provinces and the hinterland of each province with its ports was completed.

The Government of India took under direct management. The East India Railways — 1st January, 1925; Great Indian Peninsular Railway — 30th June, 1925;

Burma Railways — 1st January, 1929; Southern Punjab Railway — 1st January, 1930.

Zonal Administration: The entire Government Railway system is now grouped into nine administrations (Headquarters within brackets): Southern Railway (Madras); Western Railway (Bombay); Central Railway (Bombay); Northern Railway (Delhi); Eastern Railway (Calcutta); South-Eastern Railway (Calcutta); North-Eastern Railway (Gorakhpur); North-East Frontier Railway (Maligaon, Gauhati); South Central Railway (Secunderabad).

There are six non-government railways. The route kilometrage is given in brackets after the name:—

SOME BASIC FACTS

No. of Daily Passengers: 7·3 million; First Sleeper Accommodation: 1954; Total No. of Sleeper Coaches: 1,900 (1,400 Broad Gauge and 500 Metre Gauge); Labour Force: 1·43 million men and women; Total Route Kilometrage: 60,234 kms.; No. of Locomotives: Steam — 8,842, Diesel — 1,532, Electric — 669; No. of Coaches: 28,001; No. of Wagons: 388,026; No. of Tank Wagons: 18,082; No. of Trains Daily: 10,000; No. of Stations: 7,079; Amount of Freight Carried Daily: 0·5 million-tonnes; Railway Budget separated from Central Budget: 1925; Carrying Capacity of Wagons: 2 axle wagons—22 tonnes; 4 axle wagons—55 to 65 tonnes; Gross Load of Average Freight Train: Conventional (2 axle wagons)—2,230 tonnes—Special (4 axle wagons)—3,650 tonnes; Container Service Introduced: January, 1966; No. of Trains Running over 1,000 kms.: 75; No. of Trains running over 2,000 kms.: 12; Fastest Train: Rajdhani Express (started 1969)—Delhi to Calcutta—covers 1,445 kms. in 17 hours—permissible speed—130 kms.p.h.; First Electric Train: 1925—Bombay V.T. to Kurla—16 kms.; No. of Rail Bridges: 108,035 (including 103,113 bridges having waterways); No of Level Crossings: 41,712; Biggest Marshalling Yard: Mughalsarai—6,000 wagons a day; Longest Railway Platform: Kharagpur-833 metres; Total No. of Seats: 1,839,341; No. of Air-conditioned seats: 2,411; No. of First Class Seats: 141,093; No. of Second Class Seats: 13,292; No. of Third Class Seats: 1,682,545; Mandays lost due to illness: 15,591,393 (1973-74): Mandays lost due to strikes: 469,129 (1973-74); Total Female Staff: 18,656; Total Female Officers: 342; Number of Electric Multiple Unit Coaches: 1,898.

Ticketless Travel: Estimated in 1968-69 to cost the Railways about Rs. 250 million. Stringent measures by the railways, including enhancement of penalties, since June 1969, resulted in the decline of ticketless passengers from 8·467 million in 1968–69 to 1·62 million in 1973–74.

The Claim: Theft and pilferage cost Rs. 98·4 million and the total compensation claims amounted to Rs. 136·2 million in 1973–74.

Railway Accidents: Total number of railway accidents in 1971-72: 864, 1972-73: 813, 1973-74: 782.

Condition of National Highways : At the end of April, 1972 there were more than 18,000 kms of single lane carriageways needing to be widened and over 3,000 weak, narrow or damaged bridges needing replacements.

India has the largest network of national highways in Asia.

State-wise length of National Highways (in kms. as in April, 1972).

Andhra-2,299 ; Assam-1,652 ; Bihar-2,117 ; Gujarat 1,352 ; Haryana-729 ; Kerala-733 ; Madhya Pradesh-2,670 ; Maharashtra 2,861 ; Mysore-1,996 ; Meghalaya-161 ; Nagaland-113 ; Orissa-1,649 ; Punjab-864 ; Rajasthan-2,157 ; Tamil Nadu-1,749 ; Uttar Pradesh-2,328 ; West Bengal-1,481 ; Himachal Pradesh-630 ; Manipur-211 ; Tripura-200 ; Jammu & Kashmir-541 ; Union Territories 325. Total length 28,819 kms.

Express Highways : Five express highways have been built for fast movement of traffic. Two are in Bombay the Eastern and Western Express highways. The third runs between Calcutta and Dum Dum airport, the fourth between Sukinda mines to Paradip port in Orissa and, the fifth, almost 160 kms. long will connect Durgapur to Calcutta. Work on the last is in progress.

International Highways : There are two categories of International highways. The first are the main arterial routes linking the capitals of the countries and, the second, routes joining main cities, ports etc. with the arterial network.

The main arterial highway links India with Lahore in Pakistan and Mandalay in Burma running through Amritsar-Delhi-Agra-Calcutta-Golaghat-Imphal. The two link highways are one through Agra-Gwalior-Hyderabad-Bangalore to Danushkodi and the other from Barhi to Kathmandu. The other links will be Agra-Bombay; Delhi-Multan ; Bangalore-Madras and Golaghat-Ledo.

Border Roads : A Border Roads Development Board was formed in 1960 to develop communications in north and north-eastern border areas.

World's Highest Road : The road from Manali in Himachal Pradesh and Leh in Kashmir runs at an average altitude of 4,267 metres (14,000 feet) and negotiates four very high passes varying from 4,876 metres (16,000 feet) to 5,486 metres (18,000 feet).

Revenue for Motor Transport : The estimated expenditure on roads in 1972-73 is about Rs. 3,153·8 million. This is made up of Rs. 1,895·3 million on road construction or improvements and Rs. 1,258·5 million on maintenance.

During the same period the Central and State Governments earned 8,932·9 million. which is made up as under :

Central Revenue : Motor spirit and diesel oil duties, tyre excise and import duties and vehicle parts imports duties Rs. 6,119·9 million.

State Revenue : Vehicle taxes and passengers and goods taxes and sales taxes on motor fuel Rs. 2,813 million.

Road Traffic : The number of motor vehicles in use in India is shown in a table in the section "Automobile Industry".

Road traffic in 1973-74 was more than 6 times that of 1951 in the passenger-bus field and nearly 10 times in the field of goods haulage. The table shows trends of traffic growth :

National Transport : Nationalised bus services almost cover the major parts of Gujarat, Maharashtra, Orissa, Manipur and Himachal Pradesh.

No nationalisation has taken place in Tripura, Goa and Pondicherry, but in the remaining parts of the country the extent to which services have been nationalised varies from one State to another.

In the country as a whole the number of nationalised buses increased from 26,494 in 1966 to 40,571 in 1972.

The freight transport operated in the country by nationalised concerns is, however, less than one per cent of the total goods vehicles in India.

Fifth Plan Outlay: Provision has been made for Rs. 7,140 million for development of national highways in the fifth plan 1974-79. Of this amount Rs. 4,610 million will be used to develop the existing highways and the rest for construction of new roads and purchase of road machinery.

It was also proposed to add 10,000 kms. of new roads to the national highway system during the Fifth Plan period.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS (1975)

CIVIC rule in India is a little over a hundred years old. By now Municipal Councils number 1,500; and Municipal Corporations are functioning at: Agra, Ahmedabad, Allahabad, Bangalore, Vadodara, Bhopal, Bombay, Calcutta, Calicut, Chandranagore, Cochin, Delhi, Gwalior, Hubli-Dharwar, Hyderabad, Indore, Jabalpur, Kanpur, Lucknow, Madras, Madurai, Nagpur, Patna, Pune, Raipur, Sholapur, Surat, Trivandrum, Varanasi, Simla, and Bhubaneshwar.

As a general rule the Municipal Councils and Municipal Corporations are established in towns having a population of more than 20,000 and cities having a population of more than 300,000 respectively.

The State Government makes an assessment of the revenue and population of the town/city through the district collector prior to the establishment of the Municipal Council/Corporation.

When a city's revenue exceeds Rs. 20 million, the Council representing the city is upgraded with the concurrence and approval of the State Government.

In fact it is the responsibility of the States to establish Municipal Councils and Corporations. Schedule 7 of the Constitution of India, elucidates this point. The rules and regulations and powers of the Municipal Councils and Corporations vary from State to State.

The following table gives vital statistics of the four major Corporations — Bombay, Calcutta, Delhi and Madras.

Indian Scientific Satellite Project, A1-6, Peenya Electronic Industrial Estate, Peenya, Bangalore 662140.

Set up under the Indian Space Research Organisation of the Deptt. of Space, Government of India to design, develop and fabricate India's first artificial space satellite to be launched from the Soviet Union sometime in 1975. The satellite weighing 330 kgs. will be sent up in the near circular of 600 kms. altitude at an inclination of 51°. The satellite carries a number of sophisticated electronics systems of telemetry, telecommand and communications and for generation of power using silicon solar cells with Ni-Cd batteries. It also carries three scientific experiments for investigations in the fields of X-ray Astronomy, Solar Physics and Aeronomy. The X-ray Astronomy experiment will detect and measure the X-ray emission from the Stars in the energy range 2-100 keV. The solar Physics experiment is to attempt the detection of emission of neutrons in the energy range upto 500 MeV and gamma rays from 200 keV to 20 MeV. The Aeronomy experiment will detect the presence of supra thermal electrons as well as investigate UV background at 600 kms. altitude.

With the launching of this satellite, India would gain competence in the field of satellite technology which will be used for building satellites for the purposes of communications, earth resources survey, meteorology etc.
